Gwan-to-Bed Story	: -By J. P. McEVOY	graft investigation. Kuchnle went State Prison, but never lost the g
Note upon a time, dear children, ONCE upon a time, dear children, there were two little mothballs who loved each other severely. One was a little girl mothball, named Frankie. The little boy mothball was named Johnny. (By the way, Johnny, get off the piano.) Frankie and Johnny first met in the pocket of a big overcoat which hung in a dark closet. But the two little moth- balls being white could see each other oute plainly in spite of the darkness, and it was a case of love at first sight. They nestled in a corner of the pocket and their love-making was a beautiful thing to see, even if nobody did see. And one day or one night—they never knew which it was—Johnny proposed and Frankie accepted him, and they were married and set up honsekeening in the other corner of the pocket. (Dor- othy, would you just as soon get off the baby's stomach? I thank you, for both of us.) One day or one night—it makes no difference which—a small hand was in- serted in the pocket where Frankie and Johnny were keeping house. And when it was withdrawn another girl mothball	"Hello, Johnny," said the strange mothball. "Do you know her?" cried Frankie. "Yes, I know her?" replied Johnny. "Hello there, Nellie." he said. And he went over and began talking to Nelle. "Oh." said Frankie, "Oh, oh, oh, Johnny don't love me any more. Wat- tle I do, wattle I do!" "And she began running around in circles, which was very easy for her because of her shape. But, unfortu- nately, once she got started rolling around this pocket she couldn't stop herself. And then Johnny started run- ning after her, begging her to stop. And then Nellie started running after Johnny, and begging him to stop. The first thing you know all three of them were rolling around in a circle, going like mad. And none of them could stop. So, since they couldn't stop, they de- cided they might as well keep on roll- ing, which they did, getting amaller end smaller and smaller. until finally they were all gone. And that was the end of the three mothballs, named Frankie and Johnny and Nellie. And theat's the end of the story. And that will he about enough of you, dear chil- dren. Gwan to bed. ## A New Cadillac and a New and Glorious Zest in Motoring

The new Cadillac Type 61 carries with it, of course, all of the positive assurance of sound, enduring value which has always been associated with the very name Cadillac.

Needless to say, there is all of the old reliability, responsibility, and regularity of performance-more pronounced than ever because in the Cadillac plant the passage of time is a continuous process of improvement.

But in addition to these hidden 'traits of character' which have made it the world's immediately brought into action and mileage per gallon of gasoline increased.

The new Cadillac gets away grandly, and communicates both to the one at the wheel and those in the tonneau, a sense of pent-up reserve power that is delightful.

The same simple changes that have given it a greater degree of road resilience have brought with them much greater beauty than before.

The Type 61 is a delight to the eye not standard of motoring efficiency-the Type 61 Eight Cylinder Cadillac brings you other positive and quickly recognizable qualities which immensely enhance ease and enjoyment.

Within a few minutes from the time you have taken the wheel you will discern a more pronounced quality of resilient roadability than the Cadillac has ever developed before.

In other words, it is our judgment, that this Type 61 accomplishes the greatest advance yet recorded in overcoming road discomfort and insuring riding ease.

Largely by way of simple but fundamentally sound changes, such as lowering the center of gravity without decreasing road clearance. smoothness of travel has been surprisingly improved.

Again, a recently adopted and equally simple improvement in carburetor practice has bettered Cadillac acceleration so that its proverbial, swift surge of power is even more Phaston Roadster Touring ( merely at the first admiring glance, but in the wealth of attractive details which a closer inspection reveals.

Experienced motorists will delight in the artistic and convenient arrangement of the instrument board, the windshield and ventilator improvements, the restful simplicity and grace of the new steering wheel and controls, the convenient inspection lamp, and other refinements of a most pleasing character.

Incidentally, Cadillac coach work has improved upon itself so that the new car comes to you not only with greater charm of general design but a far more impressive and beautiful finish.

These latter are the lesser satisfactions-the real delight will come in the revelation of greater riding ease and roadability, and swifter acceleration.

A delightful experience is in store for Cadillac owners and non-owners alike.
