PLENTY OF SHOTS FOR COATS, BUT NO GOALS

Had Twice as Many Chances to Score as Skeeters, and Got Less Than Half as Camden Seranton Many Baskets

DEFENSE IS WEAK

NAMDEN and Contesville met in an C Eastern League basketball game last evening at the Third Regiment Armory in Camden, and the Skeeters kept their record unsullied by defeating the invaders 34 to 21.

The Conts players got the shots and the Jerseymen secured the goals. It is 21. o exaggeration to say that the Hough-Behney aggregation had twice as many ent, yet they registered less than half he number of two-pointers.

Twice the shots and half the goals would make the winner appear four times as good as the loser. While the difference is not that much, nevertheess Coatesville was completely outclassed, except in the opening minute, when ahead, 2 to 0, on a field goal by Richie Dieghan.

When it comes to caging the leather. the veteran referee, Herman Baetzel gave both sides a few pointers during a time-out. In three trials way past the foul mark on the side, the veteran caged two goals, and his third attempt ust rolled around the rim of the basket His percentage for the night was .667, Camden about .100 and Coatesville .46. Scoring Evenly Distributed

But the players had a system to their dness just the same. Take Camden. for instance. They scored 17 points in the first half, and did the same thing in the second period. In the initial forty minutes the Skeeters made six field goals and five fouls, and in the final talf registered seven field tosses

Coatesville tallied nine points in the opening period and twelve in the final, but made the same number of doubledeckers in each half, namely, three. Harry Hough's boys counted three fouls in the opening period and twice that number in the final. Hough was in charge, and placed the same line-up on ing the lofty heights in football. the floor as defeated Reading.

Roy Steele and Davey Kerr each contributed three goals each to the cause. Eddie Dolan caged a pair and also Neal mark he made good six times. Steele four, while Dieghan missed three and

Seven rooters of the visiting aggre-gation saw visions of victory in the opening minute. Richie Dieghan bat-ted in a two-pointer under the basket in a scrimmage. But that ended Richie's scoring endeavors for the night. A minute later Roy Steele tied the count and then Kerr's foul gave the contingent a lend never relin-

Numerous clever baskets were made, specially by the winners. Eddie Dolin's first score was made on a follow-up of a miss by Steele, and one of Campbell's goals was tossed backward Campbell's goals was tossed backward over his head. Dolin's second shot was one of his famous one-handed stabs.

The victory put the Phillies, Coatesville, Harrisburg and Reading clubs all on even terms for last place. None of these have looked so good up to date and they will have to snap up considerably to keep time with the rest of the
