

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY
CYRUS H. CURTIS, President
John G. Martin, Vice President and Treasurer
Charles A. Fisher, Secretary

DR. DEEVER'S "DEMANDS"

THEORETICALLY, Dr. John R. Deever is undoubtedly right in his "demands" upon the hospitals, the Legislature, and the people of the State of Pennsylvania.

Most of those who enter a hospital, and often strain their financial resources to obtain a private room, do so with the express purpose of receiving the delicate of their ailments from all but their physicians and their families.

As to unrestricted animal experimentation, which is only another name for vivisection, it is a question which should not be decided by the Legislature, but by the people.

Dr. Deever's arguments are so well and so easily answered. If every case of illness could be made to contribute to the surgical and medical knowledge of the world, it would not be long before many diseases now known only abstractly would be known to the physician.

WHERE LANGUAGE IS MADE

IT WILL take more than a resolution of the National Council of Teachers of English to prevent young people from learning to use language.

The man who invents new forms of expression does so unconsciously. They often are the blunders of the pen, but they are often the result of a subconscious desire to express a new idea.

STILL HOPE FOR GOOD FAITH

THAT ray of hope which has been kindled in the Jones-Shilling case seems unlikely to remain the liquor of irresponsible imaginations.

NEW NATION APPEALS

WITH a unanimous vote his hands are raised in protest. The New Nation is a weekly magazine which has been published since 1914.

tional honor, decency and fair play might also be alleged.
Even with the present international cooperative spirit of the reckoning, the treaty-making plan of aiding American shipping remains crazy, immoral and dangerous.

HOW MR. HARDING EXPECTS HIS NEW LEAGUE TO GROW

Has Rebuilt Upon Ruins of Mr. Wilson's Hopes. Circumventing Senate Irreconcilables and Ending American Isolation
By CLINTON W. GILBERT

FOREIGN representatives at Washington are curious about the President's suggestion that an association of nations will grow out of the present Conference. They think from the session of opinions because they are aware of the fact that the United States Senate passed in 1919 a resolution which prohibited the President from entering into any international agreement.

Mr. Hughes has a long list of questions that he asks the surface in the Far East and leaving other and more difficult issues for subsequent adjustment. This necessarily involves a year or later Eastern conference.

These reasons, China. It will be a slow process for China to get upon her feet. Diligent questions will arise. Hence the need for future conferences. Commissions will be appointed to pass upon various elements of the Chinese problem.

President Harding is disappointed. Mr. Wilson's plan and making it practical. His plan for assembling the nations is frustrated. It is a natural growth. Mr. Wilson started at the other end to create a complete organization out of thin air.

There is no reason why a League of Nations advocates should not be well pleased with what Mr. Harding has done. He has demonstrated the utility of international cooperation. He has shown that the United States can play a commanding part in world affairs.

HOW FRANCE DISARMS

THE disregard of the present government of France for the organization of its army and navy is a matter which has led to a general and universal disarmament.

Mr. Harding and Mr. Wilson start from the beginning and go on to say that they have a right to be satisfied with what they have done. It is a right which is based upon the fact that they have done what they could do.

Mr. Harding's new plan is a new plan. It is a plan which is based upon the fact that the United States is a great power. It is a plan which is based upon the fact that the United States is a great power.

such as possible. One of the most highly practical reasons for forming the new union was of a financial nature. The separate legations supported by the little republics were costly.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT

The Importance of Being in Earnest A Poor Second to the Importance of Being Just a Wee Bit Consistent

By SARAH D. LOWRIE
I AM always interested in the view from the safe vantage point of the majority which the minorities are doing to pass the days—the minorities which lag behind and the minorities which tug before.

Their vocabulary being the vocabulary of despair for whatever is, and their energies being such that they prefer to denigrate themselves and the majority. One that since seems well inhibited, the minority is off again on a new crusade shouting back, "You'll be damned if you do, you'll be damned if you don't."

STARTING THEM RIGHT

THE emphasis placed on the duties of the church is in the eyes of the Sunday school children, arranged by the Protestant Sunday School Association of the city, has grown out of a realization of the prevailing views about the function of the church.

The church is primarily engaged in spreading its knowledge of the gospel and in helping men and women to practice its precepts. There was a time when its attention was concentrated on the next life. It is now widely recognized that Christianity has a mission in the world today.

Now if the Sunday School Association can succeed in impressing on the minds of the boys and girls the duty of taking an intelligent interest in the affairs of the world, the importance of voting for men of the highest type in the primaries as well as in the general elections will be a great improvement in government.

With each new discord there was a loss of influence from old sympathizers and a gain of comradeship from new sympathizers. Each stage was more transient and each more easily forgotten.

The trouble about these knights errant who seek farther hopes because they are singular rather than because they must eventually be popular if they succeed is that they are not interested in the world as it is. They are interested in the world as they would like it to be.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What time republics comprise the new Central American Union?
2. What was the first line of railroad from the Atlantic to the Mississippi completed?
3. What was the middle name of James G. Thompson?

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ

1. Edward Gibbon, wrote in "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" is "exaggerated, profitable gratitude is excessive."
2. Late world famous Spanish Reformation character in literature created by Cervantes in Don Quixote, the hero of the novel, was Sancho Panza.

By SARAH D. LOWRIE
I AM always interested in the view from the safe vantage point of the majority which the minorities are doing to pass the days—the minorities which lag behind and the minorities which tug before.

Their vocabulary being the vocabulary of despair for whatever is, and their energies being such that they prefer to denigrate themselves and the majority. One that since seems well inhibited, the minority is off again on a new crusade shouting back, "You'll be damned if you do, you'll be damned if you don't."

The church is primarily engaged in spreading its knowledge of the gospel and in helping men and women to practice its precepts. There was a time when its attention was concentrated on the next life. It is now widely recognized that Christianity has a mission in the world today.

Now if the Sunday School Association can succeed in impressing on the minds of the boys and girls the duty of taking an intelligent interest in the affairs of the world, the importance of voting for men of the highest type in the primaries as well as in the general elections will be a great improvement in government.

With each new discord there was a loss of influence from old sympathizers and a gain of comradeship from new sympathizers. Each stage was more transient and each more easily forgotten.

The trouble about these knights errant who seek farther hopes because they are singular rather than because they must eventually be popular if they succeed is that they are not interested in the world as it is. They are interested in the world as they would like it to be.

What do you know?
1. What time republics comprise the new Central American Union?
2. What was the first line of railroad from the Atlantic to the Mississippi completed?
3. What was the middle name of James G. Thompson?

Answers to Saturday's Quiz
1. Edward Gibbon, wrote in "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" is "exaggerated, profitable gratitude is excessive."
2. Late world famous Spanish Reformation character in literature created by Cervantes in Don Quixote, the hero of the novel, was Sancho Panza.

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best

CLARKE P. POND
On Industrial Light and Ventilation
"FRISZ" is a point to which a lovable person who is an enthusiast can carry by means of a sympathetic interest.

Light Is Important
"The importance of light and air in the factory has been given a great deal of attention during the last ten years by engineers and factory owners.

Gas Handicaps Workers
Workers in steel mills and iron foundries are frequently handicapped by the fumes which form during the process of smelting.

Humanisms
By WILLIAM ALBERTON DE PUY
SENATOR FRANK B. BRANDENBERG, of Connecticut, had a very interesting statement in town. He wanted something from the Government and was determined that his Senator should get it for him.

Today's Anniversaries
1821—The remains of Major Andre were placed in a vault in Westminster Abbey.
1822—George E. Pugh, United States Senator from Ohio, 1855-61, born in Cincinnati. Died there July 23, 1876.

Today's Birthdays
Georges Leygues, prominent French statesman and former Premier, born sixty-three years ago.
Arthur M. Hudson, celebrated bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, born at Logan, Ill., forty-one years ago.

Today's Birthdays
Georges Leygues, prominent French statesman and former Premier, born sixty-three years ago.
Arthur M. Hudson, celebrated bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, born at Logan, Ill., forty-one years ago.