By Lee Pape

MARY WATKINS

The sky is fair to gaze upon
And the ocean is pleasant to see.
But a site that's got them skinned
Is the site of Mary Watkins, O. G.

Her hair is long and yellow
Her teeth are short and white,
Her eyes are round and bluish
And she's small around the height.

She's beauty looking on week days
And on Sundays even more,
And if you like to see boys on door
Look on hers and you'll see 3 or 4.

She looks wonderful in her white dress
And absolutely grate in her pink,
And when she puts on her blue one
You don't hardly know what to think.

The stars are certain a beautiful site
When they come out all together at night
But so is Mary Watkins.
The sun looks grate as it sets in the West.
But bleeve me boy when she's washed
and dressed
So does Mary Watkins.

Two Suburbanites at a Mystery Play

Mrs. S. (watching burglars work on stage): Are you sure you locked the front door?

Mr. S.: Sure, I'm sure. Watch the play; don't talk so much.

Mrs. S.: You know it's just like you to walk out and leave it unlocked, I'm so worried. I bet you didn't lock it at all.

Mr. S.: I tell you I did. Listen. Mrs. S.: Oh, I left the canary's cage on the radiator. Oh, dear, he'll be smothered.

Mr. S.: I wish you'd watch the play and stop worrying.

Mrs. S. (making gallant effort): All right, but if I didn't worry, who would?

Mr. S.: Nobody, I wouldn't, that's a cinch.

Mrs. S. nervously: What time is it?

Mr. S. (glancing at wrist watch): Twenty minutes to eleven.

Mrs. S.: Oh, dear, we'll have to start pretty soon or we'll miss the train.

Mr. S.: Oh, we've got a little time yet; I want to see who really killed that feller.

Mrs. S.: I know, dear, but we can't miss our train.

Mr. S. (detective shoots another): Gosh, this is thrilling.

Mrs. S.: Do you think we'll be safe going home tonight?

Mr. S.: Oh, of course; don't be so silly.

Things You'll Love to Make

Silver-Tissue Girdle

On a velvet evening gown—and velvet will be quite popular for evening wear this winter—make a SILVER-TISSUE GIRDLE. Bead a twelve-inch band of silver-tissue with iridescent beads. Then crush the band and stretch it around the lowered waist line. Make rosettes and long ends of the beaded and plaited tissue. Attach one at each side, two near the front and one at the back of the girdle. Finish the neck and wide armholes with bands of the beaded tissue to match this handsome SILVER-TISSUE GIRDLE. FLORA.

Mr. S. (sadly): I'll never know who really shot him.

Mrs. S. (in cab): Oh, dear, he's slow. We'll miss the train, sure.

Mr. S.: Ever since I moved out to the suburbs I've spent most of my time wondering how the last act came out.

Mrs. S. (dragging husband upstairs in station): Come on, come on; we'll miss the train.

Mr. S. (with a flicker of his old-time spirit): Oh, consarn the train. (Musingly) I wonder who shot that feller. Duggone the luck.

A Rose Tiara

One English peeress has a tiara that is most distinctive. A rose made of diamonds is so finely poised that it moves upon its stem as a real flower would do.

Resume of Woman's Page

Dear Madam—Have you read this? Let it awful! Yes I have my weak moments, too. Please.

When "The Heart Pirate" takes those dreamland adventures and sets sail for the Isle of Romance and you're wrecked upon the sea of doubt just sketched this page for a chance. Yes, only "Two Minutes of Optimism" brings a hint that's always true, by sending a wireless to Cynthia, Excesso Public Libros. Please tell me what to do.

"Second Wave"

If there's what's what in the "Question Corner,"

And you've had sad adventures with a purse.

Read your character in some bygone yesterday's answers.

And thank Mrs. Wilson that it wasn't worse.

For Business Floors

A Man with a Mop

THOUSANDS of people tramp back and forth, every day and evening, over this floor in the corridor of the Boston Arena—and at night a man with a mop quickly restores its spick-and-span cleanness.

The floor is Armstrong's Plain Brown Linoleum. This floor is inexpensive in both first cost and upkeep. It never needs refinishing. It gives good wear under the hardest usage. An Armstrong's Linoleum floor—made chiefly of cork—is springy to the tread. Such a floor is quiet, non-slippery, comfortable to walk on and stand on.

If you are planning a public building or an office building, if you are going to lay new floors in your store or office, talk with your architect, contractor, or any good linoleum merchant about Armstrong's Linoleum. We shall be glad to send him data and specifications for laying.

A good way to install Armstrong's Linoleum as a permanent floor is to cement it down firmly over a layer of builders' felt paper. A floor so laid will remain as snug and smooth as the day it was put down. All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

These Pajamas Will Stand Wear

It needs very durable cloth to make satisfactory pajamas, yet it must be comfortably soft. For years, Fruit of the Loom has been found the ideal material by women who make pajamas and nightshirts for their men-folks.

Now leading manufacturers of nightwear are using Fruit of the Loom, and you can buy these articles ready-made at the stores. Look for the Fruit of the Loom label in pajamas and nightshirts. Garments so marked are full-sized, carefully made, and give exceptionally long wear.

Fruit of the Loom Muslin

For seventy years women have been making sheets and pillow cases of Fruit of the Loom. You can also buy ready-made sheets and pillow cases of this standard muslin at most good stores.

Fruit of the Loom is all muslin—no chalk filler. It launders perfectly and keeps its fine finish through long, hard service.

Whether you are buying muslin by the yard or ready-made articles, ask for Fruit of the Loom and identify it by the label.
