Farm Prizes Awarded

There was much interest in the work of judging the agricultural display, and farmers surged into Horticultural Hall. From among upward of 200 displays the silver cup for the best bushel went for the second time to Albert Hoppes, of Germansville: second prize to Eric Linde and third to the Trojan Powder Company. So close was the competi-Company. So close was the competi-tion that the judges were compelled to examine and compare each individual potato in the three competitive bushels. The prize for best acres of potatoes went to Wilson K. Peter, who, in spite United States.

STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER

Good style in every line. New shortback Hats, new scalloped brims, new slashed and dented affairs; soft draped effects-some of the Turbans are just puffs of velvet, but such becoming puffs; others are medium shades of the soft, semi-handmade type that take such becoming lines on the head. There are tricornes and bicornes and quatrecornes and demure little clocke shapes that seem to have been designed especially for a veil. Hundreds of new ideas and glorious shades-Sorrento blue, Byzantine red, and the gray and brown and taupe shades of furs, with always plenty of black.
