

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY

John C. Martin, Vice President and Treasurer; Charles A. Tyler, Secretary; Charles H. Lodington, Philip R. Conroy, William J. Zolner, George F. Goldsmith, David E. Smiley, Directors.

Published daily at 222 North Broad Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Telephone 222-1111. Second-class postage paid at Philadelphia, Pa., and at additional mailing offices.

Subscription prices: Single copy, 5 cents; 12 copies, 50 cents; 3 months, $1.50; 6 months, $3.00; 1 year, $6.00. Advance payment in full.

Member of the Associated Press

Philadelphia, Friday, December 9, 1921

RE-ELECTED AT LAST

The City Council has at last elected a new member to the office of Controller. The late Controller, Mr. T. S. Stetson, was a member of the Finance Commission.

BONNIWELL IS USED TO IT

Justice Shafter's decision in the case of Bonniwell v. Commonwealth ex rel. Shafter, 188 Pa. 188, 37 Pa. D. 188, is being cited as authority in the case of Bonniwell v. Commonwealth ex rel. Shafter, 188 Pa. 188, 37 Pa. D. 188.

PORT PURIFYING

Harbor purification is being discussed in the House of Representatives. The bill provides for the construction of a harbor purification plant at Philadelphia.

A MUCH-NEEDED TOUR

President Harding's tour of the West is being discussed in the House of Representatives. The bill provides for the construction of a harbor purification plant at Philadelphia.

MAGISTRATE EISENBROWN

Magistrate Eisenbrown is being discussed in the House of Representatives. The bill provides for the construction of a harbor purification plant at Philadelphia.

"BALM OF HURT MINDS"

Alliances are necessary evils. The Monroe Doctrine is a necessary evil. The Monroe Doctrine is a necessary evil.

republics of Latin America was not in the least reciprocal, and that any agreement reached in these moments days concerning Far Eastern affairs must involve an apportionment of responsibilities as points of minor consequence.

THE RIGHT MAN WAS THERE WHEN THE JOB NEEDED HIM

Award of a Gold Medal to Carlson a Deserved Tribute to American Inventive Genius

For those who have the intelligence to comprehend the "Atlantic" is merely another spelling for "Invention."

These men are today at the head of great American enterprises. They are producers in the universities. They are strong leaders. They are the great inventors of the industrial age.

SHORT CUTS

The telephone system now exists the complete system. The telephone system now exists the complete system.

TO LET FRANKLIN FIELD EXPAND

At the risk of introducing a startling novelty, Franklin Field is being discussed in the House of Representatives. The bill provides for the construction of a harbor purification plant at Philadelphia.

MAGISTRATE EISENBROWN

Magistrate Eisenbrown is being discussed in the House of Representatives. The bill provides for the construction of a harbor purification plant at Philadelphia.

WITH NO BLOC TO BLOCK IT

Canada and the United States are still playing tariff games. In 1911 Washington favored reciprocity. In 1913 the Liberal Government. But now that the Forney Emergency Tariff Bill aims to shut off imports from the northern country, Canadians have enthusiastically elected a Government which during the opening of tariff barriers. Some of these days the two countries may think as one and trade will flow over the borders as freely as it moves from State to State.

THE P. AND R.'S WRECK INQUIRY

The star-chamber method of investigation, especially of things which are in a large measure the public's business, always has a bad effect upon public opinion. What ever the ultimate findings reveal, there is always a feeling that something has been kept quiet.

A case strongly in point is the exceedingly private investigation of the Bryn Athyn railroad wreck now being conducted by the officials of the Philadelphia and Reading Company and their "gusses."

The road is well within its legal rights in making the inquiry a star-chamber affair. But it does not seem to be the fault of the public that the confidence of the public utility corporations, especially in a matter which concerns its security as does the wrecking of a passenger train.

SHORT CUTS

The telephone system now exists the complete system. The telephone system now exists the complete system.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT

Feminine Speakers Come More Quickly to the Point at Public Meetings Than Do the Coarser Sex and They Know Parliamentary Law Just as Well

By SARAH D. LOWRIE

I HAVE been to three conventions lately, once as a delegate and the other times as a mere looker-on from general interest; and as they have all been political in their nature, I think I am qualified to speak of the effect that politics is having on the new voter.

Surprisingly few women are yet interested in politics, either to the extent of seeking responsibilities or of looking for ways to convene or to take part in more than a talking interest in elections. And the absence of young women—women under thirty—has been one of the political meetings.

There are a few of the good older suffrage types to be seen, of the good suffrage types to which Harriet Taylor, Carrie Chapman Catt, Mary Garrett Hay and the like belong. These follow some of the more modern blend of the generous, well-dressed, very sophisticated sort, such as Mrs. Slade, Mrs. Warburton, Miss Ludington and Mrs. Taylor.

All these women and others like them are the leaders chiefly. I think, because they could not give their time to the work if they were not given at least that room.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

There are twenty executive persons in any one of these groups, and they are not more than twenty executive persons in any one of these groups.

BUT THINK OF THE GLOW WHEN IT'S OVER!

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best

WILLIAM A. CARR On the Betsy Ross House

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

WILLIAM A. CARR, president of the Betsy Ross Memorial Association, is striving to have the Betsy Ross House preserved in time for the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition to be held in the city.

HUMANISMS

By WILLIAM AHERTON DE PUTY

ELIHU ROOT, premier statesman and constructive adviser, who sits in the conference of nations for consideration of limitation of armaments, was long held in reputation as a practical sage of such stature. There was, for instance, that nearly twenty years ago when Theodore Roosevelt, having in mind the cutting of a certain canal at Panama, sought legal justification for what he intended to do.

Mr. Roosevelt asked his Attorney General, Mr. Bonaparte, for an opinion as to the legality of the action he proposed to take with regard to Panama. Mr. Bonaparte rendered an opinion which was to the effect that the proposed action was legal.

In a consequent meeting of the Cabinet, Mr. Roosevelt appealed to Mr. Root for an opinion as to the same question. That statesman is alleged to have said his opinion was that the proposed action was not legal.

"Oh, Mr. President, let us not have a habit of legality about this matter."

It was in a book in the morning and in the afternoon group in Washington was being somewhat extensively toward the section of lower Seventh street where the world is gathered in a conference the promises to affect the future of such a vast area of two billion of us.

A conference avenue was filled with notes, many of which bore upon their cover the initials "S. A." which indicated their origin. The notes were being handed to members of the group in their stripings of the second and third magnitude, quite grand in their conference quarters.

In an informal session these notes gave a statement of the views of the group on a soft hat, who trudged along on foot down the avenue, swinging a green umbrella in the face of the sun, as if to suggest to the venerable man in black that the venerable man in black was going to work.

It was in a book in the morning and in the afternoon group in Washington was being somewhat extensively toward the section of lower Seventh street where the world is gathered in a conference the promises to affect the future of such a vast area of two billion of us.

A conference avenue was filled with notes, many of which bore upon their cover the initials "S. A." which indicated their origin. The notes were being handed to members of the group in their stripings of the second and third magnitude, quite grand in their conference quarters.

In an informal session these notes gave a statement of the views of the group on a soft hat, who trudged along on foot down the avenue, swinging a green umbrella in the face of the sun, as if to suggest to the venerable man in black that the venerable man in black was going to work.

It was in a book in the morning and in the afternoon group in Washington was being somewhat extensively toward the section of lower Seventh street where the world is gathered in a conference the promises to affect the future of such a vast area of two billion of us.

A conference avenue was filled with notes, many of which bore upon their cover the initials "S. A." which indicated their origin. The notes were being handed to members of the group in their stripings of the second and third magnitude, quite grand in their conference quarters.

In an informal session these notes gave a statement of the views of the group on a soft hat, who trudged along on foot down the avenue, swinging a green umbrella in the face of the sun, as if to suggest to the venerable man in black that the venerable man in black was going to work.

It was in a book in the morning and in the afternoon group in Washington was being somewhat extensively toward the section of lower Seventh street where the world is gathered in a conference the promises to affect the future of such a vast area of two billion of us.

A conference avenue was filled with notes, many of which bore upon their cover the initials "S. A." which indicated their origin. The notes were being handed to members of the group in their stripings of the second and third magnitude, quite grand in their conference quarters.

In an informal session these notes gave a statement of the views of the group on a soft hat, who trudged along on foot down the avenue, swinging a green umbrella in the face of the sun, as if to suggest to the venerable man in black that the venerable man in black was going to work.

It was in a book in the morning and in the afternoon group in Washington was being somewhat extensively toward the section of lower Seventh street where the world is gathered in a conference the promises to affect the future of such a vast area of two billion of us.

A conference avenue was filled with notes, many of which bore upon their cover the initials "S. A." which indicated their origin. The notes were being handed to members of the group in their stripings of the second and third magnitude, quite grand in their conference quarters.