Seidel and Gougler Likely to Be Named as Assistants to Sutherland for Lafayette Grid Squad

FEW COLLEGE COACHES MANAGER MYERS CHANGE POSITIONS FOR 1922 FOOTBALL SEASON

Baldwin, at Lehigh, Only New Tutor Announced for Next Year-Heisman and Warner Will Probably Be Back at Penn and Pitt

> By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

THIS of season in baseball is remarkable and unique because only one manager in the hig leagues had the tinware attached. George McHride was ushered to the official gate at Washington and told to go away from there. His resignation was announced at the minor league powwow in Buffalo. His successor is not named as yet, but there are numerous men under consideration. There were rumors that others would be canned, most preminent among the reports being one concerning Miller Huggins, but he has signed, and Roger Peckinpaugh, his rival for the job, has been sent to Boston as punishment for being ambitious.

What has been true in baseball also holds for football. According to the chin festivities, Jack Heisman, Glenn Warner, Jock Sutherland and a few others would get a change of scenery next year. However, the reports are being quieted, and it now begins to look as if virtually every couch of hig college teams in the East would be back at his old post in the fall. To date, Jim Baldwin, at Lehigh, is the only new coach announced.

Yale had an excellent season and the New Haven undergraduates and alumni naturally are pleased. The Harvard defeat was the only reverse of the season, there are a number of good men back for next year and prespects. with Tad Jones as couch, are bright. Bob Fisher, despite the Centre and Princeton downfalls, came back strong and the Crimson triumphed over Vale. Piaher will be among those present and voting at the Harvard practice next eason. The same goes for Bill Roper at Princeton.

Heisman and Warner had been given the air by every one except the students and officials at Pean and Pitt, but both are going ahead making arrangements for 1922. Karl F. Davis, the graduate manager at Pittsburgh, has denied emphatically that Warner's contract of two more years would be broken, and in the Penn football meetings Heisman has been very active in selecting his assistants for next fall. One could not say that these were signs of a new coach. No, one could not

Everything was cut and oried for Jock Sutherland to become head coach of the Panthers, according to the reports, but now it appears as if Jock will be back at Easton | Lafavette had a most successful year, and although the ante probably will have to be calsed before Sutherland affixes his John Hancock, it is believed that the former Pitt guard soon will come to terms Sutherland also is insisting that two assistants be hired. He favors Seidel and Gougler, two of his former teninmates under Warner.

S' THERIAND puts up the argument that it is too much for him to handle the whole squad. Scidel and Gougler would be two valu-

Neale and Moran to Return

BEFORE the 1921 feetball season started Charles Meran announced to the world that he was through seaching at Centre College. Then a story came out of Danville that Be McMillin would be the tuter of the Praying Colonels in 1922. Moran explained that his umpiring kept bim in the big league circuit until October, so that he got a very late start in coaching. However, Charles has a habit of turning out champions in less time than it takes other tutors to blevelop losers. The great senson enjoyed by the Colonels has enthused the populace and students, who insist that Moran sign for 1922. McMillin will be couch of a small Southern college team at a high salary, Moran will return to Danville after the close of the baseball season next fall. Greasy Neale, another young man who makes his living in the big leagues well as in football, had such a brilliant campaign at Washnigton Jefferson in his first season with the Presidents that the officials of the Washington, Pa., institution signed him up for two more years. It is a peculiar fact that the two teams coached by baseball men are the elevens representing the East in the battles on the Coast. Centre exhibited with Arizona vesterday and next Monday Washington and Jefferson goes to the gridiren with California, champions of the Pacific Coast for the last The Presidents left Spinislan for the Coast and will arrive amorrou

The players are confident of heating Andy Smith's champions, but they will have to show a lot of football to turn the trick. California has a great team and a great coach. That is a combination that is hard to beat, Neale firmly believes that his athietes will be able to get the decision at Pasadena, and said so before hir team departed.

"Our team will stand on its merits as a winning team." said the W. and J. tutor. "I agree with Foster Sanford, the Rutgers coach, who said that the team that can heat Detroit by two touchdowns will make it interesting for California. There is some uncertainty about the condition of my men due to the long trip and the change of climate, but if they are in shape I believe we will win.

Haverford Votes on Football

MIKE BENNETT has announced that his medical practice is making such demands on him that he will not be able to coach Haverford next season. No one has been named to succeed the former Penn star on the Main Line and there is some doubt about the destiny of the sport. The students voted on the question of dropping some one of the many sports supported at Haverford, and although no action has been taken as yet, it is likely that one of the branches of athleties will be discontinued. This does not mean that footwill be dropped, although some of the undergraduates are discouraged by the poor showing made last fall. Hugo Bezdek and Gilmour Dobie both turned out undefeated reams at Penn State and Cornell respectively, and they can stay at those institutions until their whickers get long enough to use for doormats if they care to. Bob Folwell's Navy eleven lost only one game during the season, and that to Penn State. The Annapolis officials are highly pleased with Folnell's efforts and the former Penn tutor has been signed for the next two years, Jack Cannell, the Dartmouth coach, had a rather poor senson, but he was greatly handicapped by injuries. Jim Robertson, the Green captain and one of the best backs in the game when in shape, was not in good shape at any time during the season, and this helped break down the physical strength of the team as well as the spirit. Dartmouth officials, however, have confi-Asnes in the wee tutor and he has been retained as head coach.

FAT SPEARS, whom Connell succeeded at Dactmouth, did not been many fires of victory with his West Virginia eleven, but a coach needs more than one near to install his system, and Spears undoubt edly will show better results next segron. He will be buck with the

Baldwin Gets Three-) car Contract

EHIGH has been on the lookout for a resident coach for the last course of months and the choice finally fell to Jim Baldwin, a Dartmouth Breman about tifteen years ago: Baldwin succeeds Frank Glick, the former Princeton star, who made a good showing at Bethlehem considering the material available. Baldwin also will coach the baskethall and baseball teams This means that Tom Keeds will not be back at Lebigh to tutor the nine.

Baldwin has been made an assistant professor in the department of physical education at Lehigh, and therefore is a member of the faculty. There are few conches in the country who are honored with a chair, although several hundred are aiming at it. Faculty membership cloaks the football coach in dignity and demands more respect than is ordinarily tendered a gridient mentor. Alonzo Stagg, the goest University of Chango conch, was the first tutor to be honored by a faculty cluste.

Baldwin has coached many high school and college teams since he was graduated from Dartmouth, and has been successful in most of his efforts. He started out with the Sommerville High School, at Sommerville, Mass. Here developed championship teams, and later went to Maine. He was as Durham, N. C., when he got the call from Lehigh.

BALDWIN has equed a their year contract, calling one blubs of year. He will not report at Rethlehem until next replember.
