

CAPTURE LILLY, SLAYER OF GIRL, IN GUN FIGHT. Wounds Vineland, N. J., Patrolman, but is Taken by Another in Thrilling Battle. KILLED MATHILDA RUSSO. HE CONFESSES TO POLICE. Angry Crowd Causes Authorities to Rush Prisoner to Bridgeton Jail. ARMED GUARDS AT CELL. Relates Gruesome Details of Killing and Cutting Up of Body.

Louis Lively, who murdered six-year-old Mathilda Russo June 4, at Moorestown, N. J., was caught early today at Vineland, after he had shot and probably fatally injured Patrolman Asa Wilson. Lively confessed he was guilty of the child's death, though he swore he had not attacked her, and that he had not intended to kill her. He confessed also that one reason he had returned to New Jersey was that he wanted to "get" Detective Frank Lore, of Bridgeton, N. J., and spent all last night trying to reach him. The detective, he said, had been instrumental in sending him to jail years ago and he cherished a grudge against him. Lively would not admit he had planned to murder the detective also, though police believe this is so. The arrest of Lively and his murderous attack on Patrolman Wilson created such strong feeling in Vineland, with open nutcrackers of a lynching being held on the street, that the police spirited the prisoner out of town. He was taken to the Bridgeton jail. There were threats of lynching in Mr. Hilly also, the Burlington County seat, and therefore the authorities were afraid to take him there. Lively, desperate, tried to shoot his way clear when he was detected in Vineland shortly after daybreak this morning. That he did not get away was due to the heroism of Patrolman Wilson and Patrolman Florentina, who made the final capture. Hundreds of photographs of Lively, a Negro who looks like a dark-skinned white man, has been sent out by Burlington County police following the discovery of little Mathilda's body in the cellar of Lively's home at Moorestown, some days ago.

Recognizes Lively. When Patrolman Wilson and Florentina, on the morning of the capture, saw a dark, thick-set man shuffling along the road, travel-stained and weary, at 6 o'clock this morning, Florentina thought he recognized the brutal murderer who had cut the child's throat and disemboweled her. They followed Lively, though walking with a weary shuffle, was going at a good rate. It was at Fourth and Wilson saw his quarry. The two patrolmen tried to catch up with Lively, but he was a good distance ahead and going fast. The patrolman hurried after Lively, in his jitney. Sheldon turned his car, the patrolman jumped in, and they sped away. Lively, who was apparently making for Landis Park, the other side of town, half a mile from the place where he was first seen. He had not yet reached the park when the car overtook him.

Shots Patrolman. "Lively, I want you," said Wilson. The Negro did not answer, but when he was fired upon, he turned back. As he leveled it Wilson threw up his left hand, as if to ward off the shot. Wilson fired a second shot, which pulled the trigger in a flash. The bullet struck Wilson's fingers and entered his left breast, just above the heart, embedding itself in the muscle of his back. Lively, who had turned back, saw the patrolman's wound. He was still conscious, but a bloody foam was at his lips, and Florentina saw he would die if they did not get him to a hospital. Florentina lifted Wilson into the back seat of the car, making him as comfortable as he could, and instructing Sheldon to drive to the hospital as fast as possible to the Vineland Hospital.

EDITOR TURNS ON OBREGON. Former Supporter Asails Mexican President and Congress. Mexico City, Oct. 19.—By A. P.—President Obregon's administration was subjected to scathing criticism today in an editorial printed by the newspaper El Universal and signed by its editor, Felix P. Palacios. The journal, which has been a consistent supporter of President Obregon since his inauguration, declared Congress was incompetent and that there was little hope that anything good would come from it. "Although united at the beginning of the Obregon Administration," the newspaper says, "Congress is now divided into personalities and petty matters, forgetful of the needs of the nation." The Obregon Cabinet is vigorously criticized, it being flatly asserted that the foreign relations department has failed to create fraternal relations, even with Latin-American countries.

Chronology of Events Up to Lively's Capture. Mathilda Russo, seven years old, disappeared from home June 4. June 5, Lively, unsuspected of the crime, went to Bridgeton, but returned June 7, and hung around until June 11. June 10, child's body found buried in Lively's cellar. June 11, Lively seen in Moorestown, but not arrested, as findings of body had been kept secret. He escaped, came to Philadelphia, collected some wages due him here, and then disappeared. Many times reported seen, but always in the wrong town. Aggregate of $2500 offered for him in New York. He was yesterday in New York to Bridgeton, and walked last night to Vineland. Closes Shop on Account of Death, Then Ends Life of Wayne Man of Sixty-one, Still Grieving for Wife Lost Three Years Ago. Put Up Sign and Then Shot Himself. Charles N. Teaney hung a sign, "Closed on account of death in the family" on the door of his fish shop on Plant avenue, Wayne, on October 9. Teaney, a man of sixty-one, went to his bedroom, read his Bible, underlined a few lines in the first chapter of Revelations and then first a revolver into his mouth, shattering part of his head. The suicide was discovered at 8:30 o'clock this morning, when a friend, alarmed at finding the shop closed, called Char. Sweeney, of the Radnor Township police. The shop door was broken. Teaney's body was on the bed. His stiffened fingers were closed about the pistol butt. The Bible lay on a small table near the bed. Underlined were these lines: "And when I saw Him I fell at His feet as one dead. And He laid His right hand upon me, saying, fear not. I am the first and the last, and the Living One; and I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore, and I have the keys of death and of Hades." Teaney had been dependent since the death of his wife Mary three years ago. They had no children. Friends said Teaney rarely smiled after his wife's passing and that he frequently expressed a desire to be with her in death. Chief Sweeney fixes the date of the suicide on information given by John Davis, of Wayne, who called and contacted occasionally with the lonely Teaney.

From the time the steamship Giuseppe Verdi, escorted by destroyers, started at the harbor, until he had landed at Battery Park to be driven to City Hall to receive the city's freedom, thousands of harbor boats shrieked a noisy welcome. Crowds cheered at the Battery. General Diaz plainly was astonished at the warmth of the greeting and continually saluted in response to the plaudits of admirers. Committees representing the American Legion, representatives of the army and navy, diplomatic delegations and officers of Italian societies went down the bay and gave him the first greeting. As the steamship passed Governors Island, in sight of the Statue of Liberty, the guns at the fort thundered a salute, which was returned.

ITALIANS THREATEN U. S. EMBASSY IN PARIS. Protest Against Impending Execution of Two Murderers. Paris, Oct. 19.—By A. COMMUTERS NOT SCARED. Ticket Sale Normal Despite Threats of Rail Strike. Railroad officials are studying the public's attitude toward the threatened walk-out of railroad employees by the demand for commutation tickets. At both the Pennsylvania and the Reading offices here, the ticket demand is said to be normal. Commuters are buying tickets good for one, three and six months, and are not asking any questions. Railroad officials say this means the public believes the walk-out will not develop. Theatrical producers in this city are preparing for a mob-truck service to carry actors and scenic equipment here from other cities in the event of a rail strike. The Shubert management stated today its plans have been completed and that a strike will not interfere with the scheduled production. The Reading Railway management is preparing to advertise for workers to replace those who leave their job at the order of the brotherhoods. A large number of commuters are expected to be on the roads in the event of a strike, and they are being asked to work as trainmen for one or two days to help keep the lines open.

HOPE TO AVERT RAIL STRIKE AS PARLEYS BEGIN. Unions Outside of Brotherhoods in Conference Today at Chicago. 'BIG 5' MEETING TOMORROW; RAIL EXECUTIVES FRIDAY. Labor Board's Proposal for Settlement Supported by President Harding. ASK FREIGHT CUTS AT ONCE. Immediate Recall of Strike Order Hinges on Acceptance of Compromise.

Administration to Back Federal Labor Board. Washington, Oct. 19.—(By A. P.)—The Railroad Labor Board will have the full support of Federal authority in its endeavor to avert the national railroad strike and will be expected through the result to justify its creation. With the board definitely assigned to the labor board for settlement and each interested branch of the Government ready with a defensive program in the event of the strike materializing, no important legal developments were expected today. Reports from military area headquarters that steps were being taken to put men now in the service who have had experience in various phases of railroad work are understood not to be the result of a general order from Secretary Weeks. It was said, however, that the General Staff or any of its subsidiary branches might undertake such a survey of its own initiative as a matter of routine procedure.

By the Associated Press. Chicago, Oct. 19.—The first of a series of conferences in Chicago at which representatives of all factions in the railroad strike situation may decide the outcome of the strike call issued by the brotherhoods for October 30, began here today. The conferences will continue over the week end. Three group meetings are scheduled: Executive of the shopmen, maintenance of way workers, clerks, telegraphers and others meet today, tomorrow, Friday and Sunday to decide their attitude toward the announced strike of the train service employees. Brotherhood leaders are on their way here to hear the Government's attitude through the Railroad Labor Board tomorrow. Executives Meet Friday. Railroad executives of the central division met Friday in Chicago to discuss all phases of the strike situation, while executives of other divisions met simultaneously in their own regions. Charged by President Harding to take every possible step to avert the threatened strike, Chairman R. M. Burton, of the United Railroad Labor Board, reached Chicago late last night, coming direct from the White House. "I am very anxious to do everything possible to avert this threatened calamity," Judge Burton said on his arrival. "The matter has been placed in the hands of the board to see what can be done. Freight rate reductions approximately equivalent to the 12 per cent wage reduction in wages ordered last July by the labor board were indicated as the basis for a settlement. The board will propose, with the backing of the Administration, to avert the strike. President Harding's Plan. The President's proposal includes: First, immediate suspension of the strike order pending further negotiations looking to a settlement. Second, use of the brotherhoods' influence to forestall strike orders by any of the other labor organizations now considering a walk-out. Third, proposal of a definite period of the proposed request for the roads for further wage decreases. Immediate reduction of freight rates on the roads. The board over the two points said by the train service men to be paramount. One is the question of time and the other is the cancellation or revision of the existing rules and working conditions. High labor leaders have been insisting that these two points form the real bone of contention, although the brotherhoods' strike was taken on July 15 as a protest.
