THE real economy of purchasing a piece of meat to last two or three days at this season of the year means that the family will have more for the money spent and it will save a trip to on Monday for something for

For this reason I am going to select seven-pound piece of brisket and have butcher bone and roll it for me. And if it is purchased Friday evening and placed in a deep bowl and covered with the following mixture you will have beef a la mode or sour bratten

Beef a la Mode

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth and in a bowl and add Twelve onions, cut in half. One-half cup of pickling spices, One cup of strong clder vinegar.

Turn meat in this several times dur-Turn meat in this several times during the evening and keep in the icebox. Early on Saturday morning lift the meat and pat one cap of flour into it and then place one-half cup of fat in a skillet and brown the meat well, before placing in a deep saucepan. Add one-half cup of flour to the fat in the pan, brown a deep mahogany brown and all these cups of cold water. Bring add three cups of cold water. Bring to a boil and strain over the meat. Bring meat to a boil and place on the simmering burner. Cover closely and cook very slowly for three hours and then add the onions. Take the onions from the pickle just as soon as you lift the meat into the saucepan. When the meat is cooked and ready to serve strain over it the vinegar from the pickle and add about one tablespoon of the spices. Bring to the boiling point and add sufficient boiling water to make one quart of gravy. Cook for fifteen minutes and it is ready to serve.
