

Meeting of Coaches at Penn Will Start Red and Blue Campaign for 1921 Collegiate Football

THIS GOLF TUSSLE LOOKS LIKE "LU LU"

Local Nobles Play Baltimore at Lu Lu Today, Confident of Victory—Herron "Silent," but—

REHEARSES AT ST. LOUIS

By SANDY MENBLICK There's no shadow of a doubt left that the golf tournament this afternoon was a "Lu Lu."

For the Lu Lu nobles of Philadelphia look on the Shriners of Bount Temple, Baltimore, in a team match over the Lu Lu course.

The Lu Lu Country Club here was made up of the local nobles, according to the first. The local nobles, therefore, get a "running start" on all the other Shriners. Hence they ought to be the best golfers.

It is likely that the nobles of other districts will be challenged and entertained here likewise.

To this end the locals threw their best team into the action, and the Baltimoreans were sure to have their hands full. Here is the line-up: Bount—Blome, West, Swartz, Godwin, Foolmood, Crane, Reuling, Richardson, Loxbury, Reeder, Butler, Zousler, Leckhart, Lang, Gillespie, Wolfe and the first.

The "S" as everyone knows, in St. Louis, Herron, stands for "Silent."

Since the national at the Engineers, yesterday, he was ousted by J. Wood Platt in the defense of his title, after one of the most sensational matches of the tourney, not much has been heard here of Herron. The fact that he has been married and that he had moved from Pittsburgh to Chicago was about all.

But in Chicago Herron has been going championship form. At the Exmoor tournament there he won the qualifying round and in the finals was but two over four when the match ended abruptly.

To qualify, one of his drives was said to have been 345 yards. He drove the 265-yard twelfth and was close to 300 yards on others of his betts.

He is still able, they say, to hit a green far away from the rough by excavating a spade of sod with his trusty nibble. Herron has had a 70 ten times at Exmoor. This is the lowest mark for that course.

And, by the way of shedding light on his thoughts for the coming championship, Herron slipped off to St. Louis recently to get well acquainted with the ex-champion, which showed locals what Herron has in him.

Herron has shown time and again since he came to the States that he is in the pan. One nine in his match last year at Merion with Oswald Kirby was a piece of "super-human golf" by the ex-champion, which showed locals what Herron has in him.

Entries for the open championship of Pennsylvania will still be accepted at the first tee at Merion tomorrow, it is understood. But entries for the amateur are also said to be relatively closed.

It was felt that some organization had to start the system of closing the entries on the date specified in the announcement of the event. It is an unnecessary burden on the committee to be adding entries right up to the last minute, and it is not possible to announce pairings for those who have entered the course for those who have thoughtfully entered early.

Dr. Stimmerman and H. B. Newton have returned from a trip on the New Jersey and the Canadian bordering thereon. They report back in fine shape for the fall season.

Charles Nelson had a six on one of the long holes Cobbs Creek and figured it out pretty much of a feat. When told of the feat he said that he had registered the chargin of one ready to quit the game.

Haltendon Valley employees watched fearfully the appearance of Joe Wurtz, head ballman and director of the Black Dog on the links out there yesterday. Joe is starting secret practice for the employees' tourney at St. Louis, and it is believed his handicap is said to have been increased from 16 to 20 strokes for the tournament. A letter is determined to make a show-up. A golfer like that is always dangerous.

The clubhouse has just been opened at what is hoped to be some day the new and better country club. At that time need now be the golf course, but Jimmie Perlick reports that the club opening was highly prosperous, or something.

Max Marston is in fine fettle for the Penn and amateur at his home course. He's right on a game and scored a 70 there Saturday. The first 70 I've had for some time on the course. Thought, but that the regularly among some of the regulars who don't even let it bother them when they don't.

Frank Smith has been playing Bala now for eight years and says he will never tire of the nine holes there. His forte is showing the new members where the trouble lies in the various holes and how to avoid it.

NEW GOLF TITLE ENTRIES International Stars to Compete in Amateur Tourney

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 30.—Reports received here from T. J. McMahon, New York City, secretary of the United States Golf Association, announce new entries to the 1921 amateur championship, which is to be held at the St. Louis Country Club September 17-24.

In the list of names are those of a few American players whose entry was considered doubtful and of one or two stars whose entries have not been completed in time entries for several seasons, notably Jerome Travers of New York and H. Chandler Egan, of Portland, Ore.

The international flavor will be supplied by W. J. Hunter, British amateur golf champion, who arrived at New York from England Sunday; Thomas Armour, former Scottish champion, and Raymond Swift, of England. It is also expected that the leading Canadian golfer will compete.

Another Shore Comes Up Washington, Aug. 30.—Helen, whose coach of Knie shore, former New York and Philadelphia, has just been elected to the Washington Amer Can League Club. "Treatment" with the "What Shore," who has been playing with the Knie-Shore team of the Knie League, might not be a "re-birth" in the New York Americans, starting her today.

Frazee Sued for Divorce New York, Aug. 30.—Harry Frazee, owner of the New York American League, has filed a suit for divorce yesterday. His wife, Elizabeth, is mentioned in Mrs. Frazee's complaint.

Harvard Will Boost Minor Sports This Year

Boston, Aug. 30.—Minor sports at Harvard University will receive more attention when Assistant Graduate Manager of Athletics Bill Bingham takes up his duties this fall, it was announced today.

Crismson victories have been registered with a fair degree of regularity in major sports, it was said, the record in minor sports has not been so good.

Bingham, together with his associate coach of track, Edward Farrell, will direct the cross-country team and will stimulate interest in wrestling, soccer, water polo, gymnastics and other sports.

PENN ALL SET TO START PRACTICE

Coaches' Meeting on Thursday Will Fire Opening Gun in 1921 Campaign

BIG SQUAD EXPECTED

With Manager Monk Ford on the ground floor ready to direct his corps of assistants and Head Coach Heisman and his aides working up data for the coming meeting on Thursday, Penn's 1921 football is rolling along smartly.

The athletic office, that has presented a scene usual in the summer months, is now booming as it does around the middle of October. Already, according to James Gorman, assistant graduate manager, requests are pouring in for seats for the coming season. This is unprecedented for this early in the year and points to the fact that from the standpoint of spectators at least the season should be a success.

Bill Hollenback, who is to look after the backs this season, is busy down at the shore looking up the lists of candidates and separating the good prospects from those that have only natural ability as their asset.

However, Bill is authority for the statement that, no matter how good a prospect may be, he will be given every opportunity to display his wares, and that any player with a grievance will get a thorough tryout to prove his mettle.

Hert Bell, who besides playing baseball on odd days down at Cape May, is laying the groundwork at the Shore for the squad of twenty-six that is expected to arrive there a week from today for three weeks' practice before coming to Franklin Field.

It is expected that immediately after the coaches' meeting notices will be sent out to the twenty-six men tentatively listed for Shore practice to report in this city next Tuesday afternoon.

Expect Big Squad Indications point to a larger crowd of candidates this season than last, when Ten McNamara, the scrub coach, had four teams to look after. Notices have been pouring in to the athletic office that veterans and candidates who have never been out for the team, are in the best of shape and anxious for the opening kickoff.

Quite a number have been busy all summer with a football tossing it around and putting. Happy Day, who held down the center post last season in the big games, has lived with a pigskin all summer. He has had several of his buddies in his home town net as backfield men and has been snipping the ball back from all angles. He reports that he has not mastered the details of getting the ball back to the right man at the right time.

Several of the more ambitious candidates for this year's team have been working out on Franklin Field during the summer along with Lawson Robertson, the track coach, who will look after the training of the gridiron warriors this year. Nate Cartmill, the old Red and Blue star, who is track coach at West Virginia and also trainer of the football team at the Morgantown institution, has been giving some of the players a few cues in keeping in shape.

Will Outline Campaign Little can be gleaned of the purport of the meeting on Thursday, but it is a known fact that Coach Heisman expects to outline his campaign for the coming season and also to talk over with the other coaches the veterans and the prospects of new men.

Quite a number of the veterans and some of the best freshman prospects are working zealously to pass off conditions incurred during the past school term. This is one feature of the meeting that will be discussed at length—the eligibility of players.

Massachusetts Event Feature of Grand Circuit Events

Readville, Aug. 30.—The $5000 Massachusetts 2:11 trot featured the second day's racing program of the Grand Circuit meeting here today.

The four-year-old Jeanette Rankin, with McDonald driving, was favored to win over a field that included E. Colorado, Betty Taylor, Escott, Lockspur, King Harvester, Mainlich, Northspur and Tandria.

Other races were the $3000 Pilgrim 2:10 pace, Boston Herald $3000, two-year-old trot and a 2:07 trot for a $1000 purse.

An attempt to break the track record for geldings was arranged for Peter Manning, 2:00 1/4 world champion five-year-old trotting gelding, in an exhibition race. The record is 2:03 1/4, made by Ulian in 1909.

Stuffy McInnis drove the ball over the left-field fence on Schmidt's hard hit in the sixth inning after two were out. The game was a pitcher's battle between the Pirate star and Dutch Knicker. Two were out when Cooper made his bundle.

A proposal to have a group of Boston Braves four Cubs this fall has been announced. It is definitely announced, instead, some of the players under Bill Southworth will play in and near West Virginia.

A one and one-half games margin separates the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cleveland Indians from their respective New York and Boston rivals. The Athletics were resting the Glants crew up a full step on the Pirates.

P. R. T. PICNIC TODAY WILL END PROBLEMS

Daddy of Most Perfect Baby Will Be Proudest Man at Annual Gathering

BIG PROGRAM OF SPORTS

The most momentous question—next to "Did you get enough to eat?"—at the third annual picnic and athletic carnival of the Co-operative Welfare Association of the Philadelphia Road Transit Company at Willow Grove today was: "What conductor or motor-man or other employe has the perfect baby?"

The picnic and carnival will continue tomorrow and will end with a dinner to be given by Thomas E. Mitten, president of the P. R. T., to the entire membership of the co-operative committee.

After the question as to which employe is the daddy of the most nearly perfect baby is decided, another contest will be won by the employe who can boast of the largest family—and he must have his proof at the picnic.

The baby show is held in a decorated tent and Dr. Harriet L. Hartley, Chief of the Division of Child Hygiene, Department of Health, is officiating with associate judges. There are prizes for one for those under two years and one for those over two and under four years.

Every variety of race has been planned for the junior and senior events, and for the women there is every sort of contest from a three-legged race to a balloon-blowing contest.

A first-aid contest and exhibition is intended to stimulate interest in this phase of the co-operative welfare work. Community singing, concerts by Sousa's Band and an address by the president of the P. R. T. are features of the program.

HUNTER IMPRESSES British Amateur Champ Great Driver and Good Putter

New York, Aug. 30.—Willie Hunter, British amateur golf champion, who is seeking the American title, has impressed friends by the ability he displayed on his first visit to a course in the United States.

Playing a foursome he went around at the Engineers' Country Club at Roslyn yesterday in an approximate 75 and brought victory to his side by a birdie three on the home green.

Members of the club were impressed by the good distance he got from the tee. They say he is a fine masher player and a good putter.

Answer to Query—Louis Armerman—Millers, both the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees have played in Philadelphia. The Athletics have played in Milwaukee, and Connie Mack at one time was manager of the team in that city.

Carman Favorite to Cop World's Derby Thursday at Drome

Half a dozen of the season's leading bike riders have been entered in the 1021 World's Cycling Derby. This annual motor-paced feature is a 100-kilometer event, which is a distance of 62 1/2 miles, and it will be decided on Thursday night at the Velodrome, Point Breeze Park.

Because of his brilliant distance riding recently Clarence Carman, America, is picked as the favorite. However, he is promised all sorts of competition from the other starters, Vincenzo Madonna, Italy; Jules Miguel, France; Frank Corry, Australia; George Chapman, America, and Paul Verkeyen, Belgium.

WILSON TRAINING HARD

Champion Goes Through Slugging Matches With Sparring Partners

New York, Aug. 30.—Johnny Wilson, of Boston, and Bryan Downey, of Cleveland, who, on next Monday, will try to settle arguments as to which is the midwestern champion, are training by slugging their sparring partners.

Wilson has no superstition about using the camp of Georges Carpentier, who was defeated in the same Jersey city arena in which the Wilson-Downey fight will be held. Johnny even uses the same sandbag which Georges banged about. Yesterday he divided six fast rounds between Paddy Flynn and Ned Flanagan.

Downey boxed six rounds with Johnny Papke and Johnny Carr at a local gymnasium. In his training bouts he wears leather headgear and a football nose guard.

NAVY YARD NINE TO PLAY MARINES

Winner of Three-Game Series Will Tackle Civilian Team for Title

FOOTBALL BEE BUZZING

This afternoon at 1:15 two teams picked by Lieutenant Commander C. Gulbranson, known as the All-Navy and the All-Marine Baseball Clubs, will battle in the first of a three-game series for the championship of the navy yard. The winner of this series will play another three-game series with a team of civilians from the yard, and the victor in this final series will be known as the League Island baseball champion.

Last week, in the Philadelphia Navy Yard League, Fort Mifflin came back strong by shutting out the hospital aggregation and winning from the receiving station crew. Harrison, the new receiving station pitcher, although a trifle wild, twirled good ball.

Squadron Three, Division Thirty-nine, is a new-comer in the League. Although the team lost its first game, it has a number of good players. Jones, at second, is exceptionally brilliant fielder, and can also slug with better than average success.

The football bee is buzzing at the navy yard. Already four units have signified their intention of organizing teams. A regular league, similar to the baseball circuit, will be organized. This, the same as the Baseball League, will be under the supervision of Lieutenant Commander Gulbranson.

The standing of the clubs in the Navy Yard League is as follows:
