And couldn't be leap year if it tried, I and couldn't be leap year if it tried, I don't exactly know, but that's what have the consequences are Thursday nights. You know they have a leap year dance (just why it's leap year when this happens to be 1921, and couldn't be leap year if it tried, I they call it, and the consequences are the same). In other words, it's the night at the Red Mill when the girls ssk the men to go with them for the evening, and all through the evening it s the girls who ask the men to dance. They have a lot of fun over it, but I

It was by far the best looking sweater I have seen this season, and that is saying something, for the aweaters this year in variety and style and color seem ar more numerous than ever before.

The much-talked-of longer skirt has not made its appearance here as yet, and I muchly doubt that it will. Of course, the short skirt has not been worn in the extreme here by really nice people. But the normally short one is not much more comfortable than the old long one, something tells me that common sense will win out here should they lengthen them in Paris to the lengthen them in Paris to the ankles and below, as in the days of eight or ten years ago. Women here will not wear them. They are not clean; they sweep up the dirt of the streets; they are heavy and they are ungraceful.

Defeating of Paris, Paulina Bell Whelen, who has been staying there for a while and who is now at Deauville with her young husband (they are on their wedding trip, you know), has written home that every one is wearing Hauck, who has been spending several weeks there. black and black and white in Paris. black, black, and fancy black at that The evening frocks are of tulle and

Right From Paris

Comes the news that purple is the favorite color, ranging in shade from fuchsia to petunia. This is just beginning to take hold. In the meanwhile black, from morning frocks to evening gowns, fancy, plain, shiny and somber, is having remarkable popularity.

Cire lace now is becoming as well known as the cire ribbon we have had for so long.

And Paris is still trying to bring back long skirts. So far America has held out for the short ones, but there may be a compromise in a skirt seven inches from the floor.

PASSION PLAY PRIEST DIES

of Father Schroeder Oberammergau, Aug. 16. - Through the death of Father Schroeder, who has been the priest in charge of the Oberammergau village church for thirty-two years and the most zealous supporter of the traditions of the Passion Play, this little village has been much saddened just at the time when preparations for the production of the Passion Play in 1922 are under way.

The first texts of the Passion Play were prepared by priests and monks from the Ettal Monastery, and repeated revisions have been made by the clergy in the last 300 years to sdapt the pro-duction to changed conditions and imduction to changed conditions and im-prove its literary character. Father Josep Alois Daisenberger is chiefly responsible for the text which has been used now for many decades and which the recently deceased priest. Father Schroeder, protected against efforts of many scholars who sought to interweave it with modern ideas which appealed neither to the Oberammergau actors nor their devoted priest.

Five New Fall Frocks for Women

Priced Between

35.00 and 59.50

A navy Tricotine Trotteur Frock that would be a fitting companion on any late Summer or early Fall trip has interest centered on its side Panels that are braid trimmed.

35.00

A naive Frock of knife-plaited Canton Crepe becomes sophisticated in the matter of its cape that reaches to the waistline both front and back and with the aid of a smart belt is transformed into an Eton mode.

Trust Paris designers to produce 'something new under the sun.' This navy Canton Crepe Dress has spirals of accordion-plaited self-material and that, with gray silk stitchery, places this simple dress in the front ranks of Frocks for Fall.

With all the richness of Fall coloring that might tempt the couturier, the creator of this model resists and gives us the black Satin-faced Canton Crepe Frock, but uses a Fall leaf design of Silk Plush as a decorative motif as though to make amends.

A black Canton Crepe Dress goes to great length in its sleeves and decorates them with multi-colored stitchery inspired by the Russian, and this influence is seen also in the Volnay Red Sash.

Like Going Barefoot

The feeling of freedom, the comfortable stretching of toes, the natural arching of the instep-the joys of going barefoot are experienced in wearing Cantilever Shoes. And, in addition, they afford the restful support so necessary if you must stand for a long time or walk on hard pavements.

The Cantilever Shoe never binds nor hurts. The last is designed to conform to the outline of the foot. The sole is patterned with a natural inner line so that the toes lis straight ahead and have plenty of room. This natural position of the foot and the well-set heel combine to encourage correct posture.

And instead of a rigid, unyielding sole, the Cantilever Shoe has a shank that is flexible. Your muscles move as freely as they would if you were barefooted, for the shoe bends WITH the foot. The instep flexes naturally the tissues grow strong from the exercise they enjoy in walking. Cantilevers are recommended by physicians and specialists for all forms of foot troubles. In particular, they prevent and correct fallen arches. Widths from AAAA to E.
