Giants' Boss Probably Will Go After Rousch at Baseball

Meetings in New York Next Week-May Trade

Joe Dugan.

TTHE annual baseball pow-powing will start in New York next week, and will extend throughout at least four days and may last the entire week. The magnates are all warmed up, the bankrolls are getting the once over and the orators are writing their speeches. There will be little on hand to loosen tougues, so the speeches will have to be penned in advance and practiced.

The International League officials start the yearly talkfest on Monday The next day National League bosses will have the floor, and this meeting probably will extend over to Wednesday, although it is likely that some of the magnates will go to bed. Some formed this habit in early youth and still stick to it. The American League meeting will start on Wednesday, and Thursday will find the officials of the two major leagues hand-shaking each other in joint session.

There will be trades and tumors of trades. The magnates are looking for naterial with which to strengthen their clubs, the rubber bands will be taken If the long green and it will be distributed freely if there is a chance to get ball players without hocking the family jewels.

Jawn McGraw will be there with a roll big enough to win over even a landlord, and if there is a player placed on the market who will help the world's champions McGraw will outbid all competitors. This is one thing the magnates of the National Lengue must watch. The Glants already have a great ball club, and if McGraw acquires any more stars the circuit will be top-heavy.

The Giants are facing a peculiar situation in New York. The Yanks with Babe Ruth draw an exceedingly heavy gate, and will continue to do so this season despite the fact that the World Series was lost. This means that McGraw must have an attraction that will compare favorably wih the American Leaguers. He now has a chance to get the edge in the popularity contest, with Ruth and Bobby Meusel set down in retirement for the first month of the 1022 campaign. If his club gets going good in the early part of the season the fans are sure of favoring the Giants.

The suspension of Ruth and Meusel for their barn-storming episode of last fall means that Huggins and the Colonels must look around for another outfielder. Rupert and Huston were after O'Connell, who was purchased by the Giants for $75,000 and for 1923 delivery, but the California magnates didn't know what it meant to talk in small figures, and the high finance was too much for the bosses of the American League champions.

HE Yankees will have to have another outfielder and they will ga THE Yankees will have to have unotary outstand will even try to after any fly-chaser who is on the market, and will even try to force some out in the open where they can do their bidding.

Giants Will Try to Get Roush

McGRAW feigned innocence concerning the rumors of Eddie Roush going to the Giants. The world's champions' dictator stated that nothing had been done regarding the purchase of the Reds' star during the meeting of the minor leaguers at Buffalo this week, but admitted that he would bid for the Cincinnati luminary if the opportunity would be presented.

It looked probabic that McGraw would go after Roush when it was announced that George Burns was included in the deal that gave Heinie Groh to New York. Jawn, however, claims he will start Cunningham in center field unless Shinners, whom he expects to get from Indianapolis, proves good enough to get the job. Frank Frisch, who played brilliantly at third base, will be moved over to second, and Grob placed at the hot corner. Johnny Rawlings, whose steady playing was a big factor in the Giants' success last season, both in the championship campaign and the World Series, will be benched

Metiraw boosted Rawlings when he returned to New York from Buffalo but stated he would have to place him on the sidelines.

"Rawlings will be the utility infielder," said Jawn, "and he ought to give us a sense of great security, which we lacked last season when he had nobody to jump into a possible breach. Johnny is not very heavy and he had a lot of physical handicaps last year, when he played through his first complete season in the National League. The race was hot and the strain terrific and Rawlings was ill from time to time. We had to doctor him a lot and he proved about as game as they, come. He is steady and will help us if we

The greatest ball player in the world is of no value to his club if he doesn't try his hardest and give his best. He is more of a handicap than anything else, and a manager would be a sucker if he didn't turn him loose and collect a few real players in return.

Heinie Grob is the best third baseman in the business, but he meant nothing to the Reds. He just played because he had to and had no interest in his work. Put Moran got all the best of it in the deal. Last summer Connie Mack had an opportunity to dispose of Scott Perry. Cleveland offered a few players and $25,000 each, but Mack turned it down. Perry was disantisfied, jumped the club and now is but a memory in big league baseball

The same goes for Dugan. Jee is a good physe, but not on the Athletic Club. He wants to get away, and the somer this is done the better. Connic can get three or four players in exchange for Joe, and while we are not addieted to the habit of felling other people how to run their own business, we don't believe Connie will be criticized if he makes a deal which will strengthen bis club
