A Glorious Christmas Is Only Three Weeks Away

A Warm Gulf Stream Flooded the City Yesterday

but this big island of trade and pleasure next to City Hall seemed blacked by automobiles coming and going under supervision of excellent police officers who simply kept things moving and everybody in good humor.

Within the walls of this roomy, strong building of fortyfive acres of floors, covered with merchandise always in demand, there were brilliant sunshine and comfort all day long, with a taste of Christmas air everywhere. The picture galleries, great organ, public conveniences, toy museum, children's playground, are free to be looked at and enjoyed. A stormy day like Friday makes us feel that we have a great Christmas gift in the cordiality and friendship of our patrons.

We are content to have the spirit of yesterday to live in the homes of this great city.

Something So Genuine About a Gift of Wanamaker Furniture

T IS a gift that leaves no doubt as to the feeling which prompted the giving of it.

That means a great deal. Indeed, it means everything as regards gift giving.

Every gift is a good wish expressed in something tangible.

When a good wish takes tangible form in a piece of Wanamaker furniture there is no doubt about its depth and genuineness.

The show of furniture on our Fifth Floor has won the admiration of thousands of visitors from far and near for the beauty, diversity, tastefulness and charm of the goods.

It is very impressive these days and has never been richer in exquisite, useful, rare and luxurious pieces ranging all the way from book-holders to wonderful easy chairs that are a triumph of the upholsterer's skill; from tea wagons to magnificent highboys; from sewing tables to sumptuous davenports; from smokers' stands to chifforobes; from footstools to writing desks and further.

Of any one of these articles we show scarcely less than twenty different styles and of many the variety runs into the hundreds.
