

LITTLE CHANGE IN CAGE STANDINGS

Camden Still Has a Perfect Record—Trenton Plays Phils Here Tonight

PASSON BACK IN GAME

This is a busy week in Eastern League circles and eleven games are scheduled for the eight clubs, but there is little change in the standings of the leaders as they appear to have all the better of the teams they oppose. Not on one occasion in the eleven contests does Camden, Trenton or Scranton come together. This is all reserved for the following week. In the meantime, the Camden Skeeters are away to a start of six straight, although Scranton and Trenton are changing close by. It would be no surprise if Trenton cracked at any time and Scranton is likely to lose a few more games. Camden appears the class of the league unless something radically happens with the work of the Skeeters. The Phillies are gradually rounding into shape, but have three hard games on the layout this week. Tonight they take on Trenton at home, play here on Friday with Scranton and on Saturday meet Reading in Hazleton. The tough week for Manager Myers and his team must win two out of the three to keep anywhere near in the running. Although Chickie Passon was compelled to retire after five minutes of play on Friday he has recovered considerably, and will again make an effort to get going against the Potteys tonight.

ROCKWOOD A. A. CHANGES NAME
 The Rockwood A. A. of Kensington, owing to having the same name as the team managed by years by Bobby Winkler, has decided to be known as the Germantown A. A. in the future. The line-up includes Wall Quinn, of immaculate conception, Matty Quinn, of the same name, and Harry Bell and Meehan. For game address Philip J. Meehan, 2325 Cedar street.

HARD GAMES AHEAD FOR PITT
 Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Pitt still has two hard games ahead. He will start today to prepare for the first of them, the Western Pennsylvania clash with Washington and Jefferson College at Forbes Field at Washington. Pitt then has a national with Penn State here on Thanksgiving.

GREEN REBUILDS FOR PENN GAME

Goldstein, Local Athlete, Will Start at Tackle for Dartmouth Against Quakers

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 4.—To rebuild his team for the game with Penn in New York next Saturday Coach Jack Cannell has ordered a return to the fundamentals of football for the Dartmouth grid squad. Several new men were tried out in the line last week and among these Al Goldstein has been showing particularly well at tackle. Goldstein, who comes from Philadelphia, having taken his prep school football at Central High, was a member of last fall's yearling team, but so far this season has had little chance to prove his ability. He is not heavy, but possesses a great amount of drive in defensive work, and this fact will give him a chance in the Penn contest. Pudge Neidlinger will be at the left-tackle berth and Don Moore will start at guard, a position he filled capably in the Cornell game. Swenson will probably be back at guard and Suttmeier, a substitute center, who was injured two weeks ago, will get the call at the pivot position. Other substitute guards and tackles may yet have to be reckoned with by the regular line-up, for the shake-up in the squad has caused a great fight for linebacks. Among the guards who have been sitting on the bench, Murphy and Cavanaugh have been displaying good form this week and may be seen in action at the Polo Grounds encounter. Hubert, Blodgett and Prior are some of the substitute tackles who have been given a chance by Coach Cannell in the scrimmages of the last few days. As no game was on the card Saturday the squad devoted the afternoon to another hard practice drill.

YALE POINTS FOR TIGER

Starts Finishing Touches for Big Game Next Saturday
 New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7.—The Yale varsity starts today to put on the finishing touches preparatory to the Princeton game in the Bowl on Saturday. Because of the fact that a substitute line was used in the game against Maryland State on Saturday, the regular line will scrimmage today with the second-string backs. There also will be scrimmaging Tuesday and Wednesday, with a rest on Thursday and Friday.

The team is being warned against over-confidence. Princeton's defeat of Harvard has shown the Blue players that the Tiger which they are still to face is a mighty powerful animal with Lourie and Garrity in the backfield. Most of the Yale players expected Harvard to win and the result came as a surprise.

PRINCETON PLAYERS READY

Every Member of Team Emerged From Harvard Game in Fine Shape
 Princeton, Nov. 7.—With Harvard beaten, the battle with Yale at New Haven next Saturday is the one and only object of the sons of Nassau, who are looking forward to it with a good bit of trepidation. Princeton still has eleven good men to fall back upon, the same eleven that answered every Harvard challenge yesterday for sixty minutes with not a single substitution. This feat naturally surprised even the stoutest of Tiger supporters, who even feared that Lourie and Garrity might not last a half. Every man on the team emerged from the encounter in fine physical shape. It was thought that Al Wittmer, center, who hurt his leg in the first quarter, might be rather seriously injured in spite of his refusal to leave his post, but the injury is not severe, and he will be in condition to start against the Elis.

How L. B. serves modern business

TAKE your sales sheet and your cost sheet. Lay them side by side. What is the true picture of your business? Are your sales volume and profits what you know they should be?

Are your cost figures, like an army of marching ants, devouring every crumb of profit? "How can I build sales up? How can I hammer costs down?" That is today's problem. Library Bureau can help you.

The L. B. idea
 Library Bureau is every day showing businesses how to make profits from files and records—sources that a few years ago were considered only as costly overhead.

Profit comes to you in just two ways—through increased sales volume; through savings effected in overhead. Library Bureau can show you, as it has shown others—

- How to make your files and records actively productive of sales.
 - How to save space, save money, save time—save waste of all kinds in the file and record keeping departments.
- How L. B. can serve you
 Take two minutes to read the panel at the right. There you will
