Nancy Wynne Talks of the First Meeting of the Saturday Evening Dancing Class This Season—She Tells of the Hamilton Tea at Manheim

THE first meeting of the Saturday Evening Dancing Class, which this year meets in the Foyer of the Academy of Music, was held Saturday, and was a delightful affair. There were a number of dinners before the dance, and the girls looked so sweet in their light frocks and soft, fluffy ruffles. Mrs. Paul Denckla Mills and Mrs. George McFadden received the class members, and the dancing began shortly after half after eight o'clock.

George Hunt, Jr., led the cotillion, having a committee with him which included Henry Paxson Jr., Ernest Scott, Jack Wharton and John Randall. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Carpenter, Jr., of Chestnut Hill entertained at a dinner for their daughter Virginia before the class and the Lewis Atlees gave a dinner for their daughter, Christine. Mrs. Robert L. Montgomery, who is one of the chaperones of the Committee Class, will not receive this year as she is spending the winter in Rome, and Mrs. John Sargent Newbold, another member of the Committee, will sail for Rome next week with Mr. Newbold and their daughter, Virginia, to be gone for the winter.

THE Hamiltons' tea on Saturday afternoon at Manheim was a very pretty affair. It was too bad it rained, but that did not seem to keep people away. Margaret, or "Hamnie," as she was called at school (she's a Springside girl, you know), wore a frock of pale blue crepe de chine which blended beautifully with her very deep blue eyes. She has brown hair which is wonderfully thick and curly, and she wears it becomingly. She held an old-fashioned bouquet during the afternoon, and looked as if she had stepped out of a portrait. Mrs. Hamilton wore a handsome gown of black georgette heavily beaded in jet, and made on plain line. The ball room of the club was beautiful with ferns and quantities of bouquets and baskets which were sent to the little debutante. There were about twenty girls in the receiving party.

THAT was a very pretty affair at the Stotesburys' Saturday night. You know Hope and Tony Cromwell came home a few weeks ago from Europe, an' are temporarily at the Ritz-Carlton. They had been in Europe for nearly a year and every one is glad to have them back, as they are both great favorites. Tony is Mrs. Stotesbury's eldest son and Mrs. Stotesbury and her husband gave a dinner-dance in their honor at their home in Whitemarsh Saturday night. The guests were principally of the younger married set, and some of the season's debutantes, or those of last year.

Hope Cromwell looks awfully well since her return. I met her recent'y wearing a stunning frock of dark blue, topped with a fur coat, and a small dark hat which was very becoming.

TALKING of smart clothes, I saw Mrs. Henriques Crawford, the former Gretchen Cray, on the street the other day, looking extremely well in a three-quarter length coat of leopard skin and a medium-sized black hat. The hat was absolutely devoid of trimming, but a dashing little diamond-studded horse in the form of a hatpin was thrust in at the right side of the crown. Mrs. Crawford's dress was of terra-cotta duvetyne very simply made, but banded with a leafy design of patent leather about two inches wide running around the short skirt at the top of the hem, and around the top of the blouse and on down to the hem of the skirt. Her black patent leather strapped pumps were worn over gray silk stockings. Mrs. Crawford looked very well and the terra-cotta was wonderful with her unusual hair.

DON'T forget that the Women's Auxiliary of the Philadelphia Orchestra is again to give a series of after-the-opera suppers this year in the foyer of the Academy. Last year the members of the opera supper clubs were limited to special opera goers, but this year it will be possible to go to the dances before the opera is over. The room and tables will be ready by half after 10, and many who go to the theatre instead of the opera will go to the club to dance and sup after the performance. It's a fine way to have the younger people take part, for opera is not a sport with the younger set yet and some times older ones do not care to dance, but if the younger set can go after the theatre there'll be one fine crowd there, me thinketh. Mrs. Tom Ashton is chairman of the supper dances and the series of eight starts tomorrow night. Other evenings will be December 6, 13 and 27; January 10 and 24, and February 7 and 14.

JIMMIE'S family spend much of their time in the car, and Jimmie hears more of traffic rules and auto slang than anything else, it seems. Anyway, the other morning, as he ran down to breakfast, he rushed into Mary, who was carrying toast into the table. Before father had time to say a word of reproof Jimmie called out: "I say, who had the right of way that time."

11:30, 1:30, 3:30

5:30, 7:30, 9:30

Patrons are requested to visit the theatre on the hour in order to avoid confusion and to enhance their enjoyment of the picture by seeing the complete production.

THIS IS WHAT YOU WILL SEE:

Thrilling events on the Mexican Border, seething with deeds of bandits, gamblers and soldiers of fortune.

Dances Siamese, dances Parisienne, and marvelous skating dancers whirling through the Ballet of Ice.

Hundreds of alluring beauties of the Orient bewitchingly attired. Strange heathen rites of hordes of worshippers in jeweled cloth of gold.

Spectacular uses of elephants, bears, snakes, peacocks, crocodiles and dogs. (The crocodile fight is the most blood-stirring sensation ever shown on the screen!)

Revel scenes, street scenes, boudoir scenes, feud scenes, theatre scenes, vision scenes, storm scenes, fire scenes, war scenes, water scenes.

And weaving these wonders all together into far the greatest entertainment De Mille has ever made is a poignant, glorious story of human hearts!
