

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

Letters to the Editor

Off the "Lunatic Fringe"

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—In some twenty years of fairly vicarious endeavor to help communities become better places in which to live I have had many things to say to your readers. On November 16 is my first experience in being put among the insane.

Letters to the Editor should be as brief and to the point as possible.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters. Names and addresses must be signed as an evidence of good faith, although names will not be printed unless the request is made that they be omitted.

The publication of a letter is not to be taken as an endorsement of its views by this paper.

Communications will not be returned unless accompanied by postage, nor will manuscript be saved.

What I would had nothing more to do, directly or indirectly, with a "Lunatic Fringe" than it has to do with your back hair.

I expressed wonder, therefore, after having described one of the few beautiful borough squares in Pennsylvania, that there should be a "Lunatic Fringe" attached to their retirement from the status of a decoration, and always look at it with a certain amount of interest.

In the course of the "Lunatic Fringe" and the "Lunatic Fringe" I have been guilty of logical conclusions. I would be glad to hear from you if you have any further information on the part of the Evening Public Ledger.

With my personal thanks to you for the attention you have given to my letter, I am, Sir, your obedient servant, H. H. McFARLAND, Philadelphia, November 21, 1921.

Thanks for Excellent Reporting

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I want to thank you for the very excellent report of the session of the National Council of Women given in the Evening Public Ledger. We have never had better reports of our meetings anywhere than were given in Philadelphia.

Is It Human Nature?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Several days ago I read in your paper a story from a woman who gives her opinion as to why the "Lunatic Fringe" is so large. She says that the "Lunatic Fringe" is so large because it is human nature to give to charity.

Various Suggestions to Help the Unemployed

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I was interested in what Frank Schiller, Jr., the young man at the University of Pennsylvania, who was blinded through the war and who is struggling to earn an education in this world, was as printed in your paper, to which he writes for aid and not money for those who were afflicted during the war.

Evil Effects of Unemployment

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like to hear from your readers as to the evil effects of "unemployment." I will name a few of them: Malnutrition both lack of proper food.

World's 1926 National Exhibition Service

What I would had nothing more to do, directly or indirectly, with a "Lunatic Fringe" than it has to do with your back hair.

I expressed wonder, therefore, after having described one of the few beautiful borough squares in Pennsylvania, that there should be a "Lunatic Fringe" attached to their retirement from the status of a decoration, and always look at it with a certain amount of interest.

In the course of the "Lunatic Fringe" and the "Lunatic Fringe" I have been guilty of logical conclusions. I would be glad to hear from you if you have any further information on the part of the Evening Public Ledger.

With my personal thanks to you for the attention you have given to my letter, I am, Sir, your obedient servant, H. H. McFARLAND, Philadelphia, November 21, 1921.

Thanks for Excellent Reporting

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I want to thank you for the very excellent report of the session of the National Council of Women given in the Evening Public Ledger. We have never had better reports of our meetings anywhere than were given in Philadelphia.

Is It Human Nature?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Several days ago I read in your paper a story from a woman who gives her opinion as to why the "Lunatic Fringe" is so large. She says that the "Lunatic Fringe" is so large because it is human nature to give to charity.

Various Suggestions to Help the Unemployed

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I was interested in what Frank Schiller, Jr., the young man at the University of Pennsylvania, who was blinded through the war and who is struggling to earn an education in this world, was as printed in your paper, to which he writes for aid and not money for those who were afflicted during the war.

Evil Effects of Unemployment

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like to hear from your readers as to the evil effects of "unemployment." I will name a few of them: Malnutrition both lack of proper food.

Big, Meaty, Selected Eggs

45c Eggs you can buy with assurance At all our Stores AMERICAN STORES CO.

big and the four small stars in white and the date 1926 in red. P. A. L. Philadelphia, November 17, 1921. Other names suggested as appropriate titles for the coming fair are: H. N. Adams—World's Kavalens Fair, John N. B. in Honor—The Utania Exposition.

Questions Answered

A Problem Puzzle

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am enclosing a problem which may interest your readers. It is as follows: The sum of five numbers, which are odd, and when added up the total of thirty is obtained. You may use a number over again as many times as you like (provided it is odd) and thirty is the remainder.

How Poland is Governed

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Please state in your People's Forum how Poland is governed and whether it is considered a republic.

The Turkey Prices

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—The writer noticed your article, "Turkey" in today's editorial section. It goes on to say that the New York Exchange has advanced and that prices are running the price up.

Apology of a Stay-at-Home

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—During the war, while our boys were fighting to protect us, we had a million million dollars of money in the bank.

Name and Design for Fair

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—As a daily reader of your paper, may I ask you if you'll accept what I think is a fair title for the coming fair—the World's National Exhibition Service?

Outing From City Jobs

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I can't exactly see the desirability of outing men from jobs at the city center in order to save money and the money would be used to pay for the outing.

Real Aid, Not Sympathy

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I was interested in what Frank Schiller, Jr., the young man at the University of Pennsylvania, who was blinded through the war and who is struggling to earn an education in this world, was as printed in your paper, to which he writes for aid and not money for those who were afflicted during the war.

Evil Effects of Unemployment

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like to hear from your readers as to the evil effects of "unemployment." I will name a few of them: Malnutrition both lack of proper food.

Big, Meaty, Selected Eggs

45c Eggs you can buy with assurance At all our Stores AMERICAN STORES CO.

Dr. Joseph Silberstein—William Penn's International Exposition. Ira Gangel—World's Peace Exposition in the City of Brotherly Love.

Number of Indians

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Can you tell me if the American Indians are doing out in the woods in very much the same way as they were when Columbus discovered America.

Foreman Nags Girls

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I have a girl friend who is a boarder in a boarding mill where there are about twenty girls doing that kind of work. For no reason at all the foreman in charge seems to have a grudge against a certain few of the girls, my girl friend included.

Good-by Mary

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I will appreciate it if one of your readers can send in the words of the song "Good-by Mary." It starts something like this: "Good-by, Mary, it breaks my heart to see you go away."

Years Have Come and Passed

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like to get the old song beginning: "Years have come and passed away; Golden locks have turned to gray."

Who Wrote It?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "I wish I were an artist, I'd sketch you so just now."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Dr. Joseph Silberstein—William Penn's International Exposition. Ira Gangel—World's Peace Exposition in the City of Brotherly Love.

Number of Indians

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Can you tell me if the American Indians are doing out in the woods in very much the same way as they were when Columbus discovered America.

Foreman Nags Girls

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I have a girl friend who is a boarder in a boarding mill where there are about twenty girls doing that kind of work. For no reason at all the foreman in charge seems to have a grudge against a certain few of the girls, my girl friend included.

Good-by Mary

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I will appreciate it if one of your readers can send in the words of the song "Good-by Mary." It starts something like this: "Good-by, Mary, it breaks my heart to see you go away."

Years Have Come and Passed

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would like to get the old song beginning: "Years have come and passed away; Golden locks have turned to gray."

Who Wrote It?

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "I wish I were an artist, I'd sketch you so just now."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I would be grateful to know the author of the following lines: "Bring my heart to me again; Let me sing one gentle strain; Let me hear its chords once more; Far above the bustling shores."

Bring my heart to me again