

WIDOW EULOGIZES RACE TRACK SUICIDE

Mrs. W. C. Parker Praises Man Who Shot Himself at Havre de Grace

HELPED NEEDY NEIGHBORS

"He must have been out of his mind to do it," sobbed Mrs. William C. Parker today in her home at 2534 South Parkway street, as she sought an explanation for the suicide of her husband yesterday at the Havre de Grace racetrack after he had lost $2000 on a hot track.

Mrs. Parker, a matronly, middle-aged woman, with iron-gray hair and a kindly face, moved restlessly about the parlor of her little home in the Elmwood section while she spoke of her husband. She was so nervous to rest, and her friends fear she will collapse with grief. A doctor is caring for her, and has ordered as complete quiet as possible in the hope that she may regain control of her nerves before her husband's body arrives.

Neighbors hastened to Mrs. Parker's aid today when they heard of her trouble. Her husband was widely known here at one time or another for his proof of the kindness of his disposition, as he was always eager to help any one in distress. The Parker home, a one-story, red-brick Government-built house in the Elmwood tract, is tastefully furnished and shows evidence of comfortable circumstances.

Was Good Husband

"I can't talk about it," the wife said, "it is terrible, and as yet I can scarcely realize my husband is dead. He was a good husband and a good man, and everybody loved him. There was no reason for him to kill himself. I am sure he must have been insane."

John Bergin, a member of the McCann-Heigin Company, 2501 South Robson street, which employed Parker, agreed that the suicide of the man must have been deranged temporarily.

"His accounts were in good order, he had plenty of money and his disposition was always sunny," said Mr. Bergin.

The tragic circumstances of Parker's death were telegraphed today from Havre de Grace.

Parker had lost $2000 on Gallivant, in the fourth race, and as the horses approached the home stretch he is declared by several persons who stood near him to have become wildly excited. He shouted and waved, and then fell silent as he crossed the wire a winner.

Turning to a man with whom he had been conversing before the race, he remarked, "Well, my horse came in second and made his way toward the stable room, walking slowly and tearing up tickets as he went. Once inside the stable room, he drew a pistol, and pulled the trigger and shot himself."

Parker's pocket made his identification possible. The letter was sealed, stamped and addressed to his wife.

Parker was on a hotting establishment on Market street near Sixth street before prohibition. He retired from business in 1920, but later took the position with the realty firm.

FIND MAN IN HANAN CASE

District Attorney Clears Up Mystery by Locating Pedestrian

New York, Sept. 28.—The mystery of the identity of the man other than John S. Borland, the young exporter, on the scene of the shooting in Brooklyn, on Saturday, when Mrs. Grace Hagan was fatally wounded and Miss Mildred Hagan and then killed herself, was cleared up yesterday by District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn.

The other man lives in the vicinity of 35 Schermerhorn street, in front of which the shooting took place. He was on his way home at the time. He hurried to the scene, made a hasty survey and went back to Court street about 150 feet away, to telephone to a newspaper.

This is the young man who undoubtedly was running from the scene as neighbors aroused by the shots.

MRS. ALTEMUS DENIES ROW

Says Stetson Did Not Order Republican Club to Move

Mrs. B. Dobson Altemus, chairman of the Republican Women of Philadelphia County, denied today that E. T. Stetson had ordered that organization from its headquarters at 221 South Eighteenth street.

"After the primary election, during a conversation with Mr. Stetson, who is a member of the Emergency Aid Advisory Board, he suggested that it was unwise to allow the organization to become identified with politics," she said.

"I told Mr. Stetson that the headquarters of the Republican Women was located in the Emergency Aid as a temporary convenience, and that we intended to obtain headquarters elsewhere."

GREAT PARIS STORE BURNS

Magasin au Printemps, Covering Entire Block, Is Destroyed

Paris, Sept. 28.—(By A. P.)—Fire broke out this morning in the Magasin au Printemps, one of the largest department stores in Paris, and in a short time it was seen that an entire block of the store would be destroyed. Firemen devoted their efforts to preventing the flames from spreading to other blocks.

Fortunately, there was no wind, and it appeared the firemen might be successful in stopping the flames from spreading. The block in which the fire originated was recently built.

DAY IS ALSO FOR FARMERS

The Government today was the first to be honored in what promises to be a long drawn-out and bitterly contested legal engagement with Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, mother of Grover and Irwin.

The Government's action was represented by an order from Federal Judge Dickinson that Mrs. Bergdoll must show cause October 11, in the United States Court, why she should not give an accounting in full of Grover's estate to Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian.

Mrs. Bergdoll, in retaliation, has filed a suit against Miller, demanding the return of $1,000,000 worth of property which she claims was part of Grover's estate.

A vice legal point raised by Mrs. Bergdoll is whether Grover can in any event be an alien enemy, within the meaning of the act, now that a treaty of peace has been signed with the Central European nations.

Further it is contended by Mrs. Bergdoll and her counsel that Grover never was an enemy alien within the meaning of the law, since he was a born American, and not a national of either Germany or Austria-Hungary.

Mrs. Bergdoll also alleges that she and her other sons were in any way enemy aliens.

ESCAPED LUNATIC ROUTS FAMILY, BRANSHING AX

Patrolmen Finally Subdue Martin Pickal on Kenilworth Street

An ax flourished by an insane man was sufficient cause last night for Mrs. Mary Harvey and neighbors at 107 Kenilworth street, to seek protection of the police, who were attracted by Mrs. Harvey's screams.

The lunatic phin delegation will reach here this afternoon, coming via the Delaware River on Philadelphia's new police yacht on its trial trip. The visitors will be welcomed at the dock by Mayor Beasley, of Trenton, and Col. Maxon Beasley, of Trenton, secretary of the Fair Association. They will be driven in automobiles to the fair grounds, where a card of special entertainment will be provided.

Householders Move to Suburbs Until Apartment Prices Tumble

New York, Sept. 28.—Moving van operators reported themselves swamped today by applications from householders who wish to take part in New York's annual hysteria which is supposed to end with everybody settled for the winter on October 1.

Indications were, however, that everybody will not be settled by the first. One large real estate operator said hundreds of wily flat hunters had taken temporary quarters in the suburbs to wait for a tumble in rentals which he predicted would begin immediately after October 1.

"To let" signs are more numerous than they have been in years, he pointed out, and said by about her operators would cut their rates 20 per cent rather than have their apartments vacant throughout the winter.

RICHMOND SORRY, BISHOP EXPLAINS

Rhinelanders Agree to Probation of Former Rector at St. John's Church

NOW IS IN WYOMING

Bishop Rhineland explained today that George Chalmers Richmond confessed his repentance and convinced him of "a purpose of amendment."

Therefore, the Bishop asserts, he put no impediment in the path of Mr. Richmond's return to the Protestant Episcopal Church, nor to the ultimate restoration of Mr. Richmond's priestly prerogatives, provided that there are further evidences and works of atonement.

Mr. Richmond, who formerly was rector of St. John's Church, this city, was censured by Bishop Rhineland in 1917 for conduct unbecoming a clergyman.

"I am glad to clear up a situation which might otherwise be misunderstood," explained Bishop Rhineland today. "When a man is suspended or deposed from the ministry he does not mean that his 'orders' are taken from him. That is impossible. 'Orders,' as we say, are 'indelible'; once a priest, always a priest. Punishment and penalty come, not in taking away a man's orders, but in suspending him from the use of them. He cannot 'officiate' as a priest while his sentence stands against him."

"Exclusion" from the ministry is the most severe form of "suspension," that is, the heaviest penalty provided for in our canon law. A man, if deposed, is suspended from the ministry for not less than three years, and may not then be restored unless certain conditions are fulfilled; conditions which are intended not only to atone his repentance and amendment, but also to provide proof that the episcopate and the laity of the Church have regained confidence in him.

"But if this form of probation is satisfactorily completed and the necessary conditions are fulfilled, a man who has been deposed may be restored, without being reordained."

"Mr. Richmond has professed his repentance and purpose of amendment," the Bishop of Wyoming needs men in his extensive field. The Bishop asked Mr. Richmond for each work in his diocese as a layman may do under the auspices of the Church. I replied that I had no objection that I was entirely ready to have Mr. Richmond given a chance to prove himself under suitable supervision and direction, following both the spirit and the letter of the Church's law. I sincerely hope that Mr. Richmond will use these next three years to good effect in service of the church and the welfare of his people. That is the only question now involved."
