A MODERN WONDER. One of the modern wonders of the world is the huge hangar at Lakeland, New Jersey, built to house the ill-fated dirigible balloon ZR-2. It is glazed with acres of No. 218 Non-Actinic Wire Glass which excludes 85% of the ultra violet (injurious) rays and 55% of the infra red (heat) rays.

A. E. Dyer, a conductor on a trolley line running past the Carlin home to the Market street ferries, last night identified a picture of the child as a boy he saw with a young and poorly dressed man Sunday afternoon. Police were yesterday unable to establish whether the child had been kidnapped or drowned since his express wagon was found beside the river bank near his home. It was not until Dyer had seen Paul's picture he was able to state positively the description police gave coincided with one he had formed of the boy he carried on his car.
