

GIRL TO TAKE FREE BICYCLE ON STAGE

Little Flossie Stanton Finds Way to Put Her Black Beauty Prize to Work

OTHER CHILDREN HAPPY

The Black Beauty bicycle which was won by Flossie Stanton, of 416 North Preston street, in the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER contest, will be used in a new sketch which she is now rehearsing. Little Miss Stanton, who is only eleven years old, secured thirty-five subscriptions in one week, and she has now turned her attention to her return to the state, on which she has already had a good deal of experience as a singer and dancer.

Charles McMillin, of 2345 South Marshall street, is going out after Madam's blue records on his new Black Beauty. He writes that next year at the latest he will find the premier bicycle racer in the country, and that his new machine will have most of the credit for it.

Hazel S. Paxson, of Harvey road, Edgemoor, Del., finds her new Black Beauty bicycle a necessity already, although she has just received it. Every day she rides to school upon it, and she can't see now how she ever could walk that distance in the past.

There would be even more Black Beauties around if every one knew how easy it is to earn one, says George Miller, of 708 North Sixty-third street, and he thinks his new bicycle is well named. There are a good many who agree with him on this point. Among them are Harry E. Blank, Jr., of 5436 North Fairhill street, who is very glad indeed that he entered the contest; Edward Delaney, of Steelton, Pa., who says his bike is "a beauty indeed"; Montgomery A. Holcombe, of Lambertville, N. J., who thinks that his Black Beauty was well worth working for; Daniel Davies, of York Haven, Pa., who says his bike is a real prize; and George Wilkins, of Glenn street, Chester, who has realized a life-long ambition by winning a beautiful bicycle that is even finer than those which he had always envied.

The girls, too, have made a success in the contest. Dorothy Flinn, of 5132 North Eleventh street, is delighted with her Black Beauty, as is Elsie St. Hodge, of Bryn Mawr, Pa. Marion Zeller, 1624

North Sixty-second street, thinks it is "a lovely gift" for the small amount of work she had to do to get it, and she intends to make good use of it.

All the friends of James Strauss, who lives in York, Pa., are wishing they, too, had entered the contest, now that they have seen his Black Beauty, and all the fun that he gets out of it. Francis Rauce, 1514 Mifflin street, got his new Black Beauty on his birthday, and he thinks that it is the best birthday gift he has ever had. His whole family are readers of the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

PIMPLES ON HEAD FOURTEEN YEARS

Caused Itching and Burning, Hair Came Out. Cuticura Heals.

"My sister when an infant had pimples and scales on her head. They caused an itching, burning feeling that was worse at times and her hair came out, and was lifeless-looking. The eruption caused loss of sleep.

"For fourteen years she tried several remedies without success. Then she got Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Soap and one box of Ointment in one month she was healed."
(Signed) Miss Emma Laird, Muncy Valley, Pa., Feb. 8, 1921.

For every purpose of the toilet and bath Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are wonderfully good.

Can You Do It and Eat?

Can you keep house on $25 a week? Thousands of young couples are postponing marriage because they are afraid to try it. But it can be done!

A Home Journal investigator tells how many couples are stretching $25 a week over rent, clothing, heat, gas, light, ice, food, fun and savings.

"How to Get Married on $25 a Week and Eat" is one of forty-seven (47) features, including an exclusive article telling how Mrs. Wilson saved the President's life, and a complete novelette, "My Aunt Clarinda's Orphan," by Corra Harris, in the 174-page October issue of
