More of Those Astonishing Seal-Dyed Coney Coats That Look Like Hudson Seal at $90 to $195

Called "polar seal" because they have undergone a new treatment which makes them almost as lustrous and as beautiful as the more costly Hudson seal (dyed muskrat). They come from one of the finer New York furriers who has exercised a great deal of ingenuity in working the skins perfectly and in cutting them so they have real style. Our introductory shipment last week sold out in a single day. This second lot will be chosen with equal rapidity, because all the coats are a third to half less than last year's prices—and, if anything, they are even better than last year's qualities. "Polar" seal-dyed coney coats, plain, 40 inches long, $90 to $125. "Polar" seal-dyed coney coats, 36 inches long, with gray squirrel or soft, lovely beaver collars and cuffs, $185; 40 inches long, $195. "Polar" seal-dyed coney coats, 36 inches long, with skunk collars and cuffs, $165; 40 inches long, $175. Other coats of Wanamaker quality furs, silk lined, start at $65. Many of the prices are so "special" that it is only fair to say that the quantities in some cases are limited.

PATROLMAN DROPS BOXER FOR COUNT
"Bitz" Clark, Accused of Highway Robbery, "Kayood" in First Round

STOLE $30, IS CHARGED
"Bitz" Clark, otherwise known as Michael Giacomo, boxer, used his wiles on a citizen early today. It is charged, and then robbed him. A few minutes later Bitz "took the count" when Patrolman Goelms, of the 19th ward, Winter streets station, caught one snappy round with him. Giacomo was a boxer in the A. E. F. He was twenty-five years old and lives at 1511 South Camac street. His first professional fight was Saturday night at the National Athletic Club. Patrolman Goelms caught him after a chase, when he responded to the cries for help from James Blaine, of 1549 South Stillman street. Blaine was bent-conscious on the pavement of Eleventh and Spring streets, and the boxer was running away. When Goelms caught up with Giacomo, he squared away and became some fancy footwork. "So that's your game, me friend," said Goelms, and he started away. Blaine, however, jumped and Goelms went to sleep on the pavement. Then Goelms took him by the back of the collar and dragged him to the station. According to Blaine, Giacomo sneaked behind him, knocked him out with a blow behind the ear and then stole $30. There was $30 found in Giacomo's pockets.

MORE AID FOR MRS. DEVINE
Additional Is Forwarded to Needy and Destitute Family
Three more contributions to help Mrs. Catherine Devine, of 2327 Catherine street, a millworker, who is the sole support of an invalid husband and four small children, have been received by the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER. Mrs. O'Brien, of 233 South Sixth street, sent $2; Harry L. Jackson, of 423 South Forty-third street, $1.50; and a correspondent, who said that his name be withheld, sent $5.

The story of the Devine family came to light on October 14, when their house was fire, and father and children narrowly escaped with their lives.

2 CAMDEN STABLES BURN
Horses and Two Mules Killed. Flames Menace House
Two stables in Camden burned early this morning, five horses and two mules were killed. The total loss is about $2000. The fire started in the stable of Clark Johnson, in the rear of 1070 Perry avenue. Johnson's three horses were burned.

Then the fire spread to the adjoining stable of Gilbert Shaw, who lost two horses and two mules. The flames further spread to the corner of Johnson's home, but the house was saved. It is believed servants, sleeping in the barn, started the fire with cigarettes.

WITHDRAWS CHARGES
Large Owner Realizes Penn Students Were on Frolic
Charges brought against three Philadelphia youths after they attempted to enter a garage at Buckingham, Pa., on 10th York road, were withdrawn yesterday. Harvey Crauthamel, owner, had realized the affair was merely a joke and no crime was intended. The youths are Francis M. McAnulty, Wayne avenue above Queen street, who lost his arm in France, and was awarded George Owens and Herbert McAnulty.

WATCHMAN FALLS IN SHAFT
Man Seriously Hurt in Market Street Store
James Rhah, watchman at the Rival Store, 1025 Market street, fell into an elevator shaft late last night and received serious injuries. He was taken to the hospital by ambulance and unconscious in the elevator pit by James Blackburn, an employee. Rhah, it is believed, stepped into the shaft in the darkness while on the second floor. He was taken to the Jefferson Hospital. Rhah lives at 1819 1/2 Fourth street.
