

Box-Score Statistics Show Giants Are Outbatting Yanks, Still Latter Sets Pace for Title

NEW RECORD FOR PLAYERS' RECEIPTS

Each Member of Winning Team in World Series Will Receive $5262

SIX CLUBS SHARE $292,522

New York, Oct. 11.—The Giants and the Yankees are fighting for the biggest stake ever distributed in World Series baseball. The winning team will split up $191,634, which, with twenty-five players eligible, means $7,625 each.

The highest previous total for each winning player came in the 1919 series, when the Cincinnati Reds carried off $52,250 each.

The losing team of the present struggle will split up $87,756, which, with twenty-five players eligible, means $3,510 each, also the biggest losing and in the history of baseball, the former mark standing at $3,254.

The difference between the winning and the losing end is $1,102, and that is exactly what each player of the Giants and Yankees is striving to gain as the battle rages. The Yanks now have the fifth game yesterday all interest of the players in the gate receipts ended and the total pool amounts to $292,522—a new high score in the history of World Series games.

Under the rules laid down the receipts from the games shall be divided as follows:

"Fifty per cent of the gross receipts from all games shall be paid to the National Commission.

"Sixty per cent of the balance from the first five games shall form a fund for the players of the contesting teams and of the teams finishing second and third in their respective pennant races, which shall be apportioned and disbursed as follows:

"Seventy-five per cent of the pool for the players of the winning team in the World Series; 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers.

"The remaining 25 per cent shall be apportioned between the second and third teams in each major league, 60 per cent thereof to the players of the second team in each league and 40 per cent thereof to go to the players of the teams finishing third in their respective leagues."

Under these provisions the total pool for the players of $292,522 will be split so that 75 per cent, or $219,390, will go to the Giants and Yankees on a basis of 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers, as worked out above.

The two teams which finished second and third respectively in each league will have $73,130 as their share. This means that the Pittsburgh Pirates, which finished second in the National League, and the Cleveland Indians, which finished second in the American League, will divide $13,878 in round figures, while the players of the two St. Louis teams, which finished third in each pennant race, will split up $29,252.

Going further, this means about $850 for each player of the Pittsburgh and Cleveland clubs and about $600 to each player of the two St. Louis clubs.

To date the two club owners have $185,014 to divide up or close to $100,000 each, but in the games to come this total will grow much faster.

It is provided, however, that 50 per cent must be paid over to the treasurer of the two leagues to be distributed among other club owners, so that all will get some share of this huge money-cutter.

MIDDIES WILL GIVE TIGERS REAL BATTLE

Princeton Should Win, But Beating Folwell's Eleven Is Not One of Season's Romps—Two Well-Coached Machines

By GRANTLAND RICE

Revised I remember, I remember. A long, long time ago, When there were knots upon my head, When there were tangles in my hair, When there were seams from hostile cleats, Upon my youthful mesh, As in my boyish ignorance I dived beneath a rash.

I remember, I remember. The fun it used to be, When I came home at night, To bandage up a knee, But now I think I'd just as soon Sit quietly on the lines, And let the other fellows make A boardwalk of their spines.

ALBERT BRITT, in Outing, has named Frank Hinky as the greatest football player of all time. Hinky, as Walter Camp expressed it, "was a disembodied spirit." He probably had the greatest football soul ever known to gridiron annals. Found for pound, he was king of the tribe. From this viewpoint Mr. Britt is right. But to say that he was greater than Thorpe or Mahan, bigger, stronger, faster, more versatile stars, might open another argument.

Carpenter's "Right" 'T'S CARPENTER'S famous right really delivered straight from the shoulder like the straight left to the face, or is it a hooking or a swinging blow?" asks R. G. D., of Pittsburgh.

"Several books I have read on the many art give me the impression that a straight right is a poor punch, lacking force and accuracy."

Carpenter's right-handed wallop, as it looked to us, was an over-hand smash with the hand turned palm down. It was almost a straight jab, started well back and shot forward at terrific speed. It was more of an overhead hook than an uppercut.

The full power of the right shoulder was behind the blow, with the body supporting the punch with a semi-whirl, as if he were throwing his right side into the crash. He put everything he had into this work, and Dempsey's jaw was the first obstacle that remained intact after delivery.

The Tiger Test

THE Tiger out of Nassau's football jungle looks to be in his most menacing mood this season. Every prospect is in his favor.

But he faces a test on Saturday that not even one of the Bengal brand can take too lightly. Beating the Navy will not be one of the season's romps. A stout line and a strong, fast backfield are waiting for Princeton, and Bill Roper can afford to take no chance of any sort if he is to slip by safely.

This Navy-Princeton game should be one of the best of the year—a rousing affair between two well-coached veteran machines with a wealth of fine material. Princeton should win, but it isn't one of the season's certainties that she will get it.

BEATING Lafayette is another job that few are facing with any radiance of hope. It wasn't Pittsburgh's weakness, but Lafayette's power that gave the latter a running start against one of the best teams in the East. Barring an upset, Lafayette will be around in late November with her share of delegates for the post-season championship debate, each one equipped with a number of likely arguments.

IN THE Eastern coterie, Syracuse is another eleven to be observed with more than casual attention. Speed, power and experience make a triple combination that will go far, provided

"BEAT PENN!" SLOGAN FOR GARNET ELEVEN. Coach Mercer Prepares Swarthmore for Game on Saturday.

Swarthmore, Pa., Oct. 11.—The slogan of the Swarthmore football squad this week will be "beat Pennsylvania."

As to hope on the respective teams, Coach Mercer realizes that the odds are against the Garnet aggregation, but every effort will be made to throw a scare into the Red and Blue next Saturday.

Light practice was the order of the day, the varsity squad and scrubs are working out under separate signals in order to have effective scrimmage later in the week. Line Coach Bill Ward, who starred on the big Quaker's line during the last several years, looks forward to a line which will hold Pennsylvania as well as it did Princeton.

In the back field Captain Geiges will be depended upon to pull off the types of plays which put him on a par with the big collegiate quarterbacks of the East, while Aplunich's boot still holds sway over the best Red and Blue can produce. While in the last two games he has proven himself to be a good open field runner, and a mauler in the garnet defense.

POOL JOINS FRANKFORD. Former Star Quarterback of P. M. C. Latest Addition to Yellowjackets.

After two preliminary games with All-Phillies and Hobart, both of which were defeated by large scores, the Frankford Yellow jackets now reach their turning point in their schedule.

On Saturday next, at Brown's Field, in Frankford, Coach Johnson's squad tackles one of its toughest opponents on this season's schedule, the Allentown A. A.

This team has met some of the best independent teams in Pennsylvania, including Edwinstown, Tamaqua, Shenandoah, Coaldale and Bethlehem, and a stiff contest is looked for by Frankford.

Manager Bowker has succeeded in signing Pool, last year's quarterback on P. M. C. and one of the best punters in the East. Pool, along with Bob Hemney, Koster, Kaufmann, Schrader, Nemzer, Johnson and Lungren, gives Coach Johnson the best double set of backs in this vicinity.

PENN RELAY TEAM TO VISIT ENGLAND

Faculty Approves Trip Across Water for Relay Match, Race With Britons

TRIO OF HALF-MILERS

International athletics are to be continued at Penn. According to information emanating from University of Pennsylvania track officials, the Red and Blue will send a one, two or four mile relay team to England next spring for a meeting with a combined Oxford-Cambridge University quartet.

It is said that the faculty of the University already has given its assent to the proposed trip, and has guaranteed the athletes three weeks' freedom from cuts. This is the first move in the plan to have a Penn track representative go to England.

The next step is up to the Athletic Council, which is expected to follow suit and make provisions for the financing of five men for three weeks.

According to the present plans, a meeting will be staged in London about the latter part of March or the first of April between a selected British team and the Penn quartet. Immediately after the race the English team and the Penn team will embark for this country, getting here at least two weeks ahead of the relay carnival on Franklin Field the last Friday and Saturday of April.

Lack of Milers. Coach Robertson, of the Penn team, is not sure what team will be taken across the pond. He says that he will not give any consideration at the present to any particular team, but would decide during the indoor track season, after he has had an opportunity to try out the candidates.

Outside of several freshmen who entered the University this fall, the Red and Blue track team is lacking in milers. Holen, Head and "Larry"

Brown are three athletes who can run a mile in fairly good time, but, outside of this trio, the remaining athletes have yet to be tested.

It is not thought likely that the visiting team will be a four-mile one. The two-mile quarter looks like a sure bet. Three of the four men who ran on the team last year in the relay races, when but for an unfortunate accident a new world record would have been made, are back in the University.

Larry Brown, captain of the track team; Ed McMullen, the former Central High School star, and George Meredith, brother of the peerless Ted, form an excellent nucleus for a two-mile team. Then there is Holden, the Washington High School flash, who ran brilliantly as a freshman last season. With these four as a starter the Red and Blue has an excellent opportunity in the two-mile.

With Eby, Maxam and Rodgers graduated, the chances for a mile team are not particularly good. Brown alone remains of the record-breaking quartet last year. McMullen, Holden and Meredith are all excellent performers in the quarter, but are not quite up to the trio that graduated. The freshman mile team of last season was not a fast one by any means, so that the varsity will not be overburdened with speedy material.

She arrived early and had made one-half of the lap around the semi-circle of reserved seats when she thought of her nose. Of course, the crush at the gate and the increasing warmth of the day had made it (the nose, not the gate) shiny, and she hadn't had time to powder it since she started. Therefore, she stopped right where she was, hung her bag on the back of a vacant seat near the top, and took out her vanity case. When she had completed her nose-painting performance, she reached for her handbag, but some one had beaten her to it.

Costs Fair Fan 70 Bucks to Powder Her Nose

New York, Oct. 11.—One bet of $70 in new bills will not be made by the woman who drew that sum from the bank yesterday morning with the intention of placing it all on the Yankees as the winners of the World Series. The reason is she lost the money, together with a handsome head bag in which she had carried her savings to the Polo Grounds.
