

BURGLARS ABANDON FORTUNE IN SILVER

Wife of Dr. Moriarity Frightens Thieves From Mt. Vernon Street Home

FEW INSTRUMENTS TAKEN

Burglars with peculiar tastes and unusual nerve, entered the home of Dr. Charles A. Moriarity, 1833 Mount Vernon street, about 9:30 Monday evening, according to a report made public today.

The men took a small sanitary basin, some bandages and surgical instruments, passing up $17,000 worth of silverware which they had piled up ready to take away when they were disturbed by the arrival of Mrs. Moriarity. The men entered the apartment house where the Moriaritys live, at an hour when there was almost constant traffic in the hall. Their method of gaining entrance is still a mystery. The men first cut the telephone wires and apparently settled down to do a thorough job. They had pried virtually all the silverware in the middle of the dining-room floor and thoroughly ransacked the doctor's office.

Mrs. Moriarity came in just before 10 o'clock and, hearing a suspicious noise in the dining room, got a heavy army revolver of her husband's. But when she became panic-stricken and could not force herself to enter the room where she believes the burglars were at the time.

At this time Raymond Fussell, who lives in the apartment above, came in. Mrs. Moriarity saw him, but when she tried to shout to him she could not raise her voice high enough to attract his attention.

Although he heard her voice, he believed she was talking to her husband and passed on. A few minutes later the doctor came home and entered the dining room to find the silverware piled on the floor and the peculiar assortment of medical supplies taken.

TRY TO SAVE PARK

Germantown Association Objects to Widening Street

A resolution protesting against the widening of Abbottsford avenue from McKean avenue to Wissahickon avenue, skirting Fernhill Park, has been filed with Council by the Germantown and Chestnut Hill Improvement Association. An ordinance recently was passed for this work and the resolution asks that it be repealed.

It is asserted that the work will eliminate a large portion of a comfortable grove patronized to a great extent by the summer months and will necessitate the rebuilding of a stone wall at a great expense. The resolution adds that the widening is not necessary, as there is not much traffic on the street.

Mrs. Stella Jones, thirty-two years old, 840 South Fifth street, Camden, brought about a raid on a moonshine plant this morning after her husband, William, while drunk, beat her over the head with an iron bar.

Jones was also arrested on a charge of assault and battery on her wife and will be held, too, as a material witness in the Gordon case.

Since the time no longer any near-by forests, "Nutting Day" is now spent according to the individual inclinations of the students. When Girard College was established the third Wednesday of every third month was designated as a holiday. Since the inauguration of legal holidays, however, only "Nutting Day"—the third Wednesday of October, was continued.

WOMAN VICTIM OF THUG IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Harold B. Winchell Joins Husband, Also Attacked by Burglar

MAN ON OPERATING TABLE

Mrs. Harold B. Winchell, who, with her husband, was brutally attacked by a burglar in their home, 7008 Oakley street, Barholme, yesterday before daylight, has been removed from the house to the Hahnemann Hospital. Her nervous condition became so serious that the nurse was called in.

The attack occurred about 3 o'clock, but it was not until some time that Mrs. Winchell managed to call for help from the window. The thug had beaten Mr. Winchell so terribly he was sent to the hospital at once. His condition has not improved since, and is still critical. He was operated upon last night.

Every effort of the police to run down the thug has been unsuccessful. From the great amount of blood lost by the Winchells in the struggle it is believed impossible the man could have escaped without getting bloodstains on his clothing. He is described as having been roughly and shabbily dressed, slender, and under medium height, wearing a light cap.

The burglar entered through a rear window, beat the husband and wife and left them tied up with ropes and electric cord he took from a vacuum cleaner. Then he took a small amount of money and left.
