

SEVENTY THOUSAND AT LANCASTER FAIR

Women's Pavilion and Judging of Cattle Attract Keenest Interest

EDWARDS AT TRENTON FAIR

Lancaster, Pa., Sept. 30.—Yesterday was the big day of the Lancaster County Agricultural Fair and the attendance was a record-breaker, upward of 70,000 thronging the grounds, half of that number being gathered by noon. The early morning was cloudy, but by 9 o'clock the sun was out bright and the afternoon extremely warm. The number of automobiles entering the grounds was so great that all the parking space was taken, and scores, parked on the grounds, had to park in the public roads.

While the grounds are patrolled by forty special officers, the Pennsylvania Railroad has eighteen officers on duty at the Lancaster station and the fair railroad entrances, while Troop E, State police, patrol the Harrisburg turnpike between Lancaster and the fair grounds, and the other section containing juvenile hospital have service tents, where minor accidents and sick cases are given first treatment. The ambulances of St. Joseph's and General Hospital are on the grounds ready for an emergency.

In the women's pavilion are two sections that attract much attention, one displaying every beautiful and useful article that an infant could need, and the other section containing juvenile work, displaying the handicraft of boys in mechanics and the girls in needlework, and both in drawings and small paintings in oil and water colors.

The cattle prizes were awarded yesterday. Flickinger and Smith took first prize on short-feeders, Lyons & Son, on feeders, and W. M. Dunlap on long-feeders, all local firms. The 300 head of cattle exhibited will be sold today.

Trenton, Sept. 30.—Among the record-breaking attendance at the Trenton Fair yesterday were political leaders from every section of New Jersey, who gathered here as usual for their annual pre-election discussion of political issues. Despite the fact that this is an off year in State politics, the proximity of the two State conventions to be held here next Tuesday, coupled with the fact that issues raised this year may have an important bearing on the gubernatorial election next year, added interest to the occasion.

It was the consensus of the leaders of both parties that prohibition enforcement, as a result of the drastic law in effect in New Jersey, coupled with the agitation for less stringent laws respecting Sabbath observance, is destined to play an important part in the campaign this year.

In behalf of the Democrats, and particularly the Nugent wing, the controlling factor in Essex County, a plank has been drawn for submission to the party State convention severely denouncing the State Enforcement Act as un-American and an invasion of personal rights guaranteed by the Constitution.

Realizing that the present enforcement law has made many enemies because of its drastic provisions, relating to summary trial before a magistrate without indictment or a jury, the power conferred respecting search and seizure and the heavy penalties provided for first offenders are inclined to favor a modification of the present law, though they differ as to how far this modification should go. It was regarded as probable that the Republican platform would, as last year, commit the party to a general policy of enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment, though probably with some of the more objectionable features eliminated.

The arrival of Governor Edwards and party was the signal for a demonstration.

Spangler Denies Quitting Politics
York, Pa., Sept. 30.—Reports to the effect that Robert C. Spangler, formerly Speaker of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, had declared while in Philadelphia Wednesday that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the House, are denied by Mr. Spangler. The Philadelphia account also quoted him as saying that he had no aspirations for any other political honors. The former Speaker says he made no such statement.

But Real Prohibition Does Not Exist, Labor M. P.'s Report

HARM IN BOOTLEGGERS

By the Associated Press
London, Sept. 30.—"The suppression of the saloon is an achievement for which the American people cannot be too thankful," declares a joint report of Charles H. Stieh and John E. Davison, Labor members of Parliament, who recently visited the United States to investigate the operation of prohibition. "Prohibition, however, as we in this country were led to believe it prevailed, does not exist," adds the report, which also notes the development of home-brewing, wine-making and illicit traffic in liquor.

The Labor members continue: "We are of the opinion that the American people will demand facilities for the purchase of light wines and beers, and had the anti-saloon propaganda been in the direction of eliminating the more disgraceful features of the saloons, securing changed management and more effective control, concurrently with the provision of facilities for obtaining these simple beverages, the bitter animosity aroused by its more drastic efforts would not have been provoked." The report declares: "If ever it is sought to impose a similar law on our statute books the electors must see to it that it is not 'planted' upon them in the dark, but that its acceptance shall be only after a full opportunity is afforded for its adequate consideration and it is submitted for their approval and consent in a constitutional manner."

People who are in a position to know, continues the report, have described America as "a bootleggers' paradise," and goes on to say: "We were constantly driven to the conviction that the resultant consequences on the mor-

A mass of information on both sides of the question was furnished those members of Parliament, and it is asserted, "for every claim advanced by prohibitionists, it is possible to present conflicting views."

POLICE INSPECTOR HAS $154,000 HOUSE

N. Y. Probers Find Dwyer Is Big Landlord Under Assumed Name

MADE MONEY IN STOCKS

New York, Sept. 30.—Stock speculations by John F. Dwyer, police inspector, his purchase of a $154,000 apartment house and the alleged employment of two policemen under his command by his attorney in connection with a civil suit, were investigated yesterday by the Moyer legislative committee.

After the inspector bought the house through his attorney, Warren Leslie, with a $20,000 cash payment, he was known to his tenants as William Leslie, the name of the attorney's father. The inspector's explanation was that because he was a police officer "they would holler police persecution" should action be taken against disorderly tenants and this would be embarrassing.

Inspector Dwyer declared he accumulated $32,000 in stock speculations through five brokers and by savings from his salary.

Senator Downing asked the inspector if he had been interested in any separation proceedings and he said no. That was after testimony had been adduced that one of his patrolmen, John W. Sutter, had been employed by Mr. Leslie to shadow Dr. Charles Lawrence Allers, principal in a separation proceedings, and that Sutter had used wire tapping apparatus. Sutter, it was testified, received $70 a week from Mr. Leslie and his brother-in-law, James Shaw, an equal amount. Leslie and Sutter denied the latter was employed
