Chicago Lightweight, Who Boxes Leonard Next Tuesday, Is Pupil of Jack Blackburn—Frankford High Made Great Record in Football

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

SAILOR SOLLY FREEDMAN, who has a date to punch Benny Leonard in the nose next Tuesday night, is in town training hard to make the probosels punch a hig success. The jolly far from Chicago is full of confidence because he is in great shape and his knowledge of boxing has improved considerably in the last two months.

When the Sailor boxed Tendler this summer many of the spectators be-Heved they were gazing upon a stranger. Perhaps they were, but Freedman is no stranger to Philudelphia. Strange as it may seen, he started his career in this city, but nobody ever gave him a tumble until he hied himself westward.

Solly was a fifteen-year-old kids with a keen desire to see the world, so he enlisted in the navy. Instead of seeing the aforementioned world, however, he became acquainted with League Island Navy Yard and was stationed on the U. S. S. Michigan. For more than a year he remained here, and it was then that he took up boxing with more or loss supposed mostly loss.

He sometimes won a boxing bout on board ship, and once, when he seered notable triumph, he sought fresh fields to conquer. He went to the Guyety Theatre, appeared in one of the anatour houts against a young person named Jimmy Valenthie, and at the end of the bort its amitten standing still was pure and unfainted. He was known as Sailor Freedman then, as he is now, but times certainly have changed. He is back in Philadelphia to next the world's lightweight champion, and he has an idea he will win.

Freedman, although he has been in the boxing game for six years. Is the ripe old age of twenty-two. The graduated from the preliminaries to the semiwind-ups and from there to the wind-up class. He always has been known as a rugged, hard-hitting battler, let at was not until this year that he has been taken seriously. There was a networkle improvement in his work, and it was with much surprise that we learned the reason-

Philadelphia again figures in this; for the Sailor is being interrd and trained by none other than Jack Bhokhurn, who now is living in Chicago. Jack has taught Freedman a lot of inside stuff, including his famous tionstwo" wallop which used to knock heatlet opponents on

Freedman showed well in his two bittles with Tendler and stepped in line for a bout with Leonard. This was because he boxed Charley White, dee Welling, Johnny Griffiths, Riteme Mitchell, Johnny Tillman, Pete Harriey, Johnny Dundee and had three houts with Lew Tendler since January 13 of this year. That record is good enough to get him a match with a couple of Freedman is a foxy person and is all set to clubm the championship if he connects with a looky punch.

"This talk about fighting at catchweights is all right for some boxers, he said. "but not for not. I like to see the other follow come in at eatch-weights, because then I know he is not in the best of shape. You can't do your best until you are in good condition; and for that reason Lalways trace down to my best fighting weight. The other follow can weigh a ton of la . . .

Trained Three Years to Win Championship

WHEN Frankford High School defeated thermani-way High by the score of 35 to 0 on Thursday a conduing system which was imaginated two years ago was crowned with success. A championship-the first for the youngest and smallest high school in the city-was won as a result of five straight vietories. Not once did an opposing high school team cross the goal line,

It was in 1919-three sensors ago-that Elwood Gorges, thy deat director and conch, laid his plans to win the title in 1921. At that time he had only a theory and a hope that he would be successful in a courde of years. Frankford had a football team at that time, but it was one of those modiocre second string aggregations which seemed to get nowhere. Geiges, after two weeks of the season, selected a team from the freshman and sophomore classes and part the older men on the sidelines. He knew he couldn't do worse with a raw, green team, and anyway, there was a chance to develop stars for future use, This year's championship eleven has been developing since that day in 1919. The team reached the peak this sensed, went through without a defeat not only winning in their own class, but also defeating teams like Haverford

School and Germantown Academy. A wonderful record was made. Geiges taught his men the shift formation, and they used it with more process than many of the college trans I have seen. The backfield jumped to either side, came to a complete stop and the plays were m nd High this year is good enough to give any league style.
