

STRIKE HELD RIGHT BY MRS. YARNALL

Leader of Protesting Delaware County Jurors Ready to Go to Jail for Belief

SAYS MANY COMMEND HER

"If I were arrested in the cause of right and justice," said Mrs. Edwin A. Yarnall, of Swarthmore, today in discussing the so-called "strike" of the Delaware County Grand Jury, "I would not hesitate to go to jail in support of my convictions. I cannot do more than that."

Mrs. Yarnall was the spokesman for the "striking" jurors, who protested last Friday against the refusal of certain other Grand Jury members to indict individuals accused of gambling. The jury finished its labors yesterday, made its report to Judge Beaumont, at Merriam, and received its thanks without further reference to the strike incident. Mrs. Yarnall discussed the "strike" briefly today, indicating that her own views had not changed in spite of the summary action of Judge Beaumont, who flatly refused to hear any separate communication or to communicate with the jury save through its foreman.

Says Strikers Are Vindicated

"All I care to say at the present time," said Mrs. Yarnall today, "is that subsequent events have proved the justice and right of the contention of the so-called 'striking' eleven."

"I have been the recipient of numberless letters and messages of sympathy and support. I am very much pleased with the commendation of Mayor Moore and the opinion upon the ruling of Judge Beaumont publicly expressed by A. B. Geary, of Chester, who is the candidate running on the Democratic ticket for the Judgeship in Delaware County. He is a well-known attorney, and his word carried great weight."

"I might tell in detail of other expressions of support, but I do not believe this is the proper time to do so. I do not think that any one can take exception to this statement of the case, but I am perfectly willing to stand responsible for what I have said. If I were arrested in the cause of right and justice, I would not hesitate to go to jail in defense of my opinions. I cannot go further than that."

POOR JOE HAS TO WASH FIVE FACES WHEN HE "CLEANS UP"

Four Belong to City Hall Clock and Glaskill Is on Job Daily to Make the Hands Behave

Joe Gaskill, for twenty-two years has been a faithful guardian of the four faces on City Hall tower, which see much but divulge nothing but the correct time. On the seventh floor, where one takes the elevator to go to the tower, are situated the "works" of the clocks, and it's most interesting to watch the "wheels" go round.

Included in a glass case is a small dial, which regulates the four large clocks, in the front of the case is a small opening through which is inserted a crank not a foot long and the clocks are wound in this way. Just an easy turning of the wrist requires so little effort that a youngster could easily wind it.

The message is received by Joe Gaskill, who runs his clocks accordingly.

Generally speaking the clocks keep excellent time and the only trouble Joe has with his charges is during a sleet or snow storm, and then occasionally the fury of the elements "gum the works." At such times, Joe gets dressed for the occasion and climbs out to clean the parts that are clogged. He doesn't have to hang on by his teeth either, as a fourteen-inch ledge affords ample room for his cautious turnings around.

Silent watches by day and night, they make no sound as the hands turn endlessly around, as they are run by compressed air.
