PENN GETS EARLY START AT SHORE

Catholic Football Candidates First to Begin Practice for 1921 Games
Quakers Put in Two Hours' Work on Arrival Day—Miller Expected Today
FEW VETERANS RETURN DRILLS AT FRANKLIN FIELD

The 1921 scholastic football season will be in full swing today. The Catholic schools are first to begin their practice. Classes for the new term began today and football candidates have been instructed to report on the respective grids this afternoon.

Various tutors are beginning lessons of veterans from last year's losses. Most of the 1920 regulars have not graduated and some that have not yet received their sheepskins failed to answer the roll call this morning. There is an average of only three veterans in each of the four squads representing the Catholic League.

St. Joseph's Prep probably is better off in the way of material than any of the other schools. Although Coach Heine Miller has only three youngsters back, the trio of "vets" who once more will appear for the first time, the captain, the highest caliber, Breenin, the captain, and Malley, star tackle, also have plenty of class.

Scrub Men Back
Of course, these men are not the only ones that remain from the 1920 squad at St. Joseph's, but they are the regulars. There are several other moleskins back. They are all second-string men.

Hartigan, Quinn and Ward are the three regulars that will once more sport the colors of Coach Hughie McGeehan's Villanova Prep team. Hartigan is a guard, while the other boys both play in the backfield.

The Villanova outlook is not exceptionally bright, but the coach and the students are very optimistic.

West Catholic is lucky in having its star quarterback, Woods, among three men who will perform once more on the gridiron. Mullen, basketball captain and all-around star of the school, and Cunningham are the other returners back on Coach Brother Quinlan's squad.

White St. Joseph's, Villanova and West Catholic may consider themselves well off in having such a bright outlook for the coming season. Roman Catholic High considers itself luckiest of all. And Catholic has a good reason; viz., John (Jack) Greer has returned to the school in the capacity of football coach after an absence of four years.

Coached Title Team
Catholic High had but one champion football eleven. That was in 1917, and Greer was the coach. That year the Red and Blue Vines streets aggregation cleaned up everything in sight and handed the famous Central High aggregation, coached by Dr. Matthew O'Brien, a 6-0 defeat.

PENN PLAYERS IN FIRST WORKOUT AT SHORE

PHILA. STARS MANY AMONG TENNIS FOLK IN NATIONALS

With Tilden and Williams, Half of Davis Cup Team, Caner, Johnson and Others, Local Standard Will Be Upheld in Title Tourney

The Quaker fan isn't getting red in the face shouting the praises of our ball clubs, and William Penn isn't tossing his hat in the air and giving three long rays over the Red and Blue football prospects. There may be one or two other sports in which Philadelphia stands the pace. Two years ago Johnson, with this peculiar style of play, won the first set of his semi-final match with Bill Johnston and had him so puzzled that many thought he would win out, but his condition failed him and he was carried off his feet in the rest of the play.

Johnson in condition will make trouble during the tournament. Caner's chances are still more deeply shadowed in doubt. He has not played in a tournament this season, but in splendid physical condition fit for a tournament.

First and foremost we have our Will Tilden, beloved and admired wherever tennis is known, a national and world's champion, who is figured to repeat. But there are a few who are scratching their heads in doubt about William's physical condition and muttering gravely that maybe Bill won't come through.

Even if Tilden should fail—and here's hoping he won't—Philadelphia still will have something in the thick of the fight for the title.

Williams in Form
It's not much of a step from Tilden, the champion, to R. Norris Williams, the ex-champion. Dick is playing good tennis. This was evident from his play in the doubles of the Davis Cup matches, and in view of the fact that he has been drawn in the lower bracket he is the logical finalist from his half.

Both Johnson and Caner are in the same bracket, and their hardest rivals consist of Norris Williams and Watson Washburn. Johnson played splendid tennis early in the season, but since his defeat several weeks ago at Newport he has not played in a tournament.

Another local player who is likely to create a disturbance among those who figure on form is Wallace F. Johnson, twice a semi-finalist in the nationals and former Davis Cup player.

EWING ELEVEN'S READY FOR START

Manager Wyatt Announces Practice for West Philly Team Next Week
MELROSE BACK IN FIELD

Manager Wyatt, of the Ewing A. A., has started active preparations for the opening of the twenty-sixth gridiron season. Preliminary practice will start next week at the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. field, Forty-fourth street and Parkside avenue.

William Ruthrauff, former coach of the University of Nebraska and University of Iowa, who will coach the team, is elated with the outlook, as several of the best football players in this vicinity have cast their lot with the Ewing for the coming season.

The season will open Saturday, October 1, and when the Ewing takes the field it will surprise the football fans with the line-up Coach Ruthrauff will submit.

Games are collected with Holmesburg, Frankford, All-Lancaster, Cornahollock and all other teams of this class. Address L. W. Wyatt, 5705 De Lancey street, West Philadelphia.

Northwood A. A. Elects
The Northwood Athletic Association has elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: President, J. H. Connelly, vice president, John E. Cline, secretary, and Albert D. Connelly, treasurer.
