

NEW BONUS PLANS TEMPT CONGRESS

Brennan Bill Would Liberalize
Volstead Act and Aid Soldiers at Same Time

DILEMMA FOR POLITICIANS

By CLINTON W. GILBERT
Staff Correspondent Evening Public Ledger
Washington, Sept. 15.—Representative Brennan, of Michigan, announces that upon the reconvening of Congress he will introduce a bill permitting the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines containing not more than 4 per cent of alcohol, to be taxed heavily, the proceeds of the tax to be applied to the payment of the soldiers' bonus. This idea is in the minds of certain members of the Administration.

The prohibition forces in Congress may be strong enough to prevent its adoption before the next congressional election, but it is likely to make progress in the coming regular session. President Harding is committed to some degree of aid to the soldiers' bonus. Revenue out of which to aid them are not in sight. The sale of bonds for the purpose would depress the price of outstanding Liberty bonds.

Tempting Proposition
It is a situation making for a search for some new source of revenue taxing of which the country would not permit a burden. The proposal to permit the manufacture and sale of wine and beer as a means of raising revenue for the soldiers' bonus would enlist many of the veterans of the great war behind liberalizing the Volstead act. The plan is tempting. Politically it will require much calculation to see whether the support of the soldiers would offset the loss of the extreme prohibitionist vote. The prohibition movement has receded. This is shown by the failure to put through Congress the radical amendment to the Volstead act making it more enforceable. And it now seems certain that this amendment will fail unless the extreme search and seizure provisions are omitted.

Liquor Importation Grows
An argument for the liberalizing of the Volstead act is found in its unenforceability. Statistics upon the importation of wines and liquors are interesting. During the first seven months of the year 111,592 gallons of whisky and 700,000 gallons of sacramental wines in the wood and 70,000 cases of bottled wines have been legally imported. Of the 111,592 gallons of whisky, 51,400 gallons came in July alone. A year ago only 6583 gallons came in July. Evidently ways are being found to get around the law forbidding importation.

Of course these figures are by no means complete, for they include only the liquor for which permits were granted. Immense quantities are also being smuggled into the country. Prohibition officials admit that the importation of liquor is virtually out of their control, and they propose stricter laws and rulings as means of cutting this source of strong drink.

Eviders Resourceful
Secretary Mellon has prepared a new ruling prohibiting importation of liquor by wholesale druggists. If this rule goes into effect permits in the future will go only to retail druggists, who, it is believed, will not have the resources or familiarity with foreign trade to order liquor abroad extensively. But probably this disability will not be permanent. The lesson of liquor law enforcement so far has been that a way is found around every obstacle that new rulings create. The comparative ease with which liquor is obtained in this country tends to make sentiment in favor of a modification of the law so as to permit the making of light wines and beer of low alcoholic content. And the political trend of some way to provide revenue for a soldiers' bonus is also operating toward a modification of the present law.

SHOOTING OF GIRLS CAUSED RACE RIOT

Tennessee Town Deserted by Negro Population After Conflict

By the Associated Press
Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 15.—Waldens Ridge, a little mining town, twenty miles east of here, the scene late yesterday of a race riot, was completely deserted by its Negro population today, and no further trouble was anticipated. About three-score miners with their families, who made up the Negro population, fled when the trouble started, leaving their possessions behind in their cabins, and declared their intention of never returning. The riot was precipitated by the shooting of three white girls by a Negro girl, Henry Clipper, Negro, it was said, claimed ownership of a spring on the outskirts of the village and had purchased a shotgun with which to keep others away. When Edna Barnett, aged twelve, and her two younger sisters went to the spring Jewell Clipper, young daughter of Henry, fired at them, wounding all three. Older members of both races took up the affair and a number of shots were exchanged without damage. When a Sheriff's posse from Chattanooga arrived they found all the Negro cabins empty except that of the Clippers, who were barricaded within doors and surrounded by a mob of about 150 persons, armed with all sorts of weapons. The Negroes were arrested and placed in jail for their own protection. Local authorities are continuing the investigation today and arrest of a number of white men involved in the trouble was expected. Edna Barnett was said to have been peppered with buckshot and her condition was considered serious. The others were not badly hurt.

Chinese Minister Lauds Gift of Medical College
Washington, Sept. 15.—The Union Medical College, erected at Peking by the China Medical Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, will stand as a "magnificent monument of American liberality," Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, Chinese Minister here, today cabled John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who is in Peking to attend the dedication of the college September 10. Minister Sze in another cablegram addressed to the college declared: "At the present day China suffers most from a lack of trained men to lead the nation safely through the period of transition. To this cause may be attributed much of the present unrest in the country. It is gratifying to note that the Rockefeller Foundation recognizes China's pressing need and undertakes to give to China's young men the best training."

Prices of Steinway Pianos are now Lower than those of some instruments of inferior quality, while other pianos that formerly sold far under our prices have been marked up to figures almost equal to the pricing of Steinways. This excessive price inflation, unjustified by cost of manufacture or merchandising, has the practical value of bringing into high relief the consistent fairness of the Steinway house in fixing prices on the world's leading piano. Compare Steinway price and size before you buy a piano. Time payments, when desired.

SECKEL Pears. They are the first fall fruit. Every one feels that their arrival is an indication that the hot summer weather is over. Their crisp lusciousness is like the brisk, invigorating Autumn air. And did you know that Seckel Pears originated in Philadelphia? The first tree was grown by a Mr. Seckel, from whom the fruit takes its name. At present time the best Seckel Pears are sent from the famous orchards of Mrs. Solomon Runyon in California. You will find them at the store of Henry R. Hallowell & Son, Broad Street below Chestnut. These Seckel Pears are unusually perfect and wonderfully sweet and juicy. On returning from your summer's outing to the city their delicious flavor will prove particularly delightful and refreshing.

THE little Bride greeted me rapturously. "Such beautiful gifts," she cried. "Such exquisitely designed silver—and all from Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company!" She led me to the table where her gifts were displayed. As she said, they were exquisite and ranged from an elaborate centerpiece of beautiful design and a large mahogany chest of silver, the gift of the Bride's family, to smaller pieces: bonbon dishes and other charming accessories for her table—less costly, of course, but showing equally with the others the skilled craftsmanship and the clever execution that has made the House of Bailey, Banks & Biddle supreme among silversmiths. This establishment contains the finest collection of Silver in the world and affords you a wide selection of beautiful gifts.

SOON the informal summer dances will give place to the more formal dances of the autumn. An invitation to one of these affairs arrives before you have had time to realize that the summer is over. "What shall I wear?" is the first question. The man has put his dress clothes away and on taking them out finds that they need cleaning and pressing. The woman or girl discovers a forgotten frock, which if cleaned, might easily have been worn. But it is too late. Why not send these garments to Barga's Cleaners and Dyers, 1113 Chestnut Street, at once and have them ready for any emergency? Barga's also make a specialty of cleaning all kinds of furs and I am sure you will be pleased with the efficient work done by this establishment.
