Twin Bed Lecture : By J. P. McEVOY

Somebody has been taking the paper every morning. It can't be Mr. Dovelegh's fault, and yet it must be. Everything else is.

Who's taking our paper in the morning? Who's taking it, that's what I'd like to know. It's pretty funny. It used to be there all right every morning until lately, and now no matter what time I go out there it's gone. MAYBE THE BOY ISN'T DELIVERING IT.

How simple you are. How childlike. Of course, he's delivering it. But we're not getting it. No, we're not. Somebody else is, though, and that's what I'm going to find out. Do you hear me? I'm going to find out. GO TO IT, MAYBE I'LL GET SOME SLEEP WHILE YOU'RE DOING IT.

* * *

You and your sleep. That's the trouble with the paper. If you wasn't so confounded full of sleep in the mornings you'd get up and get the paper and then we'd have it. Instead of that you lie in bed and let somebody else get it. WADDYE WANT ME TO DO? GET UP IN THE MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT FOR THE DARN PAPER?

Who's asking you to get up in the middle of the night? I'm not. I'm sure. I didn't say anything to you about getting up in the middle of the night. All I said was that if you'd get up in the morning and get the paper we'd have it instead of some neighbor who's reading it now while we pay for it. If you had any spirit you'd put a stop to it. But no. Everybody can put things over on you. That is, everybody but your wife. If I got the paper in the morning and didn't let you read it at the breakfast table, you'd do something about it. They could hear you holler about it all the way downtown. But let somebody else do anything and that's all right. AW FORGET IT.

* * *

Forget it? Why should I forget it. It's easy for you to forget it. If you haven't a paper at home in the morning you can get one on your way downtown, but I've got to stick home and do without, or else go out and get one. You never think about anything or anybody, but yourself. Selfish brute. That's what you are. AIN'T YOU GOING TO LET ME SLEEP?

Oh, go ahead and sleep, who's bothering you? Can't I tell you about what happens around your home without you going up in the air about it? No, I suppose I can't. You're not interested in what goes on around your home. Other men are interested in their homes, but not you. Your thoughts are elsewhere. They could steal us deaf, dumb and blind and you wouldn't care. Some day they'll back a van up to the place and take all the furniture and all you'd miss is the bed. WHY SHOULD I MISS THE BED? I NEVER GET ANY SLEEP ANYWAY.

* * *

If you don't it's your fault. If you came in at sensible hours instead of gadding around town all the time you'd get some sleep. And you could get up in the morning, too, instead of lying in bed until the last minute and letting the neighbors take the paper. OH, DARN THE PAPER.

Tut tut . . . that won't get Mr. Dovelegh anywhere. Neither will anything else, so far as he has been able to discover in his married life.
