Nancy Wynne Tells of the Grange Dance at the Ritz-Carlton—Two Debutante Affairs Tonight—She Sees Pretty Frocks at Parties

ISN'T Banning Grange pretty? She was simply radiant last night at the dance which her father and mother gave for her at the Ritz-Carlton.

It was a very large dance, there being about five hundred guests—all of the debutante and younger married set. It was the first large dance this week, at which Christmas green and poinsettias, holly and mistletoe were used, and used in profusion, and the effect was lovely.

Banning wore a frock of cloth of silver veiled with crystal beads and tulle. It was fashioned on straight lines which are so becoming to Banning, with her straight shoulders and well-poised head. The neck was rather high and there were no sleeves to the gown. Mrs. Grange, whose hair is as dark as Banning's is fair, looked very handsome in a gown of gold metaline cloth. The only ornament was a large buckle, which was placed at the side of the waist line. Gold slippers and stockings completed the stunning costume.

Margaret Mellon, who is Banning's cousin, and is also, by the way, a niece of Secretary Mellon, came on for the ball from Pittsburgh, and received with Mrs. Grange and Banning. Her frock was covered with pale blue sequins and trimmed with tulle. There were guests from New York, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and several other cities, and it was an altogether beautiful affair.

MOST of the boys and girls at boarding school are home for the Christmas holidays and the coming week will be one round of fun for them all. The Pope Yeatmans are giving a house party for their daughter Georgiana and their son Pope, Jr. They are taking about twelve of the younger set to their house in East Jaffrey, N. H., among them Harry Page, Cecilia Zimmerman, Frances Fielding, Parke Hodges, Charlie Bache and Jane Yeatman, of course. Ernest Savage, to whom Jane is engaged, will join the party at the end of the week.

THIS evening there will be the Christmas meeting of Mrs. Charles Stewart Wurts' dancing class, and a great many dinners will be given before that event. Peggie Fitler will have a dinner given by her parents, the Cecil Fitlers; the Walter Wheelers will entertain for Eleanor Dorrance; the Thomas Covers will give a dinner for Olivia; Dr. and Mrs. Calhoun Gittings will entertain for their daughter, Katherine Calhoun Gittings, and the Billy Goodmans and Hugh Wilsons will entertain for their daughters, Jane Goodman and Louise Wilson. And altogether it sounds like a big class meeting.

THE debutante parties for this evening will be the large dance which Mr. and Mrs. George B. Evans will give at the Bellevue-Stratford for Margaret Phelps, and the Littles' dance at Merion. When debutante plans were first made the Cadwaladers had chosen this evening for Christine's ball, but her marriage changed these plans, and since then Mrs. Evans decided on this night for her party, so some of the dinners planned for before the Cadwalader ball will be given and the guests will go afterward to the Evans dance.

Then the Ashton Littles will have their party out at the Overbrook Golf Club for their two daughters, Mary and Nancy, the latter of whom is making her debut. The Little girls are both attractive and great favorites. Mary is quite dark and tall and Nancy is a little shorter than her sister. Their brother, Jimmie Little, married Mary Cerboni, and they are living this year at the Aldine Hotel.

MARY and Dorothy, two little six-year-olds, were riding downtown with mother the other day, looking as sweet as two little rosebuds in their cloth coats trimmed with fur and their little hats also edged with fur. A lady who sat alongside of Dorothy in the car kept looking at the children, smiling at them and evidently admiring their smart get-up and their very good looks. Finally she spoke to Dorothy: "You're sisters, aren't you, dear?" said she. And said Dorothy, "No'm, we're twins!"

Brown, Mrs. Tillie Cylinder, Mrs. Fannie Walker, Mrs. Adelaide Lavan, Mrs. Sue Clair, Mrs. Mary Berstein, Mrs. Esther Greenberg, Mrs. Lena Schiller and Mrs. E. Sayers.

RAILROADS EXTEND XMAS GREETINGS TO PASSENGERS

Pennsylvania and Reading Systems Use Cards and Posters

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway today wished all its patrons a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, the sentiment being expressed by cards distributed by trainmen.

The neat white cards were printed in green, suggestive of the snow and the evergreens associated with the holiday. They were inscribed:

"We thank you for your friendship and splendid patronage during the last year, and wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

The cards bore the names of F. M. Falck, general manager; Edson J. Weeks, passenger traffic manager, and Edwin L. Lewis, general passenger agent.

In the last few days the Pennsylvania Railroad displayed at all stations placards bordered in red which conveyed the greetings of the season to all patrons of the road.

The thoughtful little attention reminded many passengers that no such greetings were extended when the rail lines were under Government control.

SZECHENYI COMING TO U. S.

Husband of Former Gladys Vanderbilt to Be Made Hungarian Minister

Washington, Dec. 23.—(By A. P.)—Hungary is preparing to name Count Laszlo Szechenyi, who in 1908 married Gladys M. Vanderbilt, of New York, as its new Minister to Washington.

Count Szechenyi's name was submitted for approval of th American Government some time ago, and it is understood his appointment will be acceptable. Hungary has not been represented officially in Washington since the entrance of the United States into the World War.

Dispatches from Budapest late in October said Count Szechenyi would be designated as Minister to Washington, but it was reported later that he had declined the place.

Hospital Party

The Woman's Hospital Christmas party for the children's ward will be held at the hospital, in Clinic Hall, this afternoon at 2 o'clock. There will be a Christmas tree beautifully filled with toys and lights, and Santa Claus will give to each child a present. Then there will be a Punch and Judy show and ice cream and cake will be served to each child. Many baskets filled with food also will be given to mothers through the Social Service of the Hospital.

HOLIDAY FOR SAILORS

Christmas to Be Celebrated Fittingly at Navy Yard

When Santa Claus visits the city he is not going to forget about the Navy Yard. A Yuletide program covering the entire week between Christmas and New Year's Day has been arranged by Captain James D. MacNair and his assistants, Lieutenant Byron Duff and the Rev. A. C. Carty.

There are between 5000 and 6000 men at the Navy Yard, and although many will go home on furloughs, plans have been made to provide a pleasant Christmas for those on duty, with dances, vaudeville shows, boxing exhibitions and other entertainments.

There will be a Christmas tree at the recreation center. The sailors of the receiving ship have arranged to entertain 250 orphans of the city institutions Tuesday at a dinner.

There will be a big Christmas dinner for the sailors on Christmas Day. A Christmas tree celebration at the recreation center will be the feature of Tuesday's entertainment, and candy and smokes will be distributed among the enlisted men. Plans have also been made to bring Christmas cheer to the 300 men who are in the Navy Yard hospital. Dances will be held Monday and Thursday nights, with a vaudeville show Wednesday.
