

ONE OF THE HELPERS. Virginia Brock, one of the several balloon sellers at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show

MISS KATHERINE B. HARD

MISS ANITA STRAWBRIDGE (LEFT) AND MISS ANN ASHTON

MRS. ROBT. E. STRAWBRIDGE

IN ONE OF THE BOXES. Miss Helen Michell (left) and Miss Alberta Reath, seated alongside of the ring at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show, enjoying its many features

OPENING DAY. Society folk turned out in large numbers at the Bryn Mawr Horse Show yesterday. They were repaid by many thrilling falls in the steeplechase events and numerous added attractions. Above are some of the people met by our photographer

OUTRUNS RACE HORSE. George Walsh, on the Annapolis track, takes the laurels in a novel race following a wager with the jockey

J. CHEEVES COWDIN, of the Rockaway polo team, is at the Presbyterian Hospital with a fractured leg sustained when his horse fell on Tuesday.

J. R. FERGUSON. He's a member of the Roxborough Golf Club

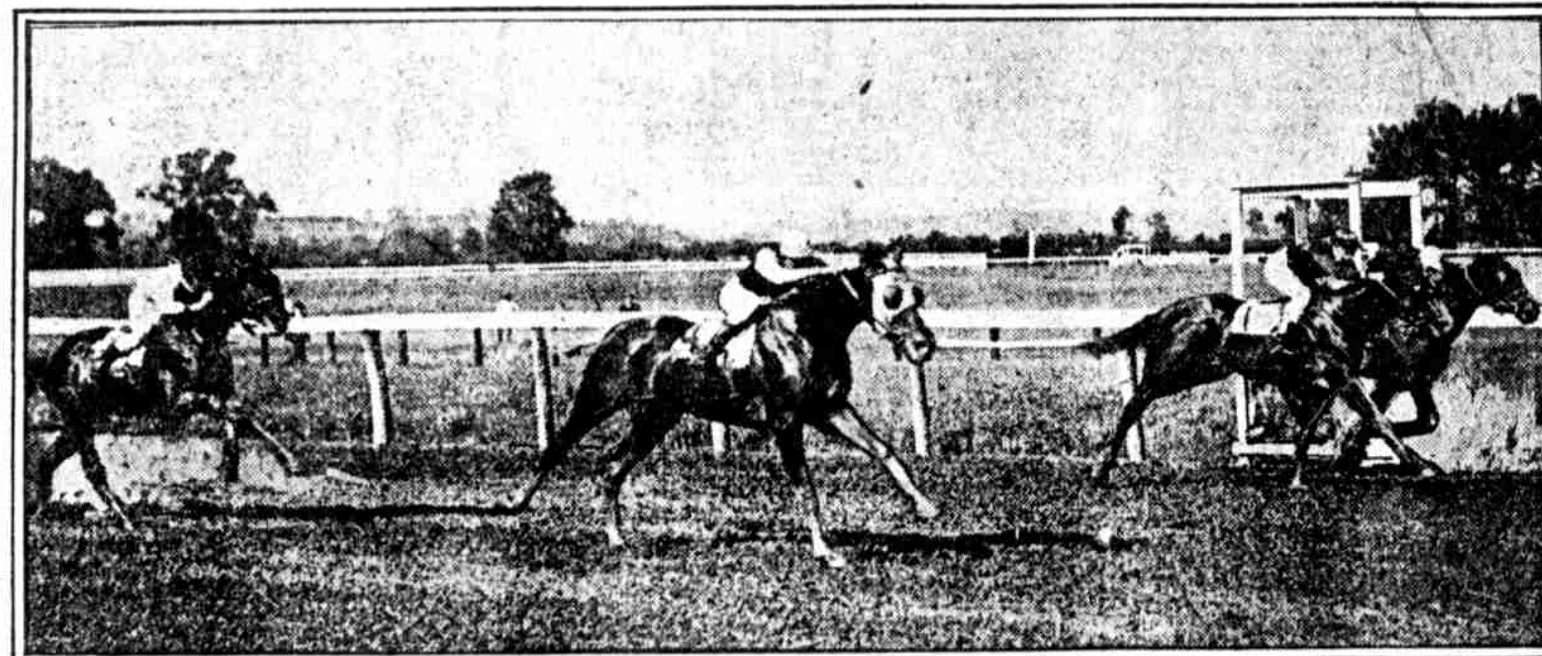

SKIPPER OF THE AMERICA. Commander William U. Swann, who brought the famous yacht here

SOME KID! We refer to costume made of glove kid seen in New York

MRS. LYDIA SOUTHARD on trial at Twin Falls, Idaho, for killing her husband. Four other murder charges are pending against her

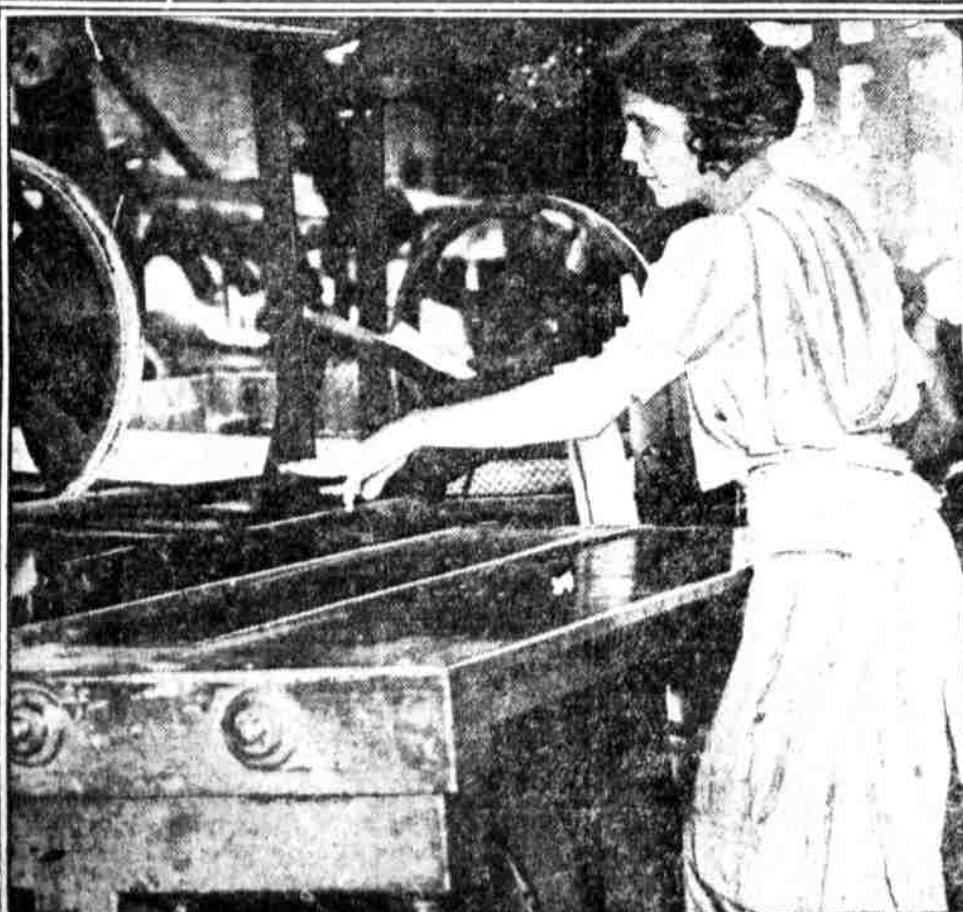

THE THIRD HORSE WON. The photographer caught four horses in the claiming-two-year-old race at Havre de Grace. Fair Virginia, the horse running third, went to the finish a winner. Ponce was riding. The horses having the close battle are Zenatta and Feigned Zeal. Feigned Zeal finished second

BOYS GIVE PLAY. Arthur Lowenthal (left) and Edward Hecht, two of the comedians in the musical comedy presented last night at the Mercantile Hall by members of the Young Men's Hebrew Association

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

MISS MINNIE SUMMERSCHU, 238 West Erie avenue, inspecting and rolling cloth in the factory of Thomas Potter Sons & Co., Second street and Erie avenue

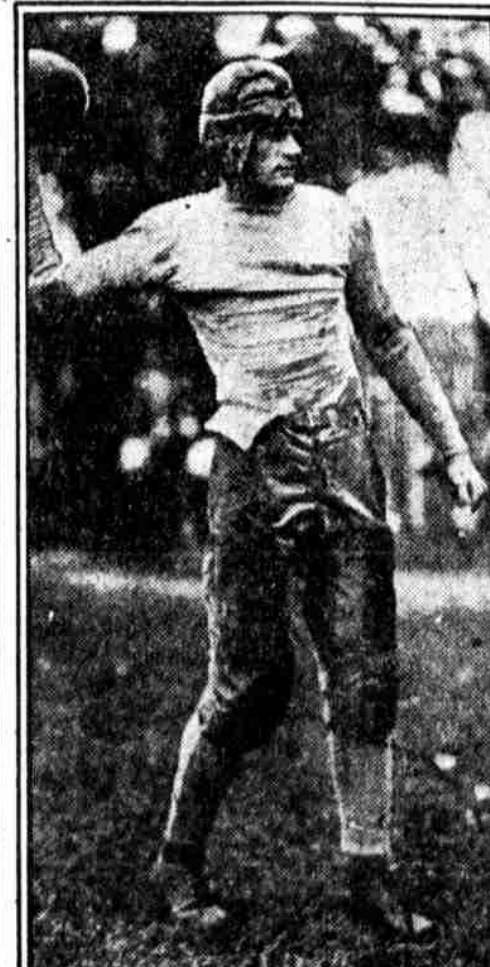

DELEGATES. Miss Elizabeth Christman, of Chicago (left) and Miss Mary Van Kleek, of New York, at unemployment conference

JOHN J. SONGSTER, Darby, has been in service thirteen years. He serves Chestnut street, Broad to Fifteenth street

MAIL!

TWO CADETS. St Paultis, coach of the football team that is to represent the Pennsylvania Military Academy this year, has a big job to select the best of a lot of good footballers. "Jip" Allen (left) is a star halfback. A Philadelphia lad, J. Carson Perry, is sure of making center

