

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE
Nancy Wynne Talks of the Weddings of This Week.
She Tells of Various At Homes Scheduled for Today.
Mrs. Harold Yarnall's Reception

THERE'S much entertaining going on this week for Elsie Hirst and Bert Lippincott. Bert, by the way, has been South for a few days and returned home a short time ago. He and Elsie are to be married on Saturday in St. James' church. Elsie's parents, are giving a dinner-dinner in their honor at their home, 1712 Spruce street.

There will be several small teas and at home this afternoon. Thursday in January is always a favorite day for such affairs and there are several interesting ones scheduled. Mrs. Levering Jones and her daughter, Mrs. Franklyn Paris, for instance, will give a small tea in honor of Lady Butler, who is visiting here and of Mrs. Guy Maclean Jones. Another affair will be given by Mrs. John Kearley Mitchell, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. William Macdonald, and Mrs. Dent William Macdonald, who are visiting here. Mrs. Dent William Macdonald will also receive with Mrs. Mitchell.

MRS. HAROLD YARNALL'S reception yesterday afternoon at the Bellevue-Stratford was a wonderful affair. Every one came in spite of the bad weather, for every one knows that Mrs. Yarnall always gives worthwhile parties. Monsieur d'Indy was most interesting. He is quite genial and easy to meet. Have you ever noticed that when the truly great? They are so approachable, so human, so "one of us," and yet so far above us in the sphere that you sit with bated breath when you hear such a treat as yesterday's and can hear such a composer play.

EVERYTHING depends upon the way you look at it. Speaking of the musicals yesterday reminds me of Willie who went last week to the orchestra with mother and Aunt C. Willie is fourteen and "it's time his musical taste was fostered," said mother. "Well, they fostered all right and suddenly during a hill in the playing Willie's voice rose high and shrill (far shriller to mother and aunt's ears than to any one else's I'm sure) and I was near enough to hear (no) and said he: "Gee, they haven't played a darn tune yet, let's go home."

MISS RUTH PRICE will be married this evening to Mr. Harold Charles Heermann at 7 o'clock. Miss Marion Cahir Donoghue, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Donoghue, of 6733 Emlen street, Germantown, will entertain at a bridge on Saturday, January 14.
