Men and Women in Camden Let Trolleys Pass and Board Buses

RATE ON FERRY LINE CUT

Owners and drivers of autobuses running from Camden to suburban points are enjoying a marked increase in business as a result of the trolley fare boost of one cent that went into effect yesterday on the lines of the Public Service Railway Company.

Men and women stand on street corners, let the trolley cars pass by and boarded the buses. None of the buses lay off for an hour or so during the day, as they have done in the past, but keep on the go, reaping a harvest.

The Board of Directors of the Gloucester Ferry Company today reduced the round-trip fare to Philadelphia from twenty to fifteen cents to get the trolley riders. The ferry company has also decided to carry children under seven years of age free of charge when with parents.

The new rate of fare on the trolleys is eight cents, an increase of one cent, but for thirty cents the passenger receives four tiny bits of metal, with elaborate stampings, called "tokens." The token is dropped into the fare box in the same manner as cash. The transfer is now nine cents, as it was, but in purchasing tickets the rider wins a decrease of half a cent. All the riders are given rebate checks, colored to suit the situation, a white one for the single fare and a blue one for the bunch of tokens.

The rebate slips may be preserved to await the final adjudication of the fare case before the United States Supreme Court, to which appeal has been taken by the Utility Commission.

Aero Club to Honor Steinmetz

Major Charles H. Steinmetz, president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania, will speak tonight to a dinner in his honor at the club headquarters, 1020 Walnut street. He will discuss present-day aviation in Europe and show to his fellow members an interesting collection of air mail letters. Following the dinner there will be a regular meeting at 8 o'clock. William H. Sheahan, George S. Gasner and Charles L. Hower are the committee in charge of arrangements.

TAILORING CLASS IS SEWED IN ROUTINE OF SCHOOL HERE

Boy Pupils at Campbell - Lyons Reach Oasis Daily in Dry Journey of Learnin' "Three Rs"

The bone of every child's life is the stern, unseen hand which daily leads to places where are taught the "three R's"—and a child's dream of a hereafter is one where there are no schools. But the boy pupils of the Campbell-Lyons Public School, at Eighth and Fitzwater streets, daily reach an oasis in the dryness of school routine. A tailoring class! At the instigation of tailoring organizations, who deplore the lack of skilled workmen, the tailoring class was started, and the coming generation, ranging in ages from fourteen to sixteen years, sit, tailor fashion, in a real, live workshop and learn how to make and mend clothes, under the supervision of Vincent Casaccio, an expert tailor.

During the war the Red Cross supplied material, which was cut out and made by these young hopefuls, and sent abroad to clothe those equally as young, but not so hopeful, perhaps. The children who attend this school, and there are some 2000 yearly, frequently are required to cut off education at its prime and put a shoulder to the wheel. The pupils of this class have something concrete, some definite trade to rely; there chance of earning money is not so impossible. The girls are not only taught plain sewing, but take great delight in learning fancy needlework. And then there is a workshop where all kinds of things are fashioned from wood.

THREE ARTS TO GIVE PLAYS

Dunsaney, Seumas O'Brien and Pinero to Be Represented Nov. 3

In an attempt to rescue the "serious drama" from the predicament in which the defunct Drama League has abandoned it, the Three Arts Club announces a series of one-act plays to be given at the New Century Club on November 3.

These plays are "The Guest," by Dunsaney, "The Blind," by Seumas O'Brien, and "The Plague," by Pinero. The casts will be made up of professionals and local society men and women. They will include Earl Rees, Ethel London, Florence Glendhill, H. C. Sheppard, Mabel Sheppard, Agnes Sheppard and Mary Spencer Lee.

TO INVITE LEGION FOR 1926

Council Approves Asking Convention for Year of Fair

The American Legion will be invited to hold its annual convention here in 1926 during the Sesqui-Centennial. A resolution was adopted in Council to that effect yesterday.

The Pennsylvania Legion has already sent a similar request to the national body. Mother and Son Drawn for Jury. Martha A. Toner and her son, George Toner, of Upper Merion township, have been drawn for jury duty at the coming term of Montgomery County Court. Lydia MacFarland Anderson, wife of former District Attorney J. Aubrey Anderson, now president of the Bridgeport National Bank, has also been drawn.

BIRTH CONTROL SUGGESTED

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21.—The convention of clubs closing here last night can go down in history as the one in which women orators have predominated and each an orator with a compelling message. Mrs. Winter's ringing talk of Thursday, that of Dr. Rowena Morse Mann, who spoke of "Woman and the Changing World," were followed yesterday by thrillers, woman given. Dr. Thyra Amos, dean of Pittsburgh University, in covering her subject, "Unsocial Tendencies in Education—A Challenge to Club Women," pressed home her points by a series of questions such as these: "Why has the family hearthstone been transferred to the moving-picture show?" "What is the social curriculum in your town?" "Why should not the women's clubs become the town social research laboratories in which to remedy the rampant wrongs?"

Dr. Rae Muirhead, of the New Castle police department, in answering the question, "Why a Policewoman?" convincingly and with word power gave facts of her experiences. Allurements for the Young Denounced. She asserted that in her findings it was evident the automobile has become the worst curse of the age when the young are allowed to take their pleasure-getting into their own hands, unchaperoned. She closed next the motion pictures that show the "ramps" as heroines. Those have disastrous effect on the minds of the girls, she said. Next came the public dance hall. All those agencies when unsupervised are dangerous; yet youth must be happy and gay, she declared. Through rightful supervision, first of mothers at home and then of the right kind of authorities, the emanating wave of crime may be conquered, was the earnest opinion expressed by Dr. Muirhead.

Pennock Street Home Robbed. Mrs. Josephine Ollis, of 865 North Pennock street, reported to the police today that her home had been entered by a burglar while she was absent yesterday afternoon and stole several hundred dollars' worth of jewelry and clothing. Entrance was gained by the burglar prying open the front door.

been transferred to the moving-picture show?" "What is the social curriculum in your town?" "Why should not the women's clubs become the town social research laboratories in which to remedy the rampant wrongs?"
