

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY
CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, President
John C. Martin, Vice President and Treasurer
Charles A. Tyler, Secretary
George F. Goldsmith, David E. Smiley, Directors

Member of the Associated Press
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is exclusively credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein.

Philadelphia, Thursday, January 12, 1922

CRIPPLING WELFARE WORK

WITH only $2500 available in its treasury for outdoor relief, the Department of Public Welfare this winter season is impresse chiefly in its high-sounding title. In the best of times winter conditions in large American cities raise formidable social problems. Without diverting the forces of economic adjustment, which though slow are steady, it must be conceded that the unemployment situation in Philadelphia and elsewhere is still acute.

A PROPER REDEDICATION

A SENSE of the proprieties and of historical precedence is asserted in Mayor Moore's preparations for the rededication of the old Supreme Court building and quadrum city hall at Fifth and Chestnut streets. This long-neglected unit in the State House group is at last being intelligently restored to a condition of honor and of beauty. With the supervision of the American Institute of Architects, it is reasonable to expect that a noble monument of the past will be made artistically worthy of its traditions.

THE SCHOOL OF CITIZENSHIP

ALIENS who have taken out their first citizenship papers were lectured on the functions of American citizenship by qualified speakers in the Central Branch of the Y. M. C. A. last night. These prospective citizens should have all the encouragement and sympathy that can be given to them—encouragement to qualify themselves to perform their civic duties and sympathy with them because of the pains that ought to accompany the tearing up of their native country in order that they may be transplanted here. If they do not look back with some lingering regret to the land of their birth they are not likely to acquire that love of country which will make them good American citizens.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE IN INDIA

NOW that the British Government has apparently shifted the Irish problem from its own shoulders to the shoulders of the Irish people it is in a position to give more serious attention to the problem of India. A movement for self-government has grown to such proportions under the leadership of Gandhi, a Hindu religious leader, that it will have to be reckoned with. The tactics pursued by Gandhi and his followers are peculiarly oriental. The leader urges his followers to refuse to cooperate with the British in making them a captured people. Non-cooperation, according to his program, means refusal to participate in any political, social, legal or educational function, or in any business transaction which is essential to the maintenance of British rule. It amounts, in brief, to a declaration to the British: "You are here pretending to govern us. Now let us see you do it. We stand on one side and watch the process."

BRAND IN THE TOILS

THE resignation of Aristide Briand opens the prospect of more confidence in international affairs. It is no secret that the policies of his nation led by Raymond Poincare have been carrying obstructionism to such a point that the Premier, who is at heart a liberal and a moderate, had been forced to play a part at variance with his innermost convictions.

END OF THE AIR MAIL?

MUCH of the old prejudice against aviation persists in Congress, while all authoritative opinion in the rest of the world sustains the belief that the greatest triumphs of the civilization of the future must be sought and achieved in the air. The Postal Appropriations Bill presented in the House yesterday is notable for the omission of the usual items intended for the support and development of the air-mail service.

PETRIFFACTIONS ABOVE GROUND

REPORTS come from Parsons, Kan., that the petrified body of a man has been found 200 feet beneath the surface in a coal mine in Welch, Okla. The body was in a crouching attitude, as though it had been wandering off an attack. It has very long legs, admirably constructed for climbing. It is assumed that the body dates from prehistoric times, and experts from the University of Kansas have been asked to examine it and the stratum in which it was found in order that some theory may be formed as to its age.

MUSICAL PROGRESS

ALTHOUGH the musical vitality of Philadelphia is unquestionable, it is equally true that a co-ordination of cultural opportunities would prove a further stimulus to progress. The "clearing house" plan for music lovers, music students and professional musicians outlined at a meeting in the Mayor's reception room yesterday afternoon is an attempt to apply the principle of co-ordination to a conspicuously flourishing musical center.

UNDER THE DRY LID

SOME of the evidence in this country that a considerable minority in this country manages in one way or another to make itself immune from the operations of the Volstead law, the Federal and local agencies established to eliminate the liquor traffic will have to work against the obstacles of rather widespread cynicism and belligerent public opinion. Laws which do not operate fairly cannot live long in the United States. Yet wet blankets are not unknown to the people who have the means to attend them. Wet dinners are often a diversion of certain classes of public officials who move in the atmosphere of convivial politics.

PEPPER AND PENROSE

An International Incident in Which One of the Old Kentucky Peppers Figured—The Night That Penrose Started on His Career in the Senate

THE PEPPERS of Kentucky, have been famous for generations for their horses and their wealth. Like the Philadelphia Peppers they are an old family and intensely American. I am not sure that the Kentucky family is related to the Pennsylvania family. A gentleman close to George Wharton Pepper could throw no light on the subject. He disclosed the fact though that gentlemen by the name of Pepper not infrequently drop into the new Senator's law office to discover what, if any, relationship exists from the common patronymic.

DR. J. P. W. CRAWFORD

On South American Possibilities
Columbia, holds out great commercial possibilities for the United States, according to Dr. J. P. W. Crawford, of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, who was recently a member of a diplomatic commission to that country.

THE FIRST TREATY

In order to understand the present situation there and the feeling which the Latin Americans, and particularly the Colombians, hold toward the United States, it is necessary to know something of the incidents leading up to the final treaty which has been only recently passed and which closes the whole matter.

BOIES PENROSE GAINED HIS SEAT

The United States Senate in a strikingly different way from that by which George Wharton Pepper obtained his seat. He entered by way of a bitter contest twenty-four years ago this month. John Wanamaker was his opponent. The prohibitive contest centered on the election of members of the Pennsylvania House and Senate, which in those days chose the Senators at Washington.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

- 1. How many Americans were made prisoners by the Germans during the World War?
2. What port in France did Napoleon enter on his return from his first expedition to Egypt?
3. What is the constitutional definition of a Senator?
4. What are the winter signs of the zodiac?
5. Who succeeded John Tyler as President of the United States?
6. What famous English historian described beauty as "an outward gift which is sold for love, and which is sold for whom it has been bought by all those who have the meaning of an all-blue sky?
7. What American State has the lowest average altitude?
8. What is the name of the largest island in the world?
9. What is the name of the largest city in the world?
10. What is the name of the largest city in the world?

JUST SHOWING OFF, DARN HIM!

EVERYBODY

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS!

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best

DR. J. P. W. CRAWFORD
On South American Possibilities
Columbia, holds out great commercial possibilities for the United States, according to Dr. J. P. W. Crawford, of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, who was recently a member of a diplomatic commission to that country.

THE FIRST TREATY

In order to understand the present situation there and the feeling which the Latin Americans, and particularly the Colombians, hold toward the United States, it is necessary to know something of the incidents leading up to the final treaty which has been only recently passed and which closes the whole matter.

BOIES PENROSE GAINED HIS SEAT

The United States Senate in a strikingly different way from that by which George Wharton Pepper obtained his seat. He entered by way of a bitter contest twenty-four years ago this month. John Wanamaker was his opponent.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

- 1. How many Americans were made prisoners by the Germans during the World War?
2. What port in France did Napoleon enter on his return from his first expedition to Egypt?
3. What is the constitutional definition of a Senator?
4. What are the winter signs of the zodiac?
5. Who succeeded John Tyler as President of the United States?
6. What famous English historian described beauty as "an outward gift which is sold for love, and which is sold for whom it has been bought by all those who have the meaning of an all-blue sky?
7. What American State has the lowest average altitude?
8. What is the name of the largest island in the world?
9. What is the name of the largest city in the world?
10. What is the name of the largest city in the world?

SHORT CUTS

Winter has arrived with both slippery feet.
Erin is now in the saddle and only her own countrymen can pull her down.
There is evidently a slackening of interest in Fatty Arbuckle's return engagement.
Senator Newberry has at least proved himself to be a gentleman curiously lacking in curiosity.
The new Irish president will live up to his name, Great Fella.
Some of the neighbors don't like him, but nevertheless the League is a chipper kid for a two-year-old.
Governor Sprout may lay flattering unction to his soul with every kind thing said of Senator Pepper.
As the New York Tribune sees it, friends of Senator Newberry are being criticized for subscribing freely to the cause of education.
There is always a suspicion that those who "mourn over the failure of the Washington Conference" would have rejoiced if it had been really a failure.
Correspondent complains that married women are taking jobs single women need. Complaint dismissed. The married women may have husbands to support.
Governor Edwards by a curious oversight ignored in his message self-determination for small nations, the submarine issue and the Landis-Ruth controversy.
Soldiers' bonus advocates are now out to prove the efficiency of an active minority. They have, at least, singleness of purpose. They don't care how the money is raised.
The dollar, chirps the retail price report issued by the Department of Labor, is worth thirteen cents more than it was a year ago. Almost enough to buy a dime's worth of candy.
Those whom the Postmaster General so sensibly swatted are now in a position to appreciate Mark Twain's assertion that it is a difference of opinion that makes horsing.
"Native African Children Do Their Sums in Sand"—Headline. Evidently, opinions the Toddle Topper, obeying the Biblical injunction to multiply on the face of the earth.
Cape May reports a ram-running submarine posing as a lobster boat. This is not a variation of the New York theme, where a lobster poses as a ram-running submarine.
Perhaps the suggestion that a soldier's bonus be paid out of the interest on the foreign debt is a variation of the New York theme, where a lobster poses as a ram-running submarine.
It will be a sad blow to many if, after deciding to use the interest on the foreign debt for a soldier's bonus, Congress should later decide that it is necessary, in the interest of commerce, to wipe out the debt.
The action of the United States Supreme Court in annulling North Dakota's excise tax on railroads goes far to prove that we are citizens of a great nation and only incidentally citizens of a particular State.
Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, says if war broke out between Japan and America Japan would promptly land her troops in the Philippines; that as a consequence, the islands would be safer if they were under the control of the United States. He should demand complete and absolute independence. And if all Filipinos were of the same mind as Quezon, I think the problem would be simplified. He'd say, "Go to it, boys, and be hanged to you."

Answers to Yesterday's Quiz

- 1. As a rule, there is only one person an English girl has more than she has her mother, and that is her cat.
2. The name of the comedy by John Tanner in Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Man and Superman."
3. Orville is a kind of bird resembling gold, used in imitation jewelry.
4. George Wharton Pepper is the new United States Senator from Pennsylvania.
5. The merchant fleet in the world, with a tonnage of about 17,000,000, with a percentage of about 60 per cent of the tonnage of the world's merchant fleet.
6. The United States Army in 1853-four years.
7. The Roosevelt Highway runs from Washington to Los Angeles, with a spur to San Francisco.
8. A gradual rise in the barometer means unsettled weather.
9. Forty rods make a furlong in long measure.
10. Knicker's comet is due to return within five weeks from its last appearance in October, 1921.
11. The largest of the national parks of the United States.