ENGINE BREAKS DOWN

Hundreds of Commuters on P. R. R. Line From South Jersey Delayed

Hundreds of commuters from Southern New Jersey reached the city this morning from an hour to ninety minutes late, due to a tie-up on the Pennsylvania line north of Winslow Junction.

The delay was caused by the breakdown of an accommodation train from Atlantic City, due in Camden at 8 o'clock. The passengers were taken aboard the 7:03 express, which arrived an hour later. All subsequent trains until 9 o'clock were forced to make a detour.

HUCKSTER ROBBED

Held Up in Alley, He Loses $50 at Point of Gun

Joseph Bucci, a huckster, of 1806 South Eighth street, was held up in an alley near Nineteenth and Titan streets by a Negro at 6:40 o'clock last night. The robber took $50 and escaped. Bucci had left his team about half a block away and was carrying a basket of potatoes up the alley, crying his wares as he went along. The Negro, wearing a khaki coat and shirt and dark trousers, pointed a revolver at Bucci and compelled him to hand over the day's receipts.
