HARDING EXHORTS POSTAL EMPLOYES

Hopes U. S. Will Imbue Other Nations With Spirit of

By the Associated Press Washington, Oct. 14. — Confidence that America will be able in the reconstruction period to imbue the other nations of the earth with a spirit of service and understanding was expressed by President Harding last night in an ad-dress before several thousand postmasters and postal employes in convention without referring directly to the coming armament conference, the President declared his conviction that the "gospel of understanding would be responsible for whatever of lasting good may be accomplished in the years of rehabilitation and realignment ahead."

"Whatever I may have learned to-night," he said, "I knew about post-masters long before I came to the Pres-idency. I used to help pick them in the good old days, and I'm not sure but I named more of them twenty years ago than I do today.

Many Communities Represented When I was shaking hands with you vesterday at the White House, somehow the thought came to me of the varied communities you represented.

I suppose I'm just a tittle partial to the great rural community because I began my life there. I'm just as proud of the great cities of America as any citizen of the Republic, but they're just a little different. They show a little more of the passing passi sion, while out across the great areas of our Republic are the sober, substantial citizens who are the guaranty of the perpetuity of this land.

"I take it we are not all of one party here, and I want to say that I'm not averse to postmasters being interested in politics.

If any one ever comes to me and says he is seeking a postmastership and has no party affiliations, he's going to he wiped off the slate right away. I'd rather have a hard-boiled Democrat than a yellow Republican.

Money Not the Main Thing

"And when a man comes to me t seek a place and asks what the com ation is, he also is wiped off the No man is worth while who is merely seeking a place, but the man i worth while, who is seeking an oppor-tunity for service, particularly in this present period of change and recon-

"I do not speak in a partisan sense or in a sense of criticism of anything that has gone before, but it's no small problem to put our Republic on its feet again, and it calls for the service of all men and women who are interested in their country.

"I have sought to preach the gospel of understanding and service, and I venture to say that the greatest things we shall record in the years of reconstruction will be due to understanding and service. If we can have that spirit and do these things for our own people, it is not impossible that this Republic can point the world to a way to better understanding and to a better order for mankind."

The President paid high tribute to the ability and services of Postmaster General Hays and to the loyalty and efficiency of the postal employes, adding an admonition that those in the service must keep in mind that they are worthy for the Government and the American people alone.

'WALKING DELEGATE' URGED

Pastors Told They Need Special Pleader to Get Salary Increases Grand Rapids, Oct. 14.-The Rev. John Comin, of Detroit, speaking before the Michigan Presbyterian Synod yesterday, virtually told the ministers

they need a walking delegate to get an increase in wages. "The minister himself will not ask for a salary increase, no matter how badly be needs it," Dr. Comin said. "All year he hears how hard it is to raise money for church budgets. No wonder he feels that to ask for more salary would be to add the final straw. It takes an outsider to go to such churches, take the matter out of the hands of the pastor and get him a

Originally it was the intention that thirty-seven wounded soldiers should represent Pennsylvania at the burial of America's unknown soldier, but, according to announcement made yes-terday at the State headquarters of the American Legion, that plan has been abandoned

Colonel Joseph H. Thompson will be one of the three representatives. It is understood that Major General William G. Price, Jr., will be another. The identity of the third veteran is
