Unique Grid Record

John W. Helsman, coach of the University of Pennsylvania football eleven, in his address to the students who reported for December practice, yesterday afternoon surprised his listeners by telling them that the modern football player doesn't know what it means to continue in attendance at practices. Except where a physician excuses a man he should report daily for practice no matter what the weather conditions, is one of Heisman's

After telling the students that football can only be learned by continued attendance, Heisman said that in his thirty years of coaching he had missed seven practice days, and five of them because his physician would not permit him to leave his room. This should entitle the Red and Blue tutor to the attendance championship among coaches.
