

JEWIS IN SOLEMN SERVICES TODAY

Yom Kippur Observed in All Synagogues of the City

FAST ENDS AT SUNDOWN

Yom Kippur is being observed today by Jews the world over. This Day of Atonement, the most sacred day in the Jewish year, began at sundown last night and will close at sundown tonight. The solemn religious services in the synagogues continue all day and will end this evening.

Abstinence from food during the twenty-four hours, supplication and repentance in home and place of worship are features of the observance. Yom Kippur, one of the cycle of holidays from biblical times, marks the end of the penitential days which began a week ago on the new year, Rosh Hashana. It is the day, according to tradition, when God sits in judgment and on which there is repentance for sins committed during the last year.

"Kol Nidre," the beautiful chant from ancient times, opened the services last night. In each synagogue and temple, cantor and choir sang this hymn. Other deeply religious ceremonies took place today.

Just as the shofar in older times was a call for services by Jews, so now it is a call today for aid to stricken Jews in foreign lands, and also an appeal for funds to rebuild Palestine, the Jewish homeland. Rabbis made appeals for pledges of money to the Keren Hayesod, the Palestine foundation fund through which the development of Palestine will take place.

FIFTEEN YEARS FOR SLAYER

Jersey Berry Picker Wept After Card Game Tragedy

Pleading in defense before Supreme Court Judge Black in Hammonton yesterday afternoon, Lolita Fantelli, a berry picker, was sentenced to fifteen to thirty years at hard labor in the State Prison for the murder of Michael Rossetti, also a berry picker, whom Fantelli shot and killed in a card game July 2.

County authorities who arrested Fantelli said they found him lying across the dead body of Rossetti weeping penitently. Four revolvers were found on his person.

High Lights in the Gimbel 79th Anniversary Sale

All Are to Prosper or None Can

This would be a sorry world if any individual controlled the weather—everybody knows that. It would be as bad if anyone controlled the making and holding of prosperity because selfishness would creep in. Rightly the status of certain businesses is taken as a thermometer of conditions; but the businesses reflect, rather than make the conditions; even granting the further fact that prosperity is contagious—and rays of success in any quarter brighten into life otherwise stagnant corners.
