THE MASTER

The Story of a Sin

Hall Caine's new story has struck fire on the critics' anvils. Some say that it is an apology for sin. Others compare it to Tolstoy's "Resurrection." "It may make the year memorable," writes the Chicago Tribune. "Mr. Caine has revitalized the much-disputed question of equal standards for both sexes by forcefully placing before his readers the true meaning of the standard of morality embodied in the law. The denouement is dramatic in the extreme. The author has put his entire genius into this terrible story, in which every human passion is treated with the powerful grasp of human understanding and the literary style of a consummate artist."-Phila.
