

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES

The Members of the Senior Classes of the Pennsylvania High Schools: As you near the end of your high school course you are considering all the seriousness demanded of such an important matter just what is the best use you can make of the years that lie immediately before you. Undoubtedly you are aware of the importance of further training beyond that which the best high school can give. There are many colleges of high standing and reputation for men and women, and each person seeking a college which offers certain social or educational advantages will be able to obtain these in one of these schools. I therefore urge you to enter college on the completion of your high school course, if possible. The schools of the Commonwealth are in need of large numbers of college-trained people, and the demand for teachers of this broad training will increase as the years go by.

THOMAS E. FINEGAN, Supt. of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania.

The Brown Prep Plan of Success Education

SUCCESS EDUCATION

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Last year our school was overcrowded, but we thought we could not afford to move from under the protecting hand of Penn's statue, where we have worked successfully for 45 years. This year building alterations make it necessary for all tenants to vacate and thus the impossible of a year ago seems perfectly natural now. Indeed, once you make up your mind, the impossible is easy. With Emerson we believe that every change forced or otherwise that comes to a man is always the door to a bigger opportunity if he will but see it and use it. Already we see ours. We know the Brown Prep Plan has wonderful value and with bigger opportunity we confidently expect, through it, to serve thousands where we now serve hundreds. Therefore, we face the future not only hopefully, but expectantly, confident in the knowledge that increased service is increased success.

After Monday, September 5, we shall be in our new home, Broad and Spring Garden Streets, where we shall be glad to see all our friends, both old and new.

Entrance on Spring Garden Street

EDUCATE FOR SUCCESS. Every one has the right to an education that is an assured basis for future success. The education that does not guarantee your success is not worth having. Failure to get a real education is the mistake of a lifetime—one you can avoid. Real education—the development of the natural forces of the individual to the point where he wants to know; to the point where he has the will and determination to use what he knows for his further advancement—is success education. For one who wants to know, knowledge is everywhere. Power to do, a strong forceful character—a success character—comes from the actual use of your natural forces, and in no other way. Used intelligently, used with the confident assurance of practical results, failure is impossible, for it is impossible to use any natural force intelligently and not increase power.

This is the Brown Prep plan of education, and has been used by us with marked success for more than 40 years. We make the development of the student the direct aim of his educational work. It develops initiative and self-reliance in the student, increases efficiency, and saves time. Best of all, it develops in the student the consciousness of power to do—something every successful man has, but which knowledge alone never gives.

We prepare for any college, professional school, the State Board exams, and for business, and at the same time begin in you a real education—growth, development, power.
