

FOOTBALL WORRIES BRIDE OF YARNALL

Singer, Who Was Married to Swarthmore Athlete, Doesn't Like Scrimmages

PROUD OF WAR RECORD

If only the players on the opposing team wouldn't pile in a great, wringing heap on "Rusty" Yarnall when that fleet Swarthmore back happens to have the ball!

That's the only thing his newly discovered bride has the least bit of uneasiness about, she confided today, as she chatted at her home at 5304 Market street about her surprise marriage, to Russell Yarnall. He is a student at Swarthmore College, and a son of Mrs. Edwin A. Yarnall, one of Delaware County's plucky jury strikers.

"But then," exclaimed young Mrs. Yarnall, after she had expressed her bit of uneasiness, "I suppose that piling up business is all part of the game."

And she is very proud of her husband's ability to play football.

"You see," she explained, "I have always been fond of sports and I have brothers who always played football and baseball, so I've virtually been raised with it."

"I went out last Friday to see Rus practice, and he played splendidly. I hope to see him play against Princeton Saturday."

Mrs. Yarnall, who before her marriage was Miss Bessie Phillips, is on a concert tour on the Canadian Chautauqua circuit, and her husband was on the same tour. She had known him about six months before they were married.

"But," she said, "that was quite long enough for us to discover that we were made for each other. The uncertainty of marriage these days does not worry me, because I feel that domestic bliss is largely a matter of personal effort."

"We were married July 10, and decided to keep it a secret because I wanted 'Rus' to finish college. And then we came home, and I could see no reason why we could not announce our marriage and have 'Rus' finish his course, too. One feels so sheepish about keeping one's marriage a secret."

And so, Rus is staying at Swarthmore and I'm living here with my people."

Broke News by Wire
Mr. and Mrs. Yarnall went to Washington for a week, and from there, by means of telegrams and night letters, broke the news to their parents.

"After the first shock was over they really didn't mind, and I'm awfully glad now that it is known," said the bride.

During the war Mr. Yarnall served for eighteen months with the Rainbow Division. As Mrs. Yarnall spoke of this a look of pride came into her face. He was wounded several times, gassed, and showed wonderful bravery," she said. "The Croix de Guerre was awarded him."

Mrs. Yarnall sang at Camp Dix and the Navy Yard during the war, and was a favorite with all the enlisted men whom she entertained with her singing.

Mrs. Yarnall was dressed today in a frock of dark blue serge, embroidered with a soft tag silk. The underskirt was of lustrous black satin. The sleeves, which fell away from her arm just above the wrist, were lined with satin.

That Wedding Ring?
As she talked she twisted her platinum wedding ring about on her finger, and sitting at the piano, running her fingers idly over the keys, she seemed to watch the play of light on the engraving in the ring, rather than the notes before her.

Mrs. Yarnall's eyes are very blue and her hair is a chestnut brown. It was pulled back from her forehead and pinned in a loose knot at the back of her neck. She has a pretty, vivacious face, which was alight when she was talking of "Rus."

In addition to playing in the backfield of this year's football team, "Rusty" is also captain of the college basketball team.

The Yarnalls were married in St. John, New Brunswick. The bride is at present contralto soloist in the First Presbyterian Church, of Germantown. She is twenty-four years old, the same age as her husband, who graduates next year.

FOOTBALL STAR'S CHAUTAUQUA BRIDE

Mrs. Russell Yarnall, contralto, who was Miss Bessie Phillips, is singing in her heart today because she is the bride of Russell Yarnall, Swarthmore football star, to whom she was secretly married July 10 in St. John, New Brunswick. They met in Canada, where they were both on the Canadian Chautauqua Circuit. The Yarnalls finished school in Philadelphia. Mrs. Yarnall will live at her own home, 5304 Market street.

RECOGNIZES STOLEN CAMEO; THIEF SUSPECT IS NABBED

Woman Sees Jewelry Taken From Home in Store Window

The recognition of a cameo pin in the display window of a dealer in old gold and antiques led to the arrest and arraignment today of Charles Home, Race street near Sixteenth, who was charged with larceny.

A quantity of heirlooms including rings, brooches, cameos and necklaces were stolen from the home of Miss Elizabeth Hillis, 212 West Washington square, about a month ago.

Miss Hillis reasoned that the thief would sell his loot to some dealer in old gold. She began inspecting the windows of various shops and discovered one of her cameos. The dealer gave a description of the man who sold the cameo to him.

Detectives arrested Home as he was entering another old gold shop on Walnut street. Magistrate Renshaw in Central Station held Home in $1500 bail for court. Police say he also stole jewelry from the home of Charles Henry, 233 South Sixtieth street.

TAKE FORGERS TO CANADA

Donald Hoover and Woman Wanted in Montreal

Donald Hoover and a woman companion, who were arrested here a month ago, charged with passing a worthless check on a hotel, started for Montreal, Canada, early today in custody of a detective from that city.

The couple is wanted in Canada, police say, for the robbery of an apartment house. Detective Sergeant William Lamont, of Montreal, came here yesterday for them.

Lamont said the woman, known here as Mrs. Doris E. Hoover, is not Hoover's wife. The detective said she deserted her husband in Canada. Hoover is married, Lamont said, and deserted his wife and two children.

Hoover was convicted yesterday before Judge Anderson on the bogus-check charge. The Judge deferred sentence, as the local police agreed to turn the pair over to the Montreal authorities.

YOUNG ROBBERS TO JAIL

Boys Must Serve Eighteen Months for Holding Up Store

Thomas Backus, seventeen years old, of 2047 Oxford street, and Roy Weightman, seventeen years old, of 1721 North Stillman street, pleaded guilty today before Judge Anderson to a charge of robbery and were each sentenced to nine months in the county prison.

On September 7 the boys entered a store at Thirty-second and Oxford streets, and held the daughter of the proprietor, Minnie Weiner, at bay with a revolver and stole $5 from the cash drawer.

POLITICIANS MEET AT TRENTON FAIR

Governor, U. S. Senators and Other Officials Mingle With Ward Workers

CANDIDATES IN POW-WOWS

near-statesmen, State, county and city officials and ward political workers from various sections of New Jersey mingled today as guests of the Interstate Fair on "Politicians' Day," otherwise known as "Big Thursday." Thousands of visitors thronged the grounds.

Governor Edwards, Senators Frelinghuysen and Edgar, former Senator Baird, the South Jersey Republican leader; State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee who Edwards defeated for Governor; State Treasurer William E. Read, of Camden, nearly all the New Jersey Congressmen, a host of legislators and would-be legislators and candidates for almost every office were entertained by the fair management.

"Quality Row," containing the quarters of the fair officials, was the scene of pow-wows. Both parties indulged in the pastime of making tentative pledges of officers of the next Legislature.

Many of the most prominent Republicans of the State were at the fair today owing to the fact that a call had been issued by Republican State Chairman E. C. Stokes for a conference to be held late this afternoon here on the prospective platform of the Republican convention, which will be held in this city next Tuesday.

The Democratic leaders discussed plans for their State convention, which is also to be held here next Tuesday, for the purpose of formulating a platform.

There was no lack of gubernatorial candidates for next year's campaign in the throng. State Senator William B. Mackay, of Bergen, and State Senator William N. Runyon, of Union, the latter a dry and the former inclined to be "moist," were among the possibilities for the Republican nomination who attended today's function.

Talk of Governor Edwards to succeed Frelinghuysen in the Senate was heard on all sides.

The fair will be concluded tomorrow, "Get-Away-Day," with automobile racing as a feature.

NEWLYWEDS FOIL PLOTTERS OF RIOTOUS RECEPTION

Emerald Street Man and Bride Make Getaway

Friends of Joseph MacMullan, 3150 Emerald street, who planned to give him a riotous reception after his marriage set for last evening to Miss Laura Jackson, 2029 East Wishart street, went to the bride's home at the hour of the wedding only to find that the young couple had disappeared.

An elaborate wedding ceremony had been planned, with the usual accompaniments of gaiety. Some of the young couple's friends, among them several at whose own weddings the groom had been a guest, were preparing to give them a "send-off" which included all the time-honored accompaniments of banging dishes, scattered rice and white ribbons and old shoes tied to the motorcar.

The guests were mystified at the absence of Mr. MacMullan and Miss Jackson from their own home wedding. The Rev. Frank B. Lynch, pastor of the East Allegheny Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, who was to perform the wedding ceremony, also failed to arrive.

A little telephoning on the part of relatives and friends brought to light the fact that the young people had gone to Dr. Lynch's home at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with the marriage license and had the ceremony performed there. Then they disappeared, and their friends have not yet been able to trace them. It is believed they went to Niagara Falls on their honeymoon.

DIDN'T SLUR OUR JURIES

Trenton District Attorney Repudiates Attack on Phila. Justice

United States District Attorney Arrowsmith, of Trenton, today denied a statement credited to him in a dispatch to a morning newspaper that Philadelphia juries could not be trusted to return indictments against liquor-law violators.

Mr. Arrowsmith was quoted also as saying that past Philadelphia juries here had, in many cases, acquitted those indicted. He denied this also, as well as the statement quoting him as saying that the only plan left for Government officials in the case against Emanuel Bookbinder, the restaurant proprietor, is to try "Jersey justice."

"I do not know whether an indictment against Bookbinder will be sought in Trenton or not," Mr. Arrowsmith said today. "It is a Philadelphia case, and I know nothing about it."

PLAN RECEPTIONS TO PENN FRESHMEN

Christian Association Will Be Host to New Students Tomorrow Evening

COACH HEISMAN TO TALK

The incoming freshman class of the University of Pennsylvania is invited to a reception tomorrow night in Weightman Hall under the auspices of the Christian Association.

The captains and coaches of the athletic teams will address the students, the chief talks being those of Rex Wray, captain, and John Heisman, coach, of the eleven. Jack Sheedy, president of the senior class, will welcome the new class, and Acting Provost Pennington also will speak.

The various religious denominations will give receptions in their churches to the freshmen Saturday night. Those that have no church of their own will hold a reception in Houston Hall.

The federal board students, who numbered 275 last year, of whom nineteen have graduated, will be at least 350 strong this year. These students have made a particularly fine record at the University, in spite of the break in their scholastic work.

Prominent among these are George G. Snyder, president of the Rehabilitation Club, who is now in the Wharton School after a period of two years spent out of touch with student life; "Big Bill" Ward, right tackle on last year's varsity football team, who received wounds in the arms, chest and head during the war, and could still make both the football and wrestling teams; Joseph F. Yates, who graduated last year from the School of Dentistry after pitching on the baseball team; James A. Dougherty, who entered on the psychological test and made an enviable record, though he had only a grammar school education to start with; and Thomas MacNamara, who is assisting Heisman with the football team while still a student at the Wharton School.
