

ROOSEVELT THEME AS FORUM OPENS

Raymond Robins Gives Intimate Details of Great American's Life

2000 HEAR ACADEMY TALK

Intimate details of the life of Theodore Roosevelt as seen by one of his closest friends marked the first night of the first season of the Philadelphia Forum at the Academy of Music.

More than 2000 men and women assembled to inaugurate this institution into the civic and social life of the city and to hear Raymond Robins, of Chicago, give his impressions of the great American.

The enthusiasm with which Mr. Robins was greeted and the hearty welcome that was given to Roland S. Morris, former Ambassador to Japan, as chairman of the Forum, augured well for its future.

The Progressive Party leader spoke from a text taken from the messages of Theodore Roosevelt. It was: "Aggressive fighting for the right is the noblest sport the world affords."

Mr. Robins said that men and women reach the age of twenty-five years or later before they appreciate the qualities of George Washington or Abraham Lincoln.

"But in Theodore Roosevelt," he continued, "we find the hero of every lad and every girl in the nation. He was an outdoor life upon the plains, his career as a soldier, as a statesman and all appeal to the youthful mind."

Mr. Robins then spoke of the frailties of body that beset Roosevelt as a youth and how, through sheer force of will, those handicaps were overcome and how he came to such vigorous and robust manhood that with a bullet wound above his heart he delivered a forceful address against the advice of surgeons and friends.

When Mr. Robins spoke of Roosevelt's great love of and his ardent preaching of the doctrine of equality among the people of the Nation in the forming and running of the Government, the speaker declared that Government.

ACQUIT MILBURN OF TAKING BRIBE

Civil Service Commission Finds Lieutenant Didn't Take Prisoners' Money

FREED THEM FOR PURPOSE

The Civil Service Commission has exonerated Lieutenant John W. Milburn, of the Fifteenth street and Snyder avenue station, of the charge of accepting a $500 bribe from two prisoners. He had arrested the men following a $12,000 face robbery.

The commission, sitting as a Police Trial Board, fined him fifteen days pay for using "bad judgment" in releasing the two men after they had been arrested. The commission in explaining its verdict sent a special letter to Director Corley, in which they said Lieutenant Milburn is guilty of Specification No. 2, to the extent that he acted as an intermediary with persons implicated in the robbery of the goods in question.

Charge One Year Old

The charges on which Lieutenant Milburn was brought to trial date back to September, 1920. At that time four men in an automobile drove up to the face shop of Jacob Jacobs, Tenth and Reed streets, and stole goods alleged to be worth $12,000. The goods consisted of several pieces of imported lace packed in two grips which were left standing on the sidewalk.

Mr. Jacobs in reporting the robbery to the police told Lieutenant Milburn he suspected a man known as Elias George. Lieutenant Milburn arrested George and later a pugilist by the name of Toland.

Both men denied they were implicated in the theft but are alleged to have acknowledged they knew where the goods were stored. It is said a deal was made whereby Toland was released and a few hours later $2500 worth of the stolen property was left on the station house steps.

PARDON BANK THIEF IN OVERBROOK CASE

Ramsey Freed on Doubt of Guilt After Serving Nine Months

Joseph Ramsey, Trentieth street below Moore, convicted of complicity in robbery of the Overbrook Bank, Sixth and Master streets, was pardoned yesterday after serving nine months of a five-year sentence.

His conviction rested upon identification by a bank employe, who is alleged to have made several conflicting statements. The jury was locked up two days before reaching a verdict. It was on the grounds of possible mistaken identity that the petition for pardon was presented to the Board of Pardon by his boyhood chum, Harry P. Folger, and State Representative Benjamin M. Golder.

They appeared before the board at Harrisburg yesterday. Their plea was opposed by Assistant District Attorney Charles Edwin Fox. He asserted Ramsey had had a fair trial and a new one had been refused by Judge Finletter, the trial judge.

Testimony at the trial showed four men on November 4, 1920, forced employes and depositors back against walls of the bank and escaped with $12,000. Ramsey and the four men were arrested—Ramsey, John Hogan, Hugh Dougherty and Joseph Ferguson. Ferguson, tried separately, is now serving five years in the Eastern Penitentiary. The other three were tried together, but only Ramsey was convicted.

This is ARCOLA Week
Many dealers' stores are keeping open evenings so that you and she may see ARCOLA together

YOUR Heating Engineer is keeping open house this week—ARCOLA Week. You and she are invited to go together to see ARCOLA.

And what does this invitation mean? It means money in the bank for you. For ARCOLA will reduce your fuel consumption, room for room, an average of one-third as compared with stoves or hot-air furnaces. You can put into the bank one-third of what you have been putting into the fire.

It means a warm-all-over house instead of a house hot in spots and cold everywhere else. It means all the hot water you want for washing and bathing. For ARCOLA, connected with the kitchen tank, heats your water as well as it heats your whole house.

Accept your Heating Engineer's invitation. You will see a heating outfit different from any you have ever known. ARCOLA adds from two to five times its cost to the value of your home—just as IDEAL Boilers and larger AMERICAN Radiator systems add far more than their cost to the value of larger buildings. It burns any kind of fuel and under the expert direction of your Heating Engineer, it can be delivered, set up, and put to work at once.

See ARCOLA Today or Tonight The red and yellow card at the right is the sign of a Heating or Sanitary Engineer (you used to call him Steamfitter or Plumber) who can show you ARCOLA. Look for it in his window.

It will pay you to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or Dentist. To have him examine and report on your heating and plumbing costs little. It may save you a great deal.
