

ENJOYING A SMOKE. She had just arrived from Europe on the steamship Adriatic, which was docked in New York, when the camera man got busy. We introduce Miss Mary Robson. International

SOME OF THE HOG ISLAND SHIPS. A section of the wet basin at the record-breaking shipyard which holds a goodly number of the eighty first-class steamships that could give the American people much service, but, instead, are idle and rotting. This is in contrast to the hustle and bustle at Hog Island of only a few months ago. Ledger Photo Service

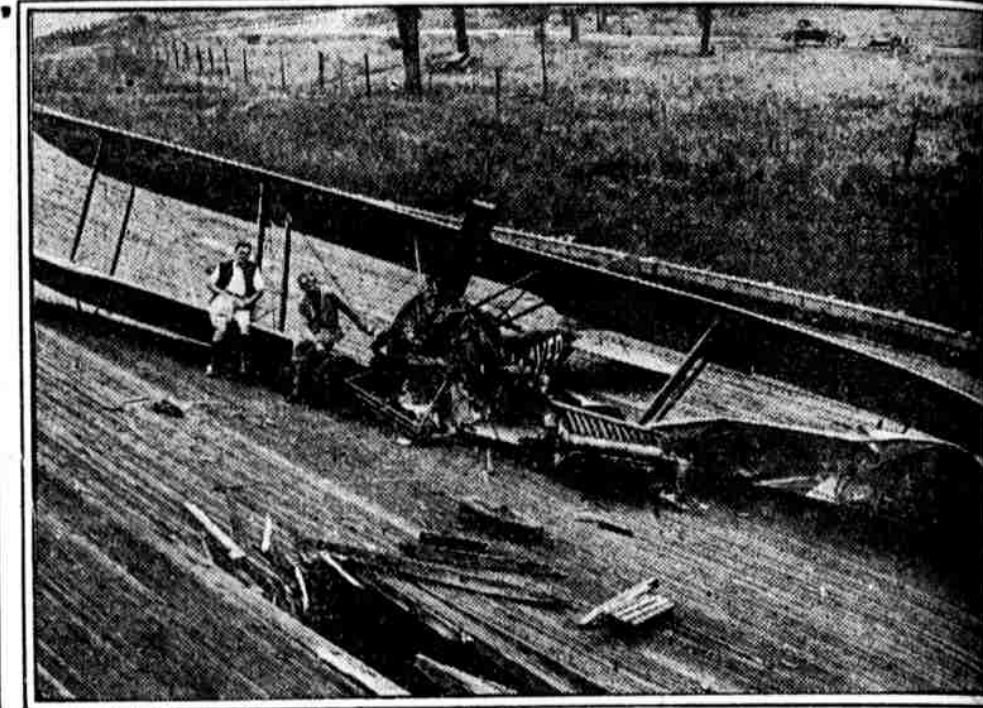

TONS OF MATERIAL. One of the several piles of ship rivets found at the Hog Island Shipyards yesterday morning by our photographer. Enough rivets for several ships. Ledger Photo Service

MISS DIXIE O'NEIL judged by the French newspapers as the prettiest American girl who has visited Paris since the termination of the World War. The French newspapermen are good judges. Paul Thompson

SUING FOR DIVORCE. Crown Princess Djuni, an American, has brought action against Crown Prince Zerdechino of Egypt. Underwood & Underwood

NOBODY HURT. An ambitious aviator tried to outdistance a racing automobile on the speedway at Uniontown, Pa., when something went wrong. The machine did a good job at tearing up planks. International BUILD THEIR OWN SCENIC OUTFIT. Children in the Bronx, New York, provide themselves with a real hair-raising ride. Of course, the car has to be pulled back up the hill.

HAPPY DAYS. Miss Fay Marble, a Philadelphian, seems to be having a pleasant time during the hours of her vacation on the sands at Atlantic City. Commercial

CUTTING OFF THE TOPS. George Pysser busy with a saw away up on top of a tree in Washington Square. L. P. S.

TYPES OF RECREATION. While the girls knit, the boys swim at the Athletic Recreation Center, Twenty-sixth and Jefferson streets. Anna McLaughlin and Marie Johnson are the knitters. The diver is James Atkins. Ledger Photo Service
