

MEDIATOR CHAPEL TO BE PUT TO VOTE

People of Holy Apostles, Mother Organization, to Pass on Proposed Change

RECTOR ASKS DECISION

A vote of the congregation of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Apostles, Twenty-first and Christian streets, will be taken to decide whether the mother church be made a chapel, and the Chapel of the Mediator, Fifty-first and Spruce streets, be made the mother church.

Besides the mother church downtown, there are three chapels with another projected for West Philadelphia. The congregation has gradually deserted the southern section of the city, however, and moved to other localities. It has been found advisable, therefore, to make some adjustment.

In a letter to the congregation the Rev. Dr. George Herbert Toot, rector of the Holy Apostles church, said yesterday: "When the Church of the Holy Apostles was founded it was situated in a place entirely congenial to its life and growth. In late years a change has come over the neighborhood. Many of the old members of the parish are now living at addresses remote from the church, especially in West Philadelphia. When the Chapel of the Mediator was taken into the parish it was with the idea that the time might come when these would be needed just such a place for the continuance of its life."

"The vestry of the Church of the Holy Apostles, the vestry of the Chapel of the Mediator, the bishop and bishop suffragan of the diocese, and others, think the present an expedient time for the transfer of the rector and administration headquarters to Fifty-first and Spruce streets."

"The whole question, however, is to be referred to and decided by a vote of the qualified voters of the Church of the Holy Apostles at a duly called congregational meeting. The vestry has set Wednesday evening, October 20, at 8 o'clock, in the Sunday-school room, as the time and place of the meeting. A majority vote of such electors will decide the question."

"If you desire that a continuance of the present situation is in your corporate judgment the wise course to pursue, there will be no change. If your judgment dictates that the wise course of the future is to establish headquarters at Fifty-first and Spruce streets, that will be done."

"For us all is a momentous time, an hour of real crisis. The issue before us needs our quiet and restrained judgment. Sentiment cannot be put entirely by, and yet there is but one real question before us, and that is as to the future of the parish."

Letter Carriers Will Collect Employment Questionnaires Throughout the City

PERMISSION FROM HAYS

Philadelphia's letter carriers have enlisted in the crusade to relieve the jobs. Each postman will do his bit to aid the Mayor's Central Committee on Unemployment.

Postmaster General Hays yesterday sent to the committee his approval of the plan. The postoffice employees will deliver questionnaires to every home, every manufacturing plant and every place of business in the city. The questions to be answered will bring information as to the men and women unemployed as well as the positions that are now unfilled.

John F. Buchanan, chairman of the Mayor's committee, asked permission to use the letter carriers. The questionnaires will be collected by the letter carriers as soon as those with whom they are left have time to fill them out.

Next Friday evening in all the police stations of Philadelphia there will be meetings at which committees will be selected for each district to relieve the unemployment situation.

An appeal was sent out by the Mayor's committee yesterday to clergy, men, heads of business, fraternal, trade and social organizations, labor bodies and others for information on available work.

A statement from the committee says: "At this season of the year there is much repair, extension and new work that can be done if those having it to do will give the work out as their practical contribution to this campaign."

"The engineers, architects and builders of the city are also requested to furnish information as to the probable work they have in view to the Survey Committee and offer their services for the promotion of any work that they may be called upon to perform."

Mr. Snellenburg also called attention to the excellent work done during the war by the Central Young Men's Hebrew Association. This work is still being continued for men at Camp Dix and the League Island Navy Yard.

"A striking incidental fact regarding the number of Philadelphia Jewish men in the army and navy," Mr. Snellenburg said, "is that they numbered 8833, or 17 per cent of the total of 50,000 estimated to have been in the service from Philadelphia. As the Jews formed 13 per cent of the city population, their greater participation in the country's services was admirable. The records also show 111 Jewish soldiers and sailors made the supreme sacrifice."

Man Dies on Street
An unidentified man about sixty-five years old died of heart disease at 4:30 P. M. yesterday at Twenty-second street and the Parkway. The man was well dressed. There were no papers of any kind in his pockets to establish his identity. The body was removed to the morgue.

PHILA. JEWS PLAN DRIVE FOR BIG BUILDING FUND

$750,000 Is Sought to Erect Community Center Here

Philadelphia is not only the third largest city in the United States but is also the third largest city in the size of its Jewish population in the country, according to Morton E. Snellenburg, vice chairman of the Y. W. H. A. Campaign Committee which is to open a drive October 30, for $750,000 to erect a new Jewish community building in this city.

"Reliable statistics," Mr. Snellenburg said yesterday at a meeting of the campaign executives at the Y. M. H. A. Building, 1616 Master street, "indicate that there are 250,000 Jews in Philadelphia, most of whom came here in the past two decades. But, because of the many pressing civic demands, and latterly, because of the need to help war-stricken co-religionists in Europe, the local Jewish community has neglected the cultural and physical development of its young people."

Mr. Snellenburg also called attention to the excellent work done during the war by the Central Young Men's Hebrew Association. This work is still being continued for men at Camp Dix and the League Island Navy Yard.

"A striking incidental fact regarding the number of Philadelphia Jewish men in the army and navy," Mr. Snellenburg said, "is that they numbered 8833, or 17 per cent of the total of 50,000 estimated to have been in the service from Philadelphia.
