

MISS PEGGY HAMMOND MISS MARGARETTA McNEAL MISS POLLY THAYER MISS HANNAH N. ELLIOTT MISS PEGGY THAYER MISS MARION BUTTON
 AT THE FORTY-SECOND ANNUAL CHARITY BALL. Some of the society folk who took part in the musical fantasy, entitled "A WALTZ DREAM," that preceded the ball at the Academy of Music last night. Miss Hammond and Miss McNeal were among the prismatic sprites. Miss Polly Thayer appeared as a violinist with "The Pink Lady" dancing chorus. Her sister, Miss Peggy Thayer, was the leader of that group. Miss Button was with the "Mlle. Modiste" dance group.

CORN FOR CITY HALL PIGEONS. Mrs. Annie Jebbil is often seen on the plaza giving food to the birds. Her children, Anthony and Frances, are with her.

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?

OH, WHAT A DIFFERENCE TODAY! A bit of Chestnut street between Eleventh and Twelfth streets as it looked when the horse-car lines were in use. The Baldwin mansion, built by Matthias Baldwin, founder of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, is shown. It was torn down in 1901 and Keith's Theatre was built on the site. Have you an old Philadelphia photograph? Send it to the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

SECOND DAY OF RUSSIAN RAG FAIR. Mrs. W. Neilson Edwards was selling cigarettes as the cameraman snapped her. The little visitor is Barbara Alice Barnard, of Ardmore. Officials of the Emergency Aid conducted the fair in aid of Russian peasants.

BISHOP CHAS. WESLEY BURNS of Mortana at conference here. MADAME VIVIANI. Latest photograph of the wife of the former French Prime Minister, now in Washington.

KICKERS AT WORK. On the Central High field, Twenty-ninth and Somerset streets, yesterday, the Central boys played soccer against the cadets of the Schoolship Annapolis. The two players at the right are Central boys.

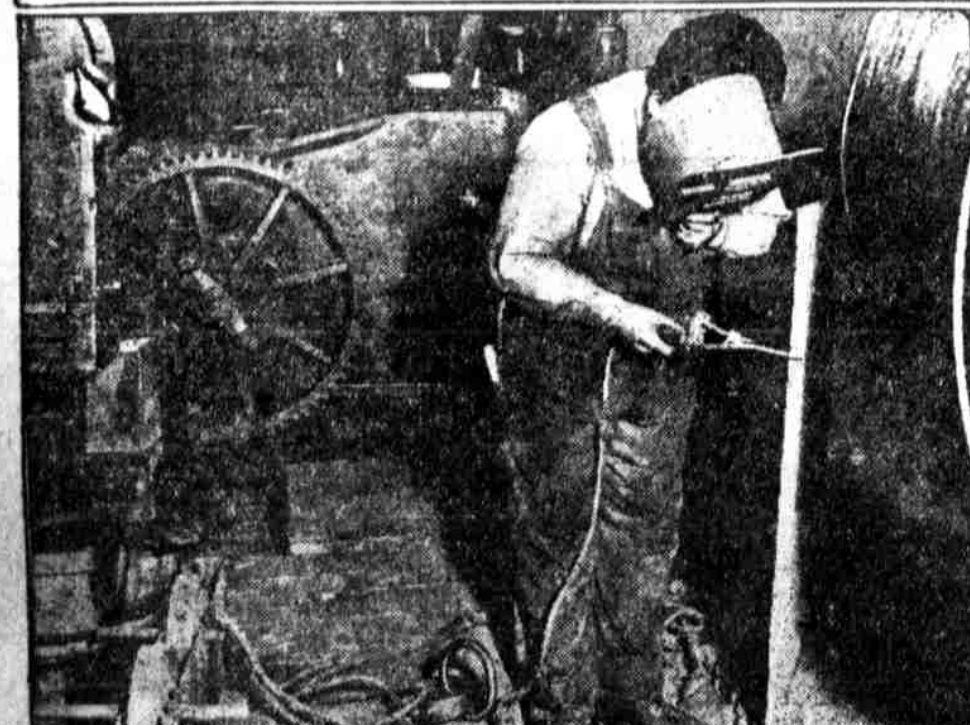

HE'S THE CAPTAIN. Bill Grave has been on two champion basketball teams at Penn.

PUMPKIN GROWERS. Joseph Filis, of Laurel Springs, third prize (left), and Ralph Berneta, of Sicklerville, N. J., with his first prize pumpkin. They took part in a Camden County school contest.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

JOHN KULMUS, 4716 Sheldon street, electric-welding dryer plates, at the rate of twelve a day, at the Keystone Boiler Works, 4640 Umbria street. He wears the guard to protect his eyes.

SIR JOHN BADDELEY, London's new Lord Mayor. He was inaugurated on November 9, wearing this official robe and chain.

SAILS FOR HOME. Admiral Beatty, British Navy, aboard Adriatic, going to England.

BUSY PHILADELPHIANS

MISS LAURA HEPWORTH, 3559 North Seventh street, bookkeeper at the Northern Trust Company, Broad street and Erie avenue. She has been with the bank for two years.