

Joseph John Gurney the notable Quaker philanthropist

His face, smile and words have always stood out plainly as the finest personification of that splendid old British Quakerism of the past.

This is the place to pass on a part of a letter Mr. Gurney wrote to his son at school, when he said:

"Be a whole man at everything, at Latin, geometry, athletics; be a whole man at play and at work. Put your whole manhood into what you do. Whatever is worth doing, is worth doing well."

John Mranamater [Signed] November 26, 1921.

Skunk Fur Offers a Wide Choice of Neckpieces

. Many women buy a coat without fur, expecting to supplement it with a fur piece which may be worn separately, when desired.

An ideal fur choice for this purpose is a collar, scarf, cape or stole of handsome skunk fur.

Skunk is a practical, enduring fur. It is fashionable. It is rich and becoming in appearance.

And its cost is not such as to put it beyond the reach of those who must observe a limit in dress expenditures.

A very wide and beautiful assortment of skunk pieces is here, priced from $30 to $500. There are small, straight scarfs, shaped scarfs, collars, stoles, capes and cape-wrap effects that would richly complete any toilette. The fur is of unusual thickness and brilliance, and the pieces are beautifully made up.

These Are the Last "Redleaf" Gloves for Winter

This new importation from London, just unboxed, is the last we shall get this season. Those who wish these fine English cold-weather gloves will do well, therefore, not to wait until sizes are too badly depleted.

Just arrived are women's fur-lined and fur-trimmed strap-wrist "Redleaf" gauntlets of soft suede-finished sheepskin, in gray and tan, at $8.50 a pair.

Also women's wool-lined strap-wrist capeskin gauntlets with fur lacings, in black or tan, at $4.50 a pair.

Beaver Is Used Lavishly on These New Bolivia Coats

And, as most women know, it is the scarcest and most fashionable of furs at the present time. In fact, we have no hope of being able to duplicate any one of these beautiful new beaver-trimmed coats.

The coats would be lovely in themselves alone. but with their huge beaver collars, cuffs, often pockets as well or panels of beaver, they are the most luxurious garments a woman could ask for.

One of the handsomest of these coats even has the cape collar extended into a wide facing all the way down to the hem. The prices were fixed at a time when beaver was not nearly as precious as it is today, $325 to $375. (Fifst Floor)

Some of the finer articles, especially the intported, are in the most wonderfully colored glazed leather and are real works of art.

For men there are wallets, card cases, hip books, cigar and cigarette cases, dressing cases, travelers' rolls, brief cases, collar bags and a score of other gifts, many of the smaller pieces gold mounted.

Among the luggage, for both men and women, are traveling bags and cases, fitted and unfitted; kit bags, portmanteaux, coat cases, hat boxes and bellows suit cases.
