Knight Organization Ticket in Burlington County Again Defeated

SURROGATE RACE CLOSE

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger. Mount Holly, Sept. 22.—The second round of the primary election in Burlington County yesterday was a big factor in sending the Republican machine of the county to its second crushing defeat in the last three years.

Aero Club Head

BENEDICT CROWELL, Former Assistant Secretary of War, who has been elected president of the Aero Club of America will be re-elected without opposition at the general election in November.

Merchandise, N. J., Sept. 22.—Returns at midnight in Middle Shore and Thomas J. S. Burdick 100 in the lead in the county to be re-elected County Commissioner. Many ballots were yet to be counted, but it was believed Burdick's lead could not be cut down.

BAIRD TICKET WINS EASILY IN CAMDEN

The Republican organization led by Governor Senator Baird yesterday won re-election for the Camden Board of Freeholders at yesterday's primaries. The count was decided by the heavy vote cast against the Democrats.

Woodbury, N. J., Sept. 22.—The Republicans have nominated Dr. Horace M. Foader, of Williamstown, as the candidate for Senator to fill the unexpired term of Edward L. Sturgess, who resigned to accept the office of internal revenue collector.

MUST RECORD ONLY POLITICAL TREATIES

Technical Facts Need Not Be Registered With League, Committee Says

WHITE SLAVERY DISCUSSED

By the Associated Press. Geneva, Sept. 22.—Political treaties bearing upon international relations are the only conventions which must be registered with the secretariat of the League of Nations, according to a decision submitted to the Assembly of the League by its Constitutional Committee today.

The committee presented an interpretive resolution to the effect that Article 104, directing the treaties or international arrangements not to be so registered, does not require the filing of agreements of a technical or administrative nature.

The Assembly today discussed the report of the committee on white slave traffic. It adopted a resolution approving the conclusions of the Geneva conference, asking delegates having the power to do so to sign the convention, and urging those not having this power to demand it from their governments immediately.

Bolivia can seek satisfaction of her demands for a revision of the treaty of 1904, relative to the Pacific Ocean, by direct negotiations with Chile, declared Augustin Edwards, head of the Chilean delegation, today.

He asserted, while speaking before the Assembly, that Chile had never closed the doors to such negotiations, and asserted he could say in the name of his country that it would be happy to entertain any proposition tending to aid in the economic development of Bolivia.

WANTS BOOKBINDER FREED. Counsel Asks Federal Court to Quash Indictment. J. Washington Logue, attorney for Samuel Bookbinder, restaurant keeper, asked the Federal Court today to quash the indictments returned against his client.

Mr. Logue declared the indictment charges two offenses against separate Federal laws, without any agreement that the two counts have grown out of a single statement of fact. One offense, Mr. Logue said, is alleged against the Violent Act and the other against customs laws.

Assistant District Attorney Walnut held that under recent decisions by Federal Court, the Government may employ such charges in one indictment.

STOLEN SHOES RETURNED. Truck Driver Up With Loot Taken Night Before. An unusual robbery occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday morning when thieves entered the shoe store of Albert Gold and Samuel Goring, at 626 West Girard avenue. They entered through a rear gate and carried off 183 pairs of shoes and twelve dozen silk hose, worth $760.

World Currency Financiers' Hope

Less likely to be heard of it in the future unless the present German crisis develops to a point where future payments of reparations becomes impossible, when a cancellation of debts would become a means not so much of restoring international exchange as of preventing the spread of international bankruptcy from Germany to countries whose credit rests upon their ability to collect damages from Germany.

Significantly Mr. Churchill in his speech turned quickly from this idea of cancellation or reduction of debts to the more practical one of creating a medium of international exchange which would be unbiased by war obligations and would secure, at any rate temporarily, and during the period of recovery, the sale of goods between nations on a natural and normal basis.

That is the project to which bankers and Government officials like Mr. Hoover, interested in trade and commerce the world over, are giving consideration. Such a currency would have to rest, like the currency first evolved for exchange among individuals, upon the credit of individuals. In a country like Germany, where the Government, in the view of the best-informed Cabinet officials, is fast approaching bankruptcy, there are industrial forces, like the Stinnes group, whose credit is sound.

Any currency which would pass in the markets of the world would have to rest in some way upon the going industries of the world. To such industries the debased currency of their own lands is no handicap. It lowers the cost of wages to them. It lowers their debt to bondholders and of the interest they pay upon earlier borrowings. It cheapens their cost of production, except so far as they have to buy raw materials in foreign currencies. If they can buy in their own countries in debased paper and sell abroad in gold based currency, their position will be strengthened.

Whether Germany will go to bankruptcy or not, the Administration, it is learned, is not dependent upon whether the present World Government can put through its proposed radical taxation system or not. The Administration, it is learned, is extremely friendly to the World Government, but is not confident of its security.

How Germany Paid. The details of the last reparations payment are known here. The German Government borrowed $100,000,000 of the $250,000,000, and paid much of it on short-term paper. It used up $50,000,000 of the gold reserves, already badly depleted. It speculated in the market on German marks, that is to say, juggled with the market and made $50,000,000 more. Thus it paid only $50,000,000 out of genuine resources.

This suggests a declaration of bankruptcy and inability to meet the reparations payment, unless a radical change of taxation is resorted to. The financial crisis in Germany grows worse, it is the contention of the State Department that the importance of America's representation in the Reparations Commission and the Guaranties Commission will be greatly increased.

A fall of the World Government would probably result in pressure from the Administration for the passage of an act permitting the appointment of an American Commissioner of Reparations and perhaps resistance by the isolationists in the Senate, who would argue that this country should keep out of the steadily deepening European financial mire.

The Home of the Pianola. C. J. Heppé & Son—Founded 1865. Downtown—1117-1119 Chestnut Street. Uptown—6th and Thompson Streets. This is an unusual opportunity to secure a genuine Heppé Pianola-Piano. Remember, Heppé's is the home of the Pianola. Player-pianos are not Pianola-Pianos, although many people confuse the two merely because the Pianola-Pianos for years were alone in the player-piano field. "Pianola" became a household word and invited many imitators. To secure a genuine Pianola-Piano be sure your instrument is a Steinway, Weber, Steck, Wheelock, Stroud or Heppé. The instrument offered now is a genuine Pianola-Piano. We guarantee it to be the greatest player-piano value in Philadelphia. We will gladly refund your money if this is not so. Other player-pianos resemble Pianola-Pianos only in price. Buy a genuine Heppé Pianola-Piano and you will have constant satisfaction. Call, phone or write at once for catalogue.
