"Of course," it is added, "Europe vill have conferences of its own upon is own economic condition."

That is the way the situation is which the whole world is suffering, including the United States, will start at least as a European conference. There are two reasons for this. First, this country is reluctant to enter an conomic conference. Second, the position of this Government is that Europe should take steps to set its own house in order before the United States aware County, wife of Howard Col-line, assistant casaler of the First Na- can do anything to alleviate the ecowas nemie distress of the world.

Fear Public Opposition

The real reason for this country's esitation is that it connot enfer an economic conference unless it is ready to consider foreign war debts as they relate to German reparations and to the immense volume of paper currency which all the allied and enemy nations of Europe except Great Britain have outstanding.

To precipitate the question of canceling war loans into Congress at this time or in the near future would imperil the prospect of the War Debt Funding Bill and also of the acceptance of the treaties which will emerge from this conference. It would reveal at once Arthur Goodspeed, professor of Fublic opinion in this country is not
