Much Good News Here Besides the Great September Sales

Whoever Measures Other People's Corn by His Own Bushel

is likely to underestimate his neighbor.

What is the use of measuring other people's faults and counting up the mistakes of our neighbors, instead of spending our time in correcting our own short-sighted blunders? It hardly seems fair to pass judgment on others, who get the same results by a way of their own, though it be different from that of their neighbors.

Fair play is a jewel.

The Brilliant Sale of Lamps Is a Joy

With the long Winter evenings coming on with everybody to whom it means increasing beauty and comfort for their homes, the sweeping sale of the whole stock of the Wanamaker electric and gas lamps comes as an almost unequaled opportunity.

This sale brings hundreds upon hundreds of beautiful lamps at less than half the prices that people paid a year ago.

Floor lamps from $7.50 to $200. Table lamps from $4.50 to $50. Boudoir lamps, $1.50 to $10. Shades in a magnificent variety start at $1 and go to $165.

People who wish to choose lamps and shades to match their furnishings should be early, as the best things will not be the last to go. (Fourth Floor, Central)

A Number of Novelties in Women's Fur Coats

Just to mention a few of the new arrivals, there is an American broadtail coat, in other words a South Americanlamb, sheared very close, in a soft taupe color and very silky to the touch. It is a beautiful coat and is priced at $525.

Another even prettier coat of the same fur, but in a platinum gray with kolinsky collar, is $765.

Black caracul of the finer kind promises to be one of the most fashionable furs this Winter. There are a number of wraps, one would almost call them capes, of this fur at $425 and $485.

New Hudson seal coats (dyed muskrat), 36 inches long, with huge collars of the same fur or of skunk, range from $300 to $465.

The First Showing of Women's Fur-Trimmed Coats

After seeing them, one would certainly feel inclined to put the accent on the word "fur," for these marvelously beautiful coats are fairly laden with fur from neck to hem. "It will be a very cold winter," say the weather-wise, so perhaps that is the reason. For materials, there are Bolivias, duvetynes and many of the new and charming variations. Monkey, Hudson seal (dyed muskrat), beaver, natural and dyed squirrel, dyed caracul, wolf, mole and opossum are the furs used. They not only make the huge collars, which sometimes extend down the entire front, but deep bands are found on the hem, on flying panels and on the deep square capes in the back. Prices start at $250 and go to $475.

Paris Sends Spangled Tunics Rich in Color

They are truly gorgeous in effects, and the colors are beautiful. Jade, rose, tango, sapphire, white and black are equally effective in spangles and bugles.

One model with deep V neck has solid bodice of black touched with color, the skirt being entirely of bead fringe. A black net tunic shows all-over designs in black bugles and red cabochons.

The tunics of iridescent spangles are very effective, as are also those of opalescent and square gold spangles.

Prices are from $22 to $175. (Main Floor, Central)

Excellent School Coats for Little Daughter, $11.50 and $14.50

Soft, warm coats of brown all-wool mixtures in two good schoolgirl models, with big, high-buttoning storm collars and capacious pockets.
