

WON SECOND PRIZE FOR FLOATS. The Camden Clowns took $125 as a prize for this Delaware River Bridge float in yesterday's Mummers' parade. It was timely, due to the fact that ground will be broken this week for the long-hoped-for bridge.

SEEN IN NEW YEAR'S PARADE. William Miller, of the Quaker City String Band, youngest violinist in line, and George Whitley, of Klein Club, who won a $25 prize.

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?
FOOT OF MARKET STREET THIRTY YEARS AGO. These ferry buildings stood where the Market street ferry house is now located. Note that the cable cars run down the hill to Delaware avenue. The climb up the hill was not necessary as it is today for passengers using surface cars. The Ridgway Hotel is at the left. Have you an old Philadelphia photograph? Send it to the EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER.

THIS FEATURE WON A $100 PRIZE. The League Island Marching Club, of South Philadelphia, did all it could to help Mayor Moore stir automobilists who do not comply with the city's parking regulations. The "Parking Hog" pleased many, including the judges.

CONTENTED IRISH TERRIERS. Joan and Darby, two full-blooded dogs, owned by a Dublin Sinn Feiner, posed behind a daily newspaper in London.

PATRICK MYERS got warmer with every cheer as New York beat the Philadelphia Field Club soccer team on the Phillies' field.

FORMERLY OF NEW YORK. Countess of Gramard with her daughter, Lady Eileen, sail on Olympic for England. The Countess was Miss Beatrice Mills Underwood & Underwood.

BERTHA HOLLEY, of New York, will lecture on Friday at the Art Alliance on "The New Art in Dress."

HE CARES NOT FOR COLD WEATHER. Allen Crippen, Chicago steeplejack, at work on smokestack of Stock Exchange Building, Chicago.

LEONARD ASTROM, new Minister from Finland to Washington.

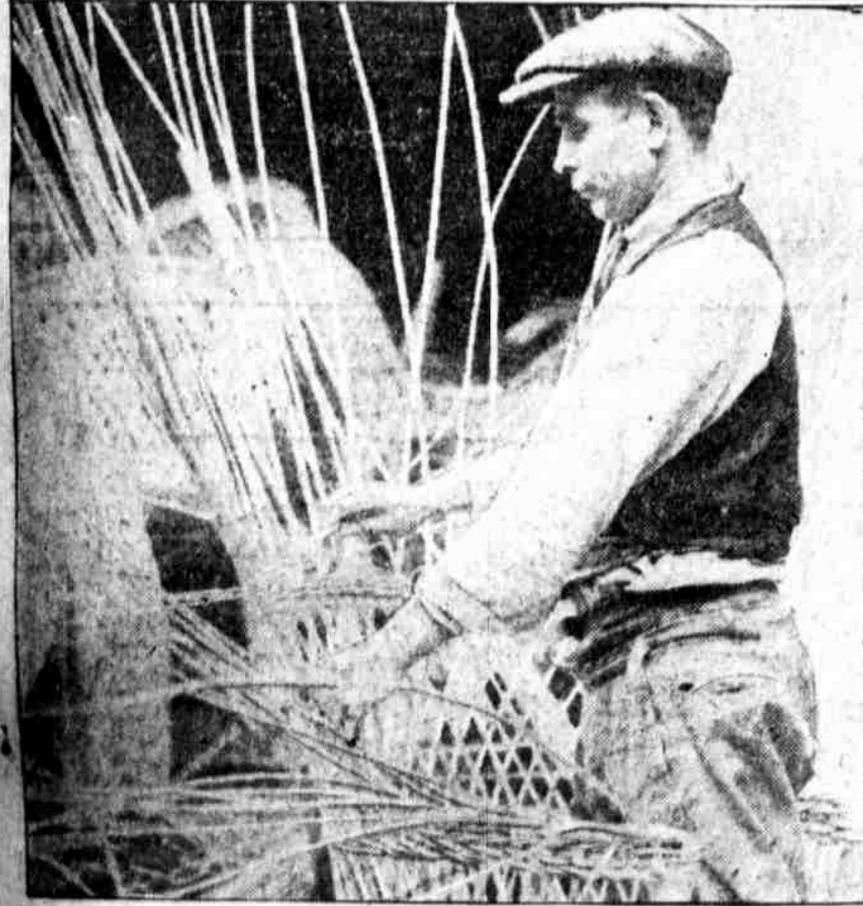

PRINCESS BONCOMPAGNI, formerly Marguerite Draper, visiting her Washington home.

IT WAS TOO COLD TO FINISH SOCCER CONTEST. Several scores were tallied in the contest between the Fairview eleven and the Puritan Club at Second and Clearfield streets yesterday afternoon, when it was decided to quit on account of the freezing weather.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

TEWHIL SCKULSKI, 316 George street, weaving reed in the making of a wicker chair in the factory of Andrew Sokol, 846 South Second street.

DESIGNED SILVER PEACE DOLLAR. He is Anthony De Francis. The coin was made here and will be distributed today.

CARPENTIER TRAINING IN ENGLAND. Caught jumping fence as he prepares for battle with Geo. Cook.

ACTIVE IN PENN'S ATHLETIC LIFE. Edward Bushnell (left), graduate manager, and Lawson Robertson, track trainer.

LESLIE R. HALBERT, of Beverly, N. J., paying teller at the Drovers and Merchants' National Bank, 3014 Market street. He is single. Baseball is his hobby.

BUSY PHILADELPHIANS