PENN AND TIGERS TO OPEN COLLEGE HOCKEY SEASON

Will Meet in Contests This Evening

The intercollegiate ice-hockey season will start this evening, when Penn plays Princeton at the Ice Palace.

The Red and Blue has visions of championship this year, with Wana-maker, the most brilliant forward in college circles, and the reliable Captain Murray on the defense.

Princeton kept in condition over the holidays by taking part in a series of games at the Lake Placid ice carnival. The Tigers have a strong team, have acquired the services of a former Canadian star to coach the team and soon will have a $250,000 ring of their own.

If Penn wins tonight's game and they can arrange a game with Harvard, the Red and Blue yet may annex the
